U.S. Rejects Peking, But Agrees to Study

Goldberg Supports Italy Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States today rejected once more the seating of Red China in the United Nations but announced it would support a plan offered by Italy and five other countries for a full high-level study of the China problem.

In a policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg repeated the traditional U.S. opposition to the admission of the Peking government and declared the United States could not accept any move to expel Nationalist China.

"There is no conceivable justification for the expulsion of the Republic of China," he told the 121-nation assembly. "The Republic of China is a founding member of this organization and its role has been outstanding."

Goldberg stressed that the problem of deciding Chinese representation in the United Nations was an "important question" and as such must be resolved by a two-thirds majority. The United States is among the sponsors of a resolution reaffirming previous decisions of the assembly on the two-thirds rule.

Supports Study

On the proposed study of the China question, Goldberg quickly indicated U.S. support. But this plan would not sidetrack

Westmoreland Fears Increase

U. S. Commander Estimates Troop Total at 50,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communists are moving an average of 7,000 troops a month from North to South Viet Nam and the infiltration rate is apt to go even higher soon, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam said in an interview published today.

Westmoreland's figure on monthly infiltration is substantially higher than the 4,500 to 5,000 estimate reported for months by the Defense Department.

In a copyright interview in U.S. News and World Report, Westmoreland said, "it is likely that, when the good weather period arrives in the Laos panhandle in the near future, there will be an increase in infiltration."

'Depleted Ranks'

Westmoreland said he believes that a great many of the troops moving south from North Viet Nam "are being used to fill up the depleted ranks of the units that are now in the country — depleted by combat casualties, illness, desertion and defection."

"However, our intelligence does suggest that some new units are being formed."

The U.S. commander estimated there are now about 50,000 North Vietnamese regular army troops in South Viet Nam, organized into five divisions.

Stanley Alberts Riding in Car That Struck Pole

Stanley J. Alberts, 21, 1003 N. Morrison St., Appleton, died about 5:15 a.m. today, nine hours after he sustained severe head injuries when the car in which he was riding went out of control and struck a large utility pole at E. Wisconsin Avenue and N. Ballard Road.

The deaths of Alberts and nine other persons over the weekend sent the 1966 highway toll to 973, compared with 907 on Nov. 21, 1965. The death count on Wisconsin roads is now eight more than in 1964 when a record 1,059 persons were killed.

Stanley J. Alberts

Alberts was the second traffic victim this year on Appleton streets. The Outagamie County toll for the year now stands at 19.

Appleton police said Alberts was in a car driven by Edward T. Brouillard, 21, 11 Willow Court. The 1967 model car was westbound, just inside the city limits, when it left the roadway on a curve, went over a curb onto a terrace and struck a large utility pole, snapping it off.

Thrown From Car

The vehicle then continued another 100 feet, made a half turn, and stopped facing east in the roadway. Alberts was thrown from the car. Police found him lying unconscious on the terrace, about 25 feet from the vehicle. The accident occurred about 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said Alberts died at Appleton Memorial Hospital of severe head injuries. He also had injuries about the face and chest. A post-mortem examination was scheduled for

Nation's First

Mod Marriage Makes Mom Mope

DETROIT (AP) — "This is not exactly the wedding I had planned for my daughter," said the mother of the bride.

Joined in marriage in a mod wedding ceremony Sunday at the Michigan State Fair grounds were Randy Rossi, 19, an unemployed go-go dancer, and Gary Norris, 25, an unemployed artist.

The bride wore a thigh-high minigown that reached eight inches above the knee. She had matching white satin boots which reached seven inches above the knee.

The bridegroom wore a five-button, plaid suit with a cowboy belt and a six-inch-wide tie.

Billed as the nation's first mod wedding, the affair included:

— A bearded youth banging on the roof of a dilapidated car with a sledge hammer.

— A pretty girl wearing a white dress which served as a canvas for a purported artist who decorated her with mustard and catsup squeezed from plastic dispensers.

— A youth slithering across the stage using a bullwhip and two high-powered flashlights for props while performing an alleged dance.

A crowd of about 4,500 attended the half-hour ceremony, listening to a rock 'n' roll group which featured a lanky girl wearing blonde hair and a gaunt face.

One newspaper reviewer wrote: "She sounded like a Bedouin woman singing a funeral dirge in Arabic while accompanied by an off-key air raid siren."

Hunting Toll Rises to Nine

Appleton Man Dies Saturday Of Heart Attack

The human death toll in Wisconsin's nine-day deer hunting season, which began Saturday, rose to nine with the Saturday death of an Appleton man. Seven have died as a result of heart attacks, one from gunfire and another from asphyxiation.

Carl J. Simpson, 56, 815 Brewster St., Appleton, died of a heart attack at 6:15 p.m. Saturday while he and three hunting companions were traveling back to the Fox Cities after a day's hunting near Plainfield, Waushara County.

Simpson reportedly was stricken about 5:30 p.m. while riding in a car about 12 miles from Plainfield on State 73. Reports said the group stopped at a restaurant on the highway to call an ambulance from Wisconsin Rapids, a distance of about 17 miles.

They left Appleton Saturday morning to start the hunting trip.

The latest reported victim in the State was Albert Marvin, 51, Waukesha, who suffered a fatal heart attack Saturday after shooting a deer. Marvin was hunting with his wife and daughter in the Town of New Chester in Adams County.

Larry Erber, 15, of Beaver Dam was asphyxiated Sunday in a camper truck in a Jackson County cranberry marsh area.

Found in Bed

His companion, Gerhart Willey 37, also of Beaver Dam, and owner of the camper, said he too, was overcome and tried to drive the truck away to seek aid. He said the vehicle became stuck in sand and he climbed out before collapsing along a road where he was found by a passerby. Willey was hospitalized.

'Grand Coalition' Felt Likely After Latest German Voting

Christian Democrats, Socialists Would Join to Select Chancellor

BONN, Germany (AP) — Sensational gains by West Germany's new ultra nationalist party in the Bavarian state elections Sunday increased the chances of a "grand coalition" of the Christian Democrats and Socialists to form a new national government.

Pressure mounted on the two big parties to end the 26-day government crisis by agreeing on a new chancellor and to agree on a revised election law that would keep the Nazi-tainted National Democratic party out of the federal parliament's lower house, the Bundestag.

Third Strongest

The present system of proportional representation could give the National Democrats 30 or more of the 496 Bundestag seats when a national election is held if they repeat their recent success in two state elections. A law giving more weight to majority voting could keep them out of the Bundestag.

In their second success at the polls in two weeks, the National Democrats became the third strongest party in West Germany's second most populous state by winning 7.4 per cent of a record Bavarian vote and 15 seats in the legislature. They won 7.9 per cent of the vote and eight legislative seats in Hesse state Nov. 6.

The Bavarian results evoked new fears that right-wing radicalism is rising again two decades after the destruction of Adolf Hitler's Nazi reich. Bavarian Minister President Alfons Goppel, a Christian Democrat, said he was shocked by the National Democrats' gains.

Europe Mostly Cool in Face of 'Nazi Bugaboo'

LONDON (AP) — A partial success for West Germany's rightist National Democrats in the Bavarian elections raised the old Nazi bugaboo in some European circles today but much of the reaction was cool and unperturbed.

Some quarters warned against exaggerating the importance of the votes which give the party 15 seats in the Bavarian Parliament. Others voiced the reminder that the Christian Democrats and Social Democrats, the two major parties of West Germany, hold the key to any resurgence of old-style nazism.

Parts of Europe which felt the Nazi boot a generation ago were surprisingly self-contained. In Denmark, the independent newspaper Information suggested that a show of strength by the big two parties soon would woo the sensible elements away from the National Democrats and leave the party with a small core of diehards.

Close Fighting in Viet Nam

Air Cavalry Reports 102 of Enemy Killed

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen clashed with North Vietnamese soldiers in close-quarter fighting today in the central highlands and reported killing 102 of the enemy.

The U.S. military command said the battle broke out when a platoon of the 1st Cavalry, Airborne Division was attacked at hand grenade range by a "sizeable" North Vietnamese force.

The platoon suffered heavy casualties before reinforcements arrived, a military spokesman said. Air strikes were called in to hammer at the attacking Communists.

The action, part of Operation Paul Revere 4, raged 22 miles southwest of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng, scene of North Vietnamese probes and skirmishes for more than a week.

Ground action was reported light elsewhere, but Korean marines operating near the South China Sea coast reported killing 91 Viet Cong Sunday in a two-and-a-half-hour battle seven miles northwest of Quang Ngai City. A Korean spokesman said the marines clashed with a reinforced Viet Cong company of 200 men, the largest enemy unit they have met since moving into the area last August.

In the air, Guam-based B52 bombers staged three raids today on enemy positions in South Viet Nam, two of them in Communist War Zone C in Tay Ninh Province.

A few hours after the giant Stratofortis struck, 1,200 men of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were lifted by helicopter into the target area, moving to within 1,500 yards of the Cambodian border.

Crash Snuffs Out Wedding Plans

LOCKNEY, Tex. (AP) — Plans for a Thanksgiving week wedding were snuffed out Sunday when a Santa Fe freight train slammed into an auto carrying seven young people.

Five persons in the auto, including the bride, were killed. The other two passengers, one of them groom Jessie Salas, were critically injured in the accident at the Texas Panhandle town of Lockney, 80 miles southeast of Amarillo. Salas, 17, of Lockney, and Teresa Islas, 15, of nearby Floydada, were to have been married today.

Life Magazine Wants Another Study

World Still Is Wondering What Happened in Dallas

NEW YORK (AP) — Tuesday is the third anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, Tex., and the controversy surrounding his death continues.

Was the killer Lee Harvey Oswald? Did he act alone? Or was there a conspiracy involving one or more accomplices?

The special investigative commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren answered the first two questions with a firm yes, the third with a firm no.

These conclusions followed months of hearing hundreds of witnesses and examining a mountainous array of evidence. But still pouring forth are books and magazine articles challenging both the commission's report and the adequacy of its investigation.

Different Bullets

Life magazine, in this week's issue out today, said, "A new investigating body . . . should re-examine the evidence and consider other evidence the Warren Commission failed to evaluate."

The magazine said Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who was riding with Kennedy and was wounded himself, was still certain that he and Kennedy were hit by two different bullets, not one as the Warren Commission determined.

So persistent are the attacks that in a Nov. 4 news conference President Johnson apparently left open a possibility that the circumstances of the assassination might be further explored — if important new evidence should be forthcoming.

Johnson said: "I know of no evidence that would in anyway cause any reasonable person to have a doubt about the Warren Commission. But if there is any evidence that's brought forth, I'm sure that the commission and the appropriate authorities will take action that may be justified."

The Warren Commission report made this summation: "The shots which killed President Kennedy and wounded Gov. (John B. Connally Texas) were fired by Lee Harvey Oswald. On the basis of the evidence before the commission, it concludes that Oswald acted alone."

The commission found that the rifle fire had come entirely from a window of the Texas School Book Depository Building. Critics of the commission insist there is reason to believe some shots were fired from elsewhere.

'Puff of Smoke'

Attorney Mark Lane asserts in his book "Rush to Judgment" that at least seven witnesses said they had seen "a puff, or puffs, of white smoke" from behind a wooden fence which the presidential car was about to pass.

On that point the Warren report had this to say: "In contrast to the testimony of witnesses who heard and observed shots fired from the depository, the commission's investigation has disclosed no credible evidence that shots were fired from anywhere else."

TV Artists' Unions, Networks Draw Up Tentative Contract

Programming Will Continue Until Pact Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Two performers unions and four broadcasting networks reached a tentative contract agreement Sunday night, averting a strike threatened for midnight.

Negotiating sessions went on throughout the day and, at 9:15 p.m., federal mediator Abraham A. Desser announced a settlement.

The announcement indicated that the 17,500 members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and the 18,000 members of the Screen Actors Guild would remain on the job pending membership votes.

There was no immediate comment from the two unions or the networks involved — the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Co. and the Mutual Radio Network.

Terms of the settlement were not made public.

The old contracts between AFTRA and the networks expired at midnight last Tuesday.

AFTRA had demanded that minimum pay be raised from $195 to $225 weekly for newsmen, $195 to $220 for staff announcers, and an additional $225 payment for on-camera appearances by newsmen.

The Guild sought an increase from $105 to $125 a day for performances by actors in commercials.

Serving in Philippines

Peace Corpsmen Called by Military

MANILA (AP) — The Peace Corps director for the Philippines said today that three corpsmen had received draft calls barely two months after their arrival in the Philippines from the United States.

Director Richard Balch said one of the group, Fred Lonidier of Seattle, Wash., had been ordered to report for induction

Dec. 7 and is scheduled for a medical examination in Manila Tuesday.

The two others are Douglas E. Magee, 23, of Santa Susana, Calif., and Michael Kiesler, 22, of Louisville, Ky. He said they had appealed for deferment and the appeals were being considered.

"We have done everything we can," Balch said.

Lonidier in an outspoken letter to the Manila Times Sunday said his appeals for deferment had been rejected by his state draft board and the presidential appeal board.

'Makes One Wonder'

"It really makes one wonder whether or not the Peace Corps is perhaps an expendable political gimmick kept in existence to give the lie to any challenge to Johnson's peaceful intentions," Lonidier wrote.

"At least it seems volunteers are expendable."

"It is utterly fantastic that we have been so extensively and expensively trained, transported and maintained, only to be pulled out before we have begun our work."

Balch said the Peace Corps had unsuccessfully carried Lonidier's deferment "to the highest appeals channels there are." He added that the Manila Times was not the proper channel for a Peace Corpsman to complain.

Lonidier and his wife arrived in the Philippines last September in a group of 260 volunteers. They have been serving in Iligan City on the southern island of Mindanao.

7-Year-Old Held Captive in Florida Found Unharm

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — A young girl, who police said was offered a ride by a stranger, then held captive, is back home unharm.

A South Carolina man was arrested.

Bay County Sheriff M.J. Daffin said charges would be filed today against R.E. Collins of Columbia, S.C.

The sheriff said 7-year-old Rose Marie Bradley was found early Sunday in a car driven by Collins. Daffin said she was bound and gagged. She had been missing more than five hours.

A deputy stopped the car after roadblocks were erected throughout this northwest Florida city.

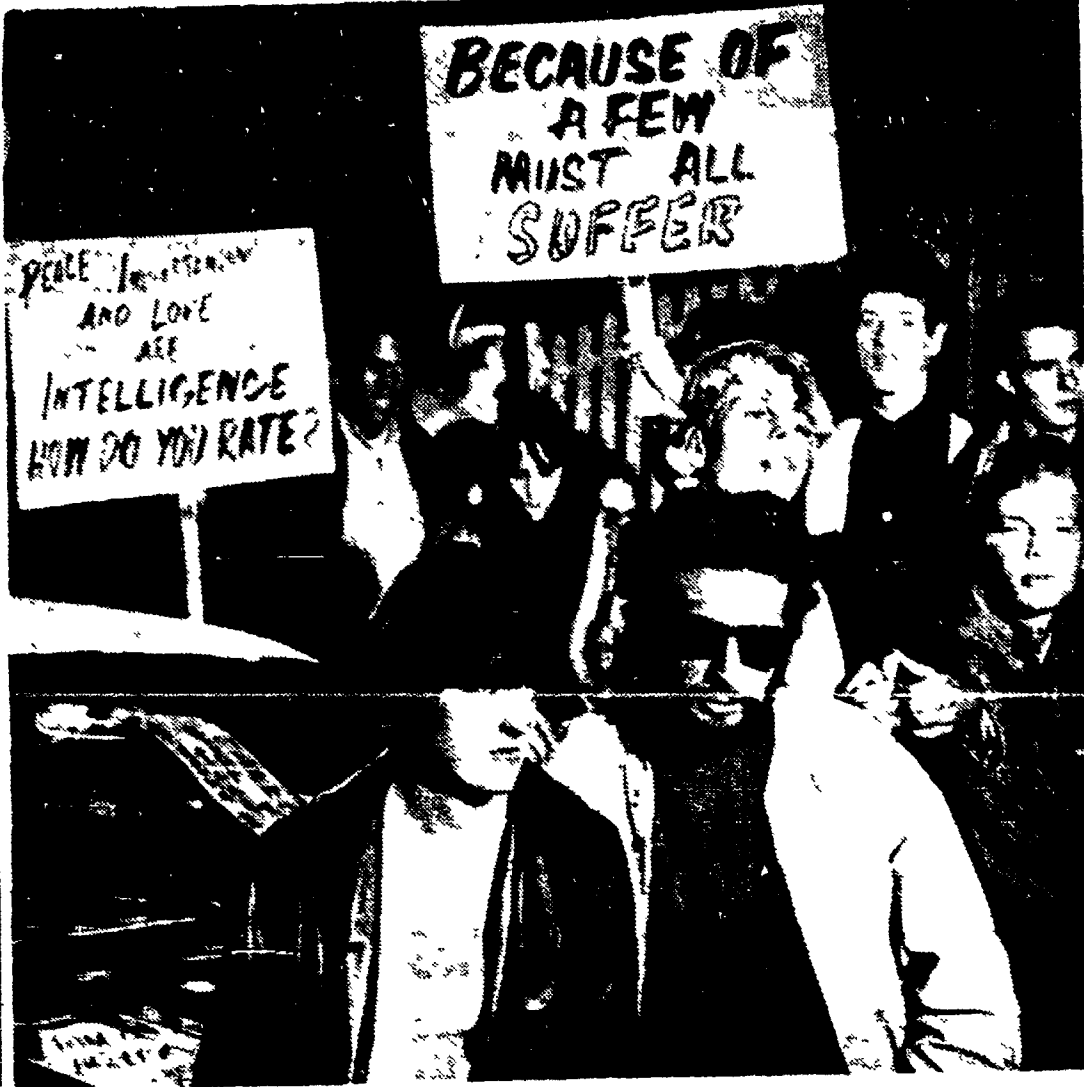

Police said a motorist had picked up brown-haired Rose Marie and two brothers as they walked to a grocery. They said the man let out the boys later and drove away with the girl.

$100,000 Loss in Whitewater Fire

WHITEWATER (AP) — A fire which destroyed the former Club 12 restaurant and tavern on U. S. 12 about eight miles south of Whitewater early Sunday caused damage estimated at $100,000.

The structure, owned by John Bartelak of rural Elkhorn, had been vacant since July.

Chief Nello Achillo of the Lauderdale Lakes fire department said the blaze apparently was caused by defective wiring. Fire departments from Watertown and Palmyra also helped fight the flames.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — From the police car blared the amplifier warning:

"Attention. Attention. It is now past 10 p.m. The curfew law is now in effect. Anyone remaining in the area under 18 years old will be arrested."

Teen-agers on crowded, neon-lit Sunset Boulevard — some conventionally dressed, many with shaggy beards, hair or clothing — have heard the message often recently.

It may mean a new face for the Sunset Strip, once a place for good food, adult night clubbing, elegant jazz, now a place for youngsters to dance frenetically and clog weekend traffic to a standstill. Many, having autos, can visit the area from distant parts of the Los Angeles area.

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — The Viet Nam war has left Mrs. Rosemary Kistler, 26, of Meadville, Pa. a widow twice and her second husband, Army Lt. Bernard Kistler, is being buried today at the United States Military Academy.

Mrs. Kistler learned one hour after she gave birth to Kistler's son last week that her second husband had died as her first, the victim of Viet Cong fire. She has another son, by her first husband, Lt. William Reach. Neither man lived to see his child.

Reach was killed 22 months ago.

Kistler graduated from West Point in 1965. His funeral was Friday in Franklin, Pa.

Ford Expects GOP 'State of the Union'

Dirksen Reveals Republican Plans for Alternate Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says he expects Republicans to come up with a "State of the Union" message of their own after President Johnson delivers his to Congress early next year.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen reports Republicans also hope to offer an alternate budget if Johnson fails to balance income and spending in his proposed 1967-68 fiscal program.

These disclosures, made in separate weekend interviews, came as Republican leaders began formulating strategy on how to deploy their beefed-up minority in the 90th Congress which convenes Jan. 10. The GOP picked up 47 House seats and 3 Senate seats in the Nov. 8 elections.

Dirksen said Republicans will present "positive programs" in 1967 rather than mere opposition to administration proposals.

Ford took a similar stance. He said there will be no intention of trying to cut out all "Great Society" programs, but he predicted an effort to "keep them from rolling."

Ford declined to get into specifics on GOP plans, saying he wanted to meet first with ranking Republican members of House committees.

He said, however, that House Republicans would not form a coalition with Southern Democrats in an attempt to block administration programs.

Ford disclosed efforts will be made to "tighten up" aid to education and to transfer some functions of the antipoverty program to other agencies.

Grants Without 'Strings' Idea Gains Support

Both Parties Back Program Eliminating Federal Interference

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The old argument—that the federal government should keep its nose out of states' business so they can have more independence—is going to look pretty odd if an idea now gaining momentum causes a rumpus in Congress in 1967.

One of the ways in which the federal government helps states now is through grants-in-aid, meaning that if a state has a need for some specific program, which Washington approves, the government will give the state money to help pay the bill, provided the state matches the amount with money of its own.

The idea being batted around now—not new but with support of both the Democratic and Republican sides—is that the federal government should just hand over to the states some of the money it gets from taxes for the states to use for programs in which they don't have to match the federal help.

Different Forms
The idea has different shapes. Walter W. Heller and Joseph Pechman of the Brookings Institution have proposed one: massive federal grants to the states without strings attached.

Heller was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy before he resigned in 1964 to go back to teaching at the University of Minnesota. He has repeatedly made this kind of suggestion which Johnson so far has been unwilling to buy.

Then there are suggestions, made separately, by two Wisconsin members of the House, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, a Democrat, and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the Republican Conference Committee.

Last week Reuss proposed the federal government should hand over $5 billion a year for five years to the states, with no strings, except that the states would have to have programs to reorganize and modernize their state and local governments.

Laird, who has talked about this since 1958, proposed that a certain percentage of taxes collected in each state be returned to the state yearly to help it solve its problems. The national Governors' Conference endorsed this idea last July.

Laird called this a first step toward decentralization of government. No matter what it's called, it's a plea for the federal government to share its taxes with the states and makes hash out of the argument that states should be more free and independent of the federal government.

It would let a state have it both ways: It would depend on the federal government to bail it out, whether it was unwilling or unable to raise enough money of its own to take care of its needs.

Reuss, who did attach one condition to his idea, is opposed to both the Heller and Laird plans on the grounds that giving a lot of money to states as they are now organized would be "pouring federal money down a rat-hole."

the vote on the seating of Peking at this session. It would be considered only after the vote on a resolution sponsored by Albania, Cambodia and nine other Communist and non-aligned nations to expel Nationalist China and seat Communist China.

"Whatever your stand on Peking," Goldberg said, "if you are unwilling to see the Republic of China expelled you have no alternative but to vote against the Albanian resolution."

really capable of imposing uncontested authority on the country." The liberal Combat in Paris complimented the Bavarian voters for giving even further support to Franz Josef Strauss' Christian Democrats, regardless of the ballots for the National Democrats. Combat said Strauss was the real winner.

This was the same sentiment expressed by the London Evening News.

The London Evening Standard was more perturbed, commenting:

"There seems to be some strange and eerie law of nature that insists that every 20 years or so Germany should stir from her ponderous bourgeois rectitude and do something that gives the world the creeps. It has haunted Europe for three generations — and here we go again."

originally drafted by Italy, for that purpose.

The resolution called for the committee to explore and study the situation in all its aspects and recommend "an equitable and practical solution" to the 1967 assembly session. It appealed "to all governments concerned to give assistance to the committee in its search for such a solution."

'Break Deadlock'

Explaining the proposal to correspondents, Italian Ambassador Piero Vinci said its object was to "break the deadlock" on the issue. He criticized a pending resolution to replace Nationalist China with Communist China in the United Nations and suggested that, in the interest of universality and self-determination, both should be here.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was scheduled to present the U.S. view on the China question in a speech to the assembly shortly afterward.

Italian Sen. Attilio Piccioni, outlining the proposal to the assembly Friday, said the committee should ask Peking if it really wants to be represented in the United Nations and if it will abide by the charter.

Position of Formosa

The committee also should determine what the position of Nationalist China would be if Peking were granted a seat, he said. The Nationalists, now confined to the island of Formosa, currently represent China in the Security Council and the General Assembly. The Nationalist government and the mainland Communist regime both have expressed strong opposition to a two-China policy giving representation to both.

today, Kemps said. The coroner said he will confer with Appleton police and with Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer before he decides on an inquest into the accident.

Brouillard, who was taken by ambulance to Appleton Memorial Hospital, was not seriously injured. He suffered multiple cuts and abrasions, including lacerations about the face and hands. A family spokesman said Brouillard was still in somewhat of a dazed condition this morning and explained he probably would be hospitalized for several days.

Alberts, who was married, worked as a press helper at the George Banta Co.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Appleton Bible Chapel. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Cemetery. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home from 3 p.m. Tuesday until 10 a.m. Wednesday, then at the church until time of services.

Lawrence Student Protests

College Conference Proposes More Liberal Rules for Selective Service

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — A college-sponsored conference on the Selective Service System adopted a resolution calling for a more liberal definition of a conscientious objector after three students walked out in protest.

One of those who walked out, Frank Schaffer, a student at Lawrence University in Appleton, Wis., said the proposed change would "allow a person to be (draft) exempt if he didn't want to serve in a particular war."

Two Yale students joined Schaffer of Phoenix, Ariz., in the protest Sunday during the final day of the conference sponsored by Antioch College.

The proposal asks that a man be exempted as a conscientious objector if he has personal philosophical or moral objections to a war.

"In our society we just can't allow a person to decide which war he will serve in," Schaffer said. He is a sophomore at Lawrence.

The conference, attended by students, teachers and administrators from about 40 colleges, was called "extremely successful" by Dr. James P. Dixon, president of Antioch. The delegates acted as individuals, not as representatives of their schools.

But Schaffer and Yale students Lanny Davis of Jersey City, N.J., and John Rothchild of St.

Petersburg, Fla., said one reason for their walkout was that they could not commit their schools to the actions of the conference. Davis and Rothchild charged that the delegates did not comprise "a representative body of the academic community."

The three students who left early said most of the approved proposals were aimed at abolishing the current Selective Service System instead of reforming it.

Romney Favored Over LBJ, Harris Poll Shows

Michigan Governor Claims He Hasn't Decided on Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, bolstered by a poll in which he outran President Johnson, is expected to meet with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today in Puerto Rico to discuss strengthening the Republican party.

Romney arrived in San Juan Sunday for a two-week vacation. He said in a statement that recently elected Republican governors will be in a position to have more influence in national affairs and in the GOP.

Rockefeller met Friday in the Virgin Islands with Republican Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania. All Republican governors and governors-elect are expected to meet in December in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Romney, who won a third term Nov. 8, says he hasn't decided whether to seek the 1968 GOP presidential nomination. But Romney aides already are setting up Washington headquarters for a presidential drive.

Pollster Louis Harris reported Sunday that voters questioned after the Nov. 8 election preferred Romney over President Johnson 54 per cent to 46 per cent.

Johnson had nipped Romney 51 to 49 per cent in a Harris October poll. In this month's poll, said Harris, 43 per cent of persons calling themselves Republicans favored Romney as the GOP nominee.

Richard M. Nixon was second at 28 per cent and Rockefeller — who said prior to winning a third term that he was not interested in running again for president — was the choice of 12 per cent. Six per cent favored Sen.-elect Charles H. Percy of Illinois and 5 per cent Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan of California.

Johnson beat Nixon, Percy and Rockefeller each by 54 to 46 per cent and Reagan by 67 to 33 in Harris presidential trial heats.

Germans, Americans Launch Balloon to Snap Surface of Sun

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — German and American scientists launched a huge balloon Sunday in an experiment designed to photograph the solar surface and the sun's spectra.

The balloon, filled with three million cubic feet of helium, carried a 2,800-pound instrument package aloft.

A cosponsor of the project is the Fraunhofer Institute of Freiburg, Germany. The balloon was sent up from the National Center for Atmospheric Research located near Palestine, an east Texas city about 100 miles south of Dallas.

The principal director of the flight was Dr. K.O. Keipenheuer of Freiburg. Scientists said the balloon was to come down near Alexandria, La. today.

Ambassador Says Polish Believe Hanoi Would Talk

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., quoted Polish officials Saturday night as having said they believed Hanoi would agree to negotiate for peace in Viet Nam if the United States again stopped bombing North Viet Nam.

"Their general view is that if we stop the third time, the North Vietnamese would agree (to negotiate)," Clark said. "They believe it would happen, but they have no concrete facts on which to base their belief."

To Your Good Health
Cause of Parkinson's Disease, Its Symptoms

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause of Parkinson's Disease? Would there be any symptoms in advance? — M.M.

Parkinson's Disease (or Parkinsonism) is also called paralysis agitans, which means a rigidity of the muscles and tremors. It is not paralysis in the sense of being unable to move; it is a difficulty in controlling movement.

It results from a chronic disorder of certain segments of the mid-brain which have to do with control of motion, and appears to be caused by decreased blood supply to the brain — a result of hardening of the arteries.

Parkinsonism now affects an estimated 1,500,000 Americans, and as the number of older people increases, probably so will Parkinsonism.

Early symptoms usually are a tremor of one hand; hand and foot movements slow up; writing becomes difficult.

At this point I must warn that it is necessary to distinguish between Parkinsonism and other tremors that often develop with advancing age, or the difficulty in movement from multiple sclerosis. In Parkinsonism the characteristic tremor is a pill-rolling motion of the fingers when the hands are at rest; in the other ailments, the tremor is more marked with intentional movements rather than when the patient is not voluntarily moving.

The rate at which Parkinsonism progresses varies greatly. In some cases, only slight change is noted from year to year. Only one side of the body may be involved. The face loses some of its expression.

In severe cases progress may be rapid. The face can acquire a blank look; muscle rigidity increases and can affect both sides; drooping may occur; the patient walks with a forward motion, as though half running and about to fall.

Dr. L. J. Dorshay, one of the outstanding authorities, emphasizes certain points of interest: It is not hereditary.

There is no paralysis in the sense of being unable to move; rather, muscle rigidity causes awkwardness of movement.

There is no numbness or pain. The mind is not affected. Early treatment is important.

I'll leave a discussion of treatment for tomorrow's column.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have trouble with scales or crumb on my scalp and back of my ear. I have been using petroleum jelly on it, but as soon as I stop the crust forms again and itches. I am sure you can help me. — H.D.

You evidently have a dermatitis of some sort, a skin disease. The petroleum jelly may subdue the itch and soften the crust but can't be expected to cure the trouble. Your best bet is to have a dermatologist determine what kind of dermatitis it is and then treat it with the intent of curing it rather than merely trying to keep the crust soft.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have trouble with stiffness in my arm. A doctor X-rayed my elbow and it showed joint mice. Would surgery correct this? — H.F.F.

Joint mice are tiny bits of calcium in the area, the result of infection or other irritation. The "mice," in fact, represent Nature's attempts at healing. In themselves, the "mice" are not ordinarily painful, and the discomfort and stiffness may be due instead to the original irritation. If necessary the "mice" can, however, be flushed out or picked out surgically.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms; treatment; how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling. Misuse of English by Well-Educated People Criticized by Professor

Grammarians Blame State on Lack of Training in Fundamentals

By ROB WOOD

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The educated people who might be expected to use America's native language properly in many instances cannot.

Dr. A. C. Jordan, a Duke University English professor recognized as a leading grammarian, said doctors, lawyers, merchants, chiefs — even school teachers — have little understanding of English grammar.

The result is that even they are finding efficient and sensible communication more difficult. The trouble, Jordan said in an interview, is that students are not properly trained.

Jordan said students from the elementary grades to the college level never received necessary training rudimentary English.

"Students are denied proper education in grammar and when some of them become teachers they, in turn, deny it to the students they teach," he said.

Communications Failing

The professor said communications are breaking down and "individuals find it impossible to get across their ideas."

The failure of Americans to understand English, Jordan said, extends to improper punctuation, poor spelling, and lengthy, rambling sentences.

Jordan said his research had shown that poor grammar is not limited by any means to the uneducated.

The errors are committed by and found in the works of many professional men — "particularly doctors, lawyers, ministers, schoolteachers, and some of the worst offenders of all — news writers."

In his years of research, Jordan said, he has discovered the present generation is far weaker in grammar than in the days of father or grandfather.

In bulky scrapbooks, he has kept letters from leaders of many professions, expressing their dismay at the way the English language is butchered.

Shortcoming of Bar

The late U.S. Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter once wrote: "One of the greatest shortcomings of our bar is the poor respect it pays to the English language."

Justice John M. Harlan wrote Jordan: "Our law schools would do well to make English a required course."

An official of the medical school of Johns Hopkins University told Jordan, "Many of our students are incapable of communicating ideas or facts clearly and properly."

Jordan said the same situation was found among many students in theology schools. These students, he said, were unable to transmit to others their ideas and convictions because they lack a proper knowledge of English.

Promotions Denied

He also had reports from 114 major industries in the United States, stating that many bright young men were denied promotions because of failures in the use of English grammar.

One of the basic problems in the school system, Jordan said, is, "too much English literature and too little English grammar."

The Duke professor said the nation "has hit the bottom in grammar so hard that it must bounce back."

Jordan said poor grammar "is a failure of our educational system. Grammar is ignored. Spelling is a lost art. The dictionary is a forgotten book."

Jordan blames current literature for some of the failures of today. He is critical of the works of Ernest Hemingway, Erskine Caldwell and John Steinbeck.

Read Fitzgerald

For the student with a desire to read the best, Jordan suggested Thomas Wolfe, James Joyce, "and one of the greatest — F. Scott Fitzgerald."

As corrective measures, Jordan suggests:

"Creation of a national committee of able deans from the professional schools and alert leaders in business and industry to outline a basic course in the fundamentals of English accuracy."

"And universities should insist that English grammar be made a full year of freshman work."

Inflation Gets Louisville Rhinos

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Where have all the rhinos gone? (And the elephants, and the baboons?)

Inflation got them, every one. Rising construction costs have forced the city to eliminate plans for about $600,000 in buildings at the new zoo now being built.

Included were planned quarters for two rare white rhinos and exhibits housing baboons and elephants.

The city has already made a down payment of more than $4,000 for the rhinos, which are boarded in a German zoo. And, the city is paying life insurance premiums on them.

The city's zoo director, Dr. Ivo Poglayen, said he believed he could arrange with the importer to apply the money that would have gone for the rhinos on other animals for which there might be room.

Plans were made four years ago when financier and horseman J. Graham Brown gave the city $1.5 million to build a zoo.

Meantime, prices have gone up, and, apparently, the rhinos, the elephants and the baboons have gone with them.

Time Now to Check Over Keel and Transom of Boat

If your boat is now "decommissioned" for the season, take scratches should be filled with a good look at its forefoot, keel, fiberglass-type auto body putty, and transom edge. All summer these spots, hidden from view when in the water, have been subjected to the wear and tear of launching, beaching and hauling out.

Now is the time to start reconditioning any of these areas that look rough.

On wood hulls the best way to repair splintered edges is by carefully shaving them with a block plane. Deep gouges and cracks should be cleaned and then filled with wood dough or an epoxy filler compound. When dry, the area should be sanded smooth.

Fiberglass Hulls

Minor repairs on fiberglass paint. The end result, done with hulls are also relatively simple, reasonable care and patience, is thanks to some of the new synthetic patching products on the market. Chips or deep scratches should be filled with a fiberglass-type auto body putty. Spread on a clean, dry surface, the putty dries hard enough to sand in about two hours. Because it is made with the same chemical on which fiberglass resin is based, it adheres well.

If any areas of the boat are badly battered a rebuild job may be necessary. To do this, worn areas should be filled with the above mentioned materials and then covered with a fiberglass and glass tape available at marine dealers or hardware stores.

Whether patching or rebuilding, finish off the job by spraying the area, or perhaps the entire bottom, with epoxy fiberglass paint. The end result, done with reasonable care and patience, is thanks to some of the new synthetic patching products on the market.

Trading Stamps Lead to Higher Sales Volumes

More Business Pays for Ads, Companies Claim

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For every entry he passes out to customers in a certain sales contest, the owner of a gasoline station pays two cents to his supplier.

It costs the grocer about two cents on each $1 of sales to supply you with trading stamps. Put another way, the grocer pays $2.40 for the 1,200 stamps needed to fill a certain stamp book.

Is it possible, then, that these costs won't, in turn, be added to your bill? The trading stamp companies and contest promoters say these gifts are really free, and that they add nothing to your bill.

Who pays then? Is there really a Santa Claus in all this?

The usual answer is that, yes, there is a Santa Claus. It is volume. Promotional schemes, so the theory goes, provide so much added volume to a store that they pay for themselves. The needed increase might be about 15 or 20 per cent.

Add Profits

Not only do promotional schemes provide you with a gift and put dollars in the grocer's pocket too — but in doing this they apparently bring profits also.

One sweepstakes promoter says its business has tripled in the past few years. And Sperry & Hutchinson, a trading stamp distributor, reported profits from January through September of $17,881,000.

Promotion companies offer documentation for their claims that a good sales scheme can more than offset its own cost by means of added volume. This, however, leaves unanswered a big question: Where does the volume come from?

Generally speaking, the added sales come at the expense of a competitor. It is difficult to increase the volume of consumer food buying generally. It must come from another store's share.

Competitive Stamps

The other store, however, doesn't usually permit this without a fight. It increases its advertising and promotion and perhaps takes on a stamp of its own. The quality of stamps then becomes a competitive factor.

Well aware of this, the stamp companies strive to improve the value of their products and the location, appearance and efficiency of their redemption centers.

If every store had trading stamps what kind of a situation would we be in? It hasn't happened nationally yet. About 40 per cent of the nation's food dollar carries a stamp premium with it. But some neighborhoods have been nearly saturated.

When this situation is reached you can watch for one big market to pull out of the competition, announce it will reduce prices and thus use price savings rather than gifts as a promotional tool.

The trading stamp people like to say they heighten competition, that stores compete perhaps more energetically than they otherwise would. There is, perhaps, a gain in efficiency.

Change Competition

Stamps also change the competitive situation by drawing automobile shoppers as much as one-half mile out of the way and causing a walking shopper to go an extra block.

Bypassed, a marginal operator — his inefficiency shown in high prices — may be forced out of business. Stamps may be only a contributor to the process, but the trend to larger, more efficient outlets has been with us for years.

Promotion people also like to use the example of the new store to show they have a sound economic justification.

Often it takes four to eight months for a new store to reach break-even volume. A good promotion might do this instantly, however, resulting in lower start-up expense and, presumably, lower prices too.

With surveys showing 8 of 10 households now save stamps it is difficult to determine whether it is the demand of housewives for savings or the supply of stamps that keeps people saving, pasting, clipping, redeeming.

Some promoters say housewives enjoy playing sales promotion games. But, now that food prices have risen, some of the fun and some of the playful mood seem to have disappeared.

Bad Weather Blamed For Small Cotton Crop

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Bad weather is blamed this year for the smallest cotton crop on record in Virginia. The 1966 cotton harvest of 3,000 bales compares with 8,300 last year and the 1960-64 average of 10,700 bales.

Grumps About Christmas

Boyle's Righteous Ire Really Only Pecuniary

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Santa Claus, that merry merchant, is ringing the cash register early this year.

An ornate yule tree has stood for a couple of weeks now in the window of a prominent Fifth Avenue store, reminding depressed passers-by that mankind's annual orgy of good will is nigh.

It seems to get nigher sooner with each succeeding season.

Riding to work in a cab the other morning, we passed a huge unit electronic Christmas tree climbing the side of another Fifth Avenue building.

The driver noted it gloomily and said:

"I guess I'll surprise my wife and let her get her teeth capped this Christmas. Well, why not? After all, it's only money."

Already Stale

And then he added moodily: "The trouble with Christmas any more is that by the time it gets here it's stale already."

Now isn't that true?

It is impossible to celebrate more than one holiday at a time, and a growing number of people are resenting the trend to an earlier, ever earlier, Christmas.

For one thing, it is infringing on one of our oldest and most festive national holidays—Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving is one of the most profound expressions of mankind, as deeply religious in its essence as Christmas and even wider in a way because its gratitude to the Creator is bound by no particular creed.

It celebrates the harvest and man's eternal victory over winter and hunger.

Proper Due

But it is getting impossible to pay Thanksgiving its proper due with Santa Claus rushing on stage yelling "Ho, Ho, Ho!" When President Johnson issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation, it might have been a good idea if he had coupled it with a quiet order to U.S. customs inspectors along the Canadian border:

"If a fat guy wearing whiskers and a red suit shows up, keep him out of the country at least until the first of December. If he makes a fuss, tell him you suspect one of his reindeer has the foot-and-mouth disease. Check his license. See if he's driving a stolen sled."

Of course, in a competitive civilization, it's a matter of pride to keep a step ahead of the other fellow. But this jumping the season in preparing for Christmas has become a national nuisance, and makes countless pastors mourn.

Mass Hysteria

In many cases it is less a celebration than participation in mass hysteria.

Christmas is getting to be such a year-round industry that, sooner or later, in some household a kid looking for hidden Easter eggs will be startled to see Santa Claus sliding down the chimney in a straw hat.

Yep, the next thing you know we'll be honoring Abraham Lincoln in January and busting out our Fourth of July flags and shooting up skyrockets on the third of April.

Unless we form an organization to keep Christmas in its place on the calendar we'll soon be jaded by the sound of jingle bells in September.

Editor's note: Don't pay any attention to Hal Boyle. He just opened his wife's letter to Santa Claus and found she wants a fur coat for Christmas. That's enough to upset any husband.

Draft by Lottery

A committee of four faculty members and three students named after the anti-draft sit-ins at the University of Wisconsin last spring has produced a report which, in general, calls for a continuation of existing university policy in dealing with the Selective Service System.

But on the broader question of what to do to make the draft system fairer, a committee majority backed a change to a World War I type lottery. How to devise a better system for the draft, now under study in Washington, is not a simple assignment, but considering the source of the university lottery recommendation it is a disappointment.

"Use of a lottery is worrisome for any society which would strive to operate by reason rather than chance. We chose the lottery only because the alternatives brought to our attention appear even less satisfactory," the committee reported.

"The educational cost of the 2-S deferment of college students has been all out of proportion to the value it contributes. And the operational inequalities of the system of general deferments raise disturbing moral questions — particularly where so many 'deferments' ripen into exemptions for significantly large groups in the society," the committee majority said.

A committee minority said a draft lottery would substitute chance for judgment "in an area where we need maximum judgment." This is a conclusion most Americans will agree with, though admittedly it is also true that agreeing on a substitute for existing draft rules is difficult.

The committee majority, addressing itself to the issues raised in the student protests last spring, backed present university policy. It said the university should continue to furnish class rankings to students who wanted them for their draft boards but that such rankings should not go directly to draft boards. And it said the university should continue to furnish space for Selective Service college deferment tests "so long as such use of university facilities implies neither institutional approval nor disapproval of the test or endorsement of the agency administering it."

These points may seem like a fine splitting of hairs, but the principle that the university was dealing with students and not the Selective Service System was established last spring.

As it indicated in its support of a draft lottery, the committee majority said "the use of academic criteria is appropriate, chiefly because we know of no better alternative." In fact, the committee unanimously supported the university's furnishing more information than it now does as long as national draft policy includes student deferments.

One idea for drastic reform of the draft, universal military training, was rejected by the committee because "we see no compelling reason of security which would justify such regimentation of millions of young people."

It is to be hoped that some examination of recent proposals for a combination of the draft with other national service, like the Peace Corps or service in slums or distressed areas, will come from the university community along with a hard look at the conclusion that there is nothing better to replace the present draft than a lottery system. If the academic communities of the nation cannot find recommendations to improve the existing unfairness of the draft, there can be little hope that solutions will come from the politicians.

Election Returns by Computer

The recent election returns on television have stirred up a new controversy in the country which began two years ago. Do the predicted outcomes of the election, as estimated early in the evening by computers after a small sample of returns have been counted, influence the final outcome?

Moves have been started in several parts of the country to prohibit such estimates on the grounds that prospective voters, both for or against the reported winner, may stay home from the polls. The suggested laws, which probably would have to have a court decision as to their constitutionality, would ban even speculation on the winners until after the polls all over the country have closed. Since Hawaii is several hours behind New York, this would virtually mean no estimates on presidential elections on television available in the east until the small hours of the next morning.

It's almost impossible to tell whether the computer-determined outcomes announced early in the counting actually do discourage some prospective voters from going to the polls. Percentages of voters were high in almost all states in this off year election. Presumably the ratio of late voters to those of other years could be checked for some sort of conclusion. But it is even harder to determine whether the announced estimated outcome actually changes or decides the way later voters cast their ballots.

One thing, however, is certain. Announcing the returns so early may have given the networks something to chortle over the next day when most of the estimates turned out to be quite accurate. But the viewing public finds such estimates given so early not half as much fun as the down to the wire speculations of the old days. If the rating system, which governs so much of television programming, shows that a lot of viewers turned off their sets at eight o'clock instead of at midnight, the industry will either dispose of the computers or make the estimates and then put on a movie.

Some news programs are the best things that television does. But there is little inspirational about watching some highly priced and talented newsmen trying to fill in otherwise dead air for several hours after the main bout is over.

More Trouble in the Congo

The chaotic Congo, now under a rather reasonable military dictatorship, may be in for even more trouble. Reportedly there are associations recruiting white mercenaries abroad, especially in South Africa, for an invasion slated to begin in January. The problem is to find out who is doing the plotting and the hiring.

General Joseph Mobutu, who seized power in an almost bloodless coup some months ago, used such white mercenaries when he was in command of the Congolese Army fighting the Communist inspired rebels. One group of men allegedly training in a camp in Southern France was linked to Mobutu, according to some sources.

But in Johannesburg where some former members of Mobutu's army have been re-recruited, some citizens have agreed with the charges made by a former commander of Mobutu's forces, that an invasion force was being drawn up to seize power in the Congo for none other than Moise Tshombe. The South African Sunday Express published a photocopy of alleged documents about the plot. According to the plan, Tshombe expects to have American-built Mustang fighters, heavy aircraft, white pilots, paratroopers, frogmen and engineers to make a success of the whole venture. It is also relying heavily upon a belief that at least 60 per cent of Mobutu's forces in the Congo are not loyal and really prefer Tshombe.

Actually regular recruiting for the Congolese Army was started more than three years ago in South Africa and is not at all opposed by the government in that country. But now it appears that the recruits may end up by fighting each other if some go to the regular army and others to the invasion force.

Only about one thing is certain. The Congo, which has been embroiled in one or another form of hysteria and conflict since it became independent, certainly is in for more of the same.

Looking Backward

Why Immigrants Don't Go South

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Nov. 22, 1866.

Immigration from Europe to the United States is going on at a great rate. But none of this vast inflow of men goes to the South.

Why? Just because the old southern aristocratic contempt for working, and for men who do work, is every whit as intense and bitter as it ever was; and because this contempt finds practical vent in habitual cheating of the free-men out of their wages, and in measuring out the same style of treatment to white workmen as to black ones — simply because they are workmen.

So no laborers go to the South; and the enormous resources of that fine region remain unused, by reason of the stupid madness and mad stupidity of the class of men who arrogantly claim to themselves all the intellect, all the good breeding, all the "high courtesy" and all the "chivalry," all the everything worth having, that exists in the nation.

Monday, Nov. 17, 1941.

Mrs. Rudolph Haase was elected president of the auxiliary to the Appleton unit, National Association of Letter Carriers. Other officers elected were Mrs. William Schulze, vice president; Mrs. Francis Navarre, secretary; Mrs. Robert Shortt, treasurer; Mrs. George Grimmer, sergeant-at-arms.

More than 100 graduates of Zion Lutheran Parish School attended the 25th anniversary reunion the previous night. About 500 persons attended the program. Speakers included Philip Vogt, representing the congregation; Mrs. Joseph Alschwede, a former teacher; Mrs. George Kuchenbecker and Kenneth Sager, graduates of former years, and Ruby Herzberg, graduate of the previous June.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, Nov. 19, 1956.

Miss Janice Van Bortel, Little Chute, was graduated from McConnell Air School and was an airline hostess from Bonanza Airlines out of Las Vegas.

The wholesale prices (Dun & Bradstreet Index) of one pound each of 31 foodstuffs are $6.87, compared with $6.08 at the beginning of 1965. Mosquito Hill Could Be Easily Developed

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Here is a quick reaction to County Supervisor DeBruin's "no urgency" statement about the development of a park site at Mosquito Hill. An added summer recreation facility may not be needed at present. Summer recreation is only part of the story, however, as the final paragraph of the November 16 report indicates.

Some of us in this area like to toboggan. It is not easy to find a good tobogganing site. The north side of Mosquito Hill is a good one, quite a long, steep hill easily accessible. The flat area at the bottom has grown up with small trees and bushes, however, and is quite dangerous.

It could be cleared out at small expense but we can hardly expect the property owners to do that. They are good enough to let us slide there.

How nice it would be if the Parks and Recreation Committee could obtain this site, or a similar one, so that a much needed recreation facility for a fine winter sport could be provided.

Wisconsin Report

Democratic Party's Demoralization Over Election Temporary

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — There is a curious tone of extremism in the reactions to the reverses of the Democratic Party in the state elections.

Wyngaard

Leading Democrats among others are discussing the vote gains of the Republicans in terms that upon a closer personal of the returns must seem excessively pessimistic. Some of the commentaries of friendly critics sound like panic. A Madison writer whose sympathies for the Democratic Party are scarcely concealed has titled election day "Black Tuesday."

There is talk about "disaster," about total reconstruction of the party apparatus which only six months ago was described with such pride, and some pretty plain hints that some prominent heads may fall in Madison and in Milwaukee where habitual assumptions of Democratic leads were so far in error as to contribute more heavily to the Republican majorities than in the rest of the state.

It is not the business of this report to commiserate with the Democrats, or to cheer for their victorious foes. Yet a sober second reading of the returns suggests that such dour interpretations are probably not justified.

One problem is the habit of the news services in comparing bare totals, without accounting for the growth in the electorate and the population and without recollection of the far more decisive margins of the Republicans in earlier years.

PERCENTAGE BETTER GAUGE

A more meaningful and useful gauge is the percentage of the vote attracted by the parties for the governorship or the legislature.

Gov. Knowles' ratio of the vote was just under 54 per cent. That was decisive. No doubt it was satisfying. It appears that it is a slight fraction better than the margin of Gaylord Nelson in 1958 when he defeated an incumbent Republican governor.

But it is not an overwhelming margin, as the comparatively calm reaction of the governor to those events reminds. The governor appears to feel, if his manner and his comments mean what they seem to mean, that the event was nothing to crow about — given the trend that was visible throughout the country, the advantages of his incumbency, the enormously energetic campaign he waged over a period of dreary months, the Republican advantages in financing and unified organization, and the obvious damage wrought in the Democratic organization in a divisive primary fight, among many other factors.

That percentage means, and every professional politician realizes it at a glance, that if a couple of voters out of each hundred change their minds and turn to the Democratic candidate two years hence, the Republican lease upon the Capitol may very well be cancelled again.

In terms of practical power, the Democrats in the Capitol are in precisely the position the Republicans faced eight years ago when Nelson achieved the most important modern Wisconsin victory of his party by upsetting Gov. Vernon W. Thomson. In psychological terms, that reverse was probably more costly for the Republicans, who were not accustomed to losing. But their reconstruction task was started. Today, the Republicans are in the best position they have enjoyed for a decade, but it is far less powerful, in fact and in outlook, than they had for a decade and a half preceding 1958.

PARTY'S TASK

More serious than the recorded margin of support of the parties at the polls is the question of morale within the party, the issue of leadership, the recruiting of workers and money. These tend to respond according to the prospects of the party. The best success in such carpentry was during the days of the party's rise.

Even giving a realistic discount for the frustration and chagrin immediately following the election, there are visible hazards. Party functionaries are trading recriminations about the responsibilities for organization default in critical areas. There is an obvious scramble going on for top place on the party ticket in 1968. While Pat Lucey appears determined to stay in sight, those enemies who hurt him so badly in key districts this fall are not likely to relent. David Carley wants another chance at the nomination, but must reckon with the strategic lead enjoyed by Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette. The dust settling may occupy most of the next year.

Congress' Economy Talk Only for Show

Appropriations Often Exceeded Requests for Near-High Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Toule-haired Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican leader, rose in the Senate to protest. There had been a lot of economy talk in Congress, but the voting was for near-record-big spending.

The Illinois senator said he was protesting on behalf of his friend, President Johnson. They had conferred the night before. "You should have heard him on the budget," Dirksen told his colleagues. "He fulminated like Hurricane Inez! He realizes what we are doing to his budget. With reckless abandon we spend money as if it had no value and as if there were no bottom to the barrel."

Dirksen's plea resulted in a Senate cut in a spending authorization bill that was pending at the moment — a cut of less than 1 per cent as related to the administration's over-all budget requests.

Ironically it was an antipoverity program cut slightly below the authorization that had been requested by the President.

Over Request
And while he continued to argue and vote — with little further success — for more cuts, Dirksen earlier in the 1966 session of Congress was among those who voted to add to a housing bill $900 million more than Johnson had sought.

A definitive record of how specific members of Congress voted as compared to how they talked regarding spending is not available because the legislators decided against recorded roll call votes on some of the major authorization and spending bills. Amendments offered to increase or cut were disposed of most of the time by voice or head-count votes.

Johnson's budget proposals were exceeded right and left on education and some other programs; he frequently urged the legislators to apply the brakes.

On the other hand, his budget contained cutbacks in several popular programs which his critics said he knew would be rejected by Congress and were intended only to raise an economy smoke-screen.

Didn't Rally Support
And Republicans charged that Johnson not only failed to veto bills which went beyond his budget but also failed to rally any substantial numbers of Democrats to oppose them.

The congressional tally showed that Congress voted more than $144 billion in appropriations this year, the second biggest total on record. The only higher mark was $147 billion in 1942, a World War II year.

But legislators claimed that they went beyond Johnson's budget on only two of the 15 money bills and that, over-all, they made a net reduction of $883 million below the President's requests.

However, Budget Bureau experts, who keep track of all spending legislation for the President, had a different version of the actions of the second session of the 89th Congress.

Spending Level
They said the real effect of these actions would be to boost the spending levels in Johnson's budget by about $2.5 billion unless he exercised his right to impose some of the funds.

The congressional net cut in total appropriations, they said, did not take account of many other items which require more spending.

Included in these, the officials said, were increases far beyond the President's recommendations in pay hikes for government civilian employees and military personnel; a GI cold war veterans bill providing education and home loan benefits which the President did not favor; greatly expanded highway spending; and allotments for purchases of home mortgages which greatly exceeded administration proposals.

On the other hand, the bureau said, some of the appropriation cuts voted by Congress were more apparent than real.

Public Assistance
For example, a substantial reduction was made in the funds for public assistance grants to the states. But if past experience holds, this will have to be restored in a supplemental money bill early next year.

Dirksen took charge of an economy drive after meeting with Johnson at the White House last Oct. 3. It was after that session that Dirksen told the Senate the President had "fulminated like Hurricane Inez!"

An immediate result of this was that Dirksen won a Senate vote to cut the antipoverity authorization bill by $750 million, back to the $1.75 million figure Johnson had proposed.

But the GOP leader didn't have much success after that. He tried to attach a rider to a public works money bill authorizing the President to impose 20 per cent of the funds.

Irrigation Control
This measure contained money for hundreds of irrigation, flood control and navigation projects all over the country. Dirksen's motion lost 50 to 17.

Then Dirksen sought to chop $390 million from a $10.5-billion money bill for the Labor and Welfare departments, cutting it back to Johnson's budget figure.

This would have had the effect of slashing funds for the loan program for needy college students and the impacted areas program for schools crowded because of nearby federal installations.

Johnson had proposed such cutbacks, but many legislators insisted he did so with tongue in cheek.

Dirksen's amendment was beaten. But he evidently was not surprised. When he offered it, he said: "We who are about to die salute you. I go into this knowing full well what's going to happen to an unpopular motion."

Modest Cut
The Republican leader also failed by an overwhelming margin to win what he called "a very modest cut" in the $6.4-billion Senate version of a grade and high school aid bill.

He proposed to cut it $473 million, although the total was $2 billion over Johnson's request.

He said the question involved in the vote was "the solvency and stability of our country in an anxious hour. Can we do it on the basis of guns and butter? I don't think so."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the bill's manager, asserted that Dirksen was trying "to substitute the President of the United States for the Senate by rubber-stamping the President."

What it amounted to, he said, was that Johnson was bringing "terrific pressure" on Congress "to have the school children of America help pay for the Vietnamese war."

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., insisted that Johnson was talking much more economy than he practiced.

Belated Support
"As one who has often felt quite lonely in opposing some of these increased appropriations," Williams said, "I welcome his somewhat belated support, but I only wish the President would implement his excellent promises of economy with affirmative action."

"For instance, the same day the President lectured Congress for its extravagance, he called in the press with its television cameras and signed the Mass Transportation Act authorizing expenditures of $300 million, which was over three times the $95 million requested by his own Budget Bureau."

"During these ceremonies he boasted of this measure as evidence of the benevolence of this Great Society."

The Democratic administrations of the past five years "have spent approximately $40 billion more than we have taken in," Williams said, adding that "the Johnson administration is the greatest spender of them all."

Democrats who handled education and welfare bills said they were quite willing to accept the responsibility for going beyond the budget.

But they said sometimes the shoe was on the other foot. For example, they pointed out that in August, Senate Republicans voted almost solidly to add $900 million to a housing bill for low-interest rate college dormitory loans. Johnson had not asked this, but Dirksen supported it; Williams was the only Republican to vote no. The item later was killed in the Senate-House conference on the bill.

In the House, Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the Appropriations Committee, was a leading economy advocate. He told the House in April: "I want to protect Johnson from those who want to spend more than he is proposing."

Bow proposed across-the-board cuts on several of the appropriations bills, but all of them failed. He opposed a cut-back in the school lunch and school milk programs — a cut-back which Johnson recommended.

Milwaukee Archbishop Defends Removing Ban On Friday Meat Eating

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Archbishop William E. Cousins says he voted to remove the Roman Catholic ban on eating meat on Friday because the rule was out of date.

He told a Saturday news conference he attended the meeting at Washington where U.S. Catholic bishops voted to lift the centuries-old law of abstinence for all Fridays except those in Lent.

Archbishop Cousins said it would still be extremely meritorious for Catholics to abstain from eating meat on Fridays and suggested other acts such as regular prayers.

He said the abolition of the rule of abstinence goes into effect in the Milwaukee archdiocese immediately inasmuch as dispensation had already been

Housewives Miss Point In Grocery Boycotts

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Will your boycotts of supermarkets from coast to coast, Mrs. America, succeed in forcing down food prices, over the long term?

No! Not unless you manage

Sylvia Porter

your drives better than you have been so far.

Despite widely publicized price slashes by some of the key supermarket targets of the boycotts, the evidence is strong that today's housewives' hulla-balloo will end up little more than a whisper. For one thing, the supermarket is just one link in the long chain of responsibility for food price rises. In the words of a spokesman for the National Association of Food Chains, "ours is a business of passing along price rises which we already have had to pay ourselves." Supermarket profits cannot on average be pared much thinner than they are without causing serious trouble in an industry basic to our nation's economic good health.

But another key reason why the boycotts almost surely will not succeed in cutting food prices more than temporarily is the mistakes made by those who have been spearheading the drives.

The leaders have failed to zero in on their targets or pinpoint their objectives sufficiently. Such slogans as "Down With High Prices" are simply too vague to have significant impact. Even with the expected slight decline in overall food prices in coming months, our average costs in 1966 will be up at least 5 per cent.

How, therefore, can you, the housewife, battle soaring food prices — and win?

Aside from the obvious ways to cut your own food costs, for instance, by shopping supermarket specials, by switching to less expensive foods and meat cuts, by buying bargain-priced foods in bulk and freezing them, etc., here are basic "Do's" and "Don'ts" for fighting increasing food costs.

Don't boycott whole stores. Instead, boycott individual food items in a given store. As an illustration, the nationwide price of picnic ham is 7.2 per cent above September 1965 but the price of round steak is unchanged from a year ago. The price of layer cake is up 6.9 per cent but the price of cookies is up less than half this percentage. Apples cost 20.6 per cent more this year than last but banana prices are down 8.1 per cent.

These sample price differences dramatize the leeway you have to make intelligent choices for savings in the supermarket.

And as Esther Peterson, the President's special assistant for consumer affairs, remarked in an interview, "Selective buying is the best form of price restraint we have ever had."

Switch Stores

Don't boycott whole chains of stores or all the supermarkets in a given city. If prices have jumped in one store, switch to another which offers lower prices. The average U. S. food shopper today has a selection of five supermarkets within convenient shopping range, in addition to discount stores which may offer 6-9 per cent savings.

Don't demand big across-the-board slashes in food prices which could force food stores out of business and boomerang dangerously by undermining jobs and paychecks the nation over. Press for elimination of "fringe" store services in return for real price reductions. What services are you honestly willing to do without? Check-cashing? Bag Boys? Late store hours? Food stamps and promotional games? Music? Baby sitting? Honestly, which ones?

Don't blame the supermarkets alone. Retail prices are based on prices charged by growers, wholesalers, transporters, processors, etc. — and a national economic policy too. Get the facts first on those who share the blame and aim your protests with precision.

In short, to fight to win, decide on your specific targets in food, in unnecessary extras and in the chain of responsibility — and then concentrate your fire within these areas.

Lions Upset Colts

By WHITEY SAWYER
DETROIT (AP) — Karl Sweetan moved the Detroit Lions, the defense stopped Baltimore, Pat Studstill broke a record and Coach Harry Gilmer got the game ball.

There's nothing like winning. The Lions' 20-14 National Football League victory over Baltimore Sunday showed it. The last time Detroit played Baltimore the Colts won 45-14. The last time the Lions played at Tiger Stadium Green Bay won 31-7, and the fans were singing farewell songs to Gilmer.

This time the team voted Gilmer the game ball. "which I appreciate very much," he said. "I think it was a joint effort by some of the older players."

"We voted the game ball to Gilmer," Alex Karras said. "He's been through all we've been through and more. He deserved it."

Garo Yepremian, the little rookie from Cyprus, kicked two field goals and that proved the margin. Karras recovered the fumble that led to one touchdown. Sweetan hit Studstill for a 49-yard scoring play and the defense picked off five Johnny Unitas' passes.

In Good Shape
Karras, who played a great defensive game, said, "The knees are in good shape again. We blitzed them a little more. We got out in front and could loosen up a little."

Wayne Walker, a linebacker who harried the Colts enormously, said, "I was trying hard. We've always been concerned about (Bobby) Thompson, giving some help to his side. Today we let Bobby play the best he could and it worked." Thompson intercepted two passes.

"I have it set up better now with Larry Hand, my defensive end. I'm getting used to how he plays," Walker added.

Late in the first period Tony Lorick fumbled and Karras recovered on the Baltimore 21. Sweetan hit Ron Kramer with a pass and the tight end got to the one. Bobby Felts scored on the next play and Yepremian converted.

Early in the third period Unitas threw to Lorick. Wayne Rasmussen hit him and the ball bounced into the air. Ernie Clark grabbed it for Detroit and got to the Baltimore 42.

Sweetan moved the Lions to the 14, most of the yardage coming on a 15-yard pass to Studstill. Yepremian kicked a 21-yard field goal.

Sends Cuozzo In
"The next time we got the ball, Unitas had another interception (his fifth) as Thompson snagged it and I decided to get him out of there and sent (Gary) Cuozzo, in," said Baltimore Coach Don Shula.

Still in the third period, the Lions started from their own 22 and scored in six plays, capped by Sweetan's throw to Studstill. The score was 17-0 and Detroit apparently had it on when Cuozzo went to work. He hit John Mackey with a swing pass and Mackey broke a half-dozen tackles and scored on a 64-yard play.

The Lions tried to give it away minutes later when John Robinson signaled for a fair catch of a punt on the 19, but fumbled and Baltimore recovered.

Lenny Moore ran to the seven, then scored and it was Detroit 17, Baltimore 13, with nine minutes left.

The Lions drove from their own 26 to the Baltimore 10 with Amos Marsh getting 27 yards on one run. On fourth down, Yepremian kicked a 23-yard field goal and it was Detroit 20, Baltimore 14.

The Colts started moving and fans had visions of the last-minute, one-point loss to San Francisco. But Wally Hilgenberg spilled Moore for a 14-yard loss and Larry Hand and Karras dropped Cuozzo for a seven-yard loss and Detroit had the ball on its own 43 and ran out the clock.

Shula denied that Unitas' arm was bothering him. "Some of the things that happened out there were not his fault," he said. "It was just not his day."

"We're playing better," said Gilmer. "Our defense has picked up tremendously."

Sub Goalie Lifts Canadiens Out of NHL Basement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Charley Hodge has been doing most of his goaltending from the end of the Montreal bench and it hasn't been the busiest spot in the National Hockey League lately.

But business picked up considerably for Hodge Sunday night. He replaced Gump Worsley in the nets for the slumping Canadiens and turned in a sparkling 40-save performance as Montreal nipped New York 2-1.

It was only the fourth start this season for the diminutive Hodge, but it was a big one. The victory ended a five-game Montreal losing streak and lifted the Canadiens out of the NHL cellar. It also halted a five-game unbeaten string for New York.

In other games Sunday night, Boston stretched its unbeaten string to five games and whacked Detroit 5-2 while Toronto rallied for a 2-2 tie against Chicago.

The scoring drive started with Ernie Kellermann's interception of a pass by Sonny Jurgenson on the Cleveland 23. The Browns scored in nine plays, Green catching Ryan's five-yard pass in the end zone.

The Redskins moved into field goal range twice in the second quarter, but Gogolak missed on both attempts — one from 27 yards out and the other from the 39.

Kelly's long touchdown run on a draw play came in the third quarter. The speedy Cleveland back wound up with 100 yards in 14 carriers.

Washington's offense was unable to get inside the Browns' 20 until the fourth quarter. The Browns stopped a Washington threat on the 14-yard line with 14 seconds to play.

A crowd of 78,466 saw the Browns win their seventh victory against three defeats. It was the sixth defeat for Washington in 11 games.

Kelly Scores on 56-Yard Run

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leroy Kelly raced 56 yards up the middle for a touchdown as the Cleveland Browns defeated the Washington Redskins 14-3 in a National Football League game Sunday.

Frank Ryan threw a five-yard scoring pass to Ernie Green for the Browns' other score.

The Redskins played control ball effectively, but were unable to score until Charlie Gogolak, the soccer style place-kicker, booted a 20-yard field goal in the third quarter.

The Browns got the ball only once in the first quarter but were able to capitalize on that one opportunity to take a seven-point lead.

Packers Top Bears, Take Undisputed Western Lead

Replaces Injured Bart Starr; Bays Post 13-6 Victory

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — They took a four off the scoreboard and put up a six at exactly 20 minutes after 3 at Lambeau Field Sunday afternoon.

It was a moment of double joy for the 50,861 spectators (minus several hundred Chicago fans) because the simultaneous change of figures meant the Packers had taken a 13-6 lead over the Bears and the Colts had been upset by the Lions in Detroit.

Removal of the four (for fourth quarter) showed the Lions' game was over and the 20-14 score was official . . . at the very same time Carroll Dale was crossing the goal line for six points with a 32-yard pass from Zeke Bratkowski.

Hard-Earned Win
Five minutes of bitter fighting later, the Packers emerged with a hard-earned victory over their traditional rivals . . . and they charged into sole possession of first place in the Western Division.

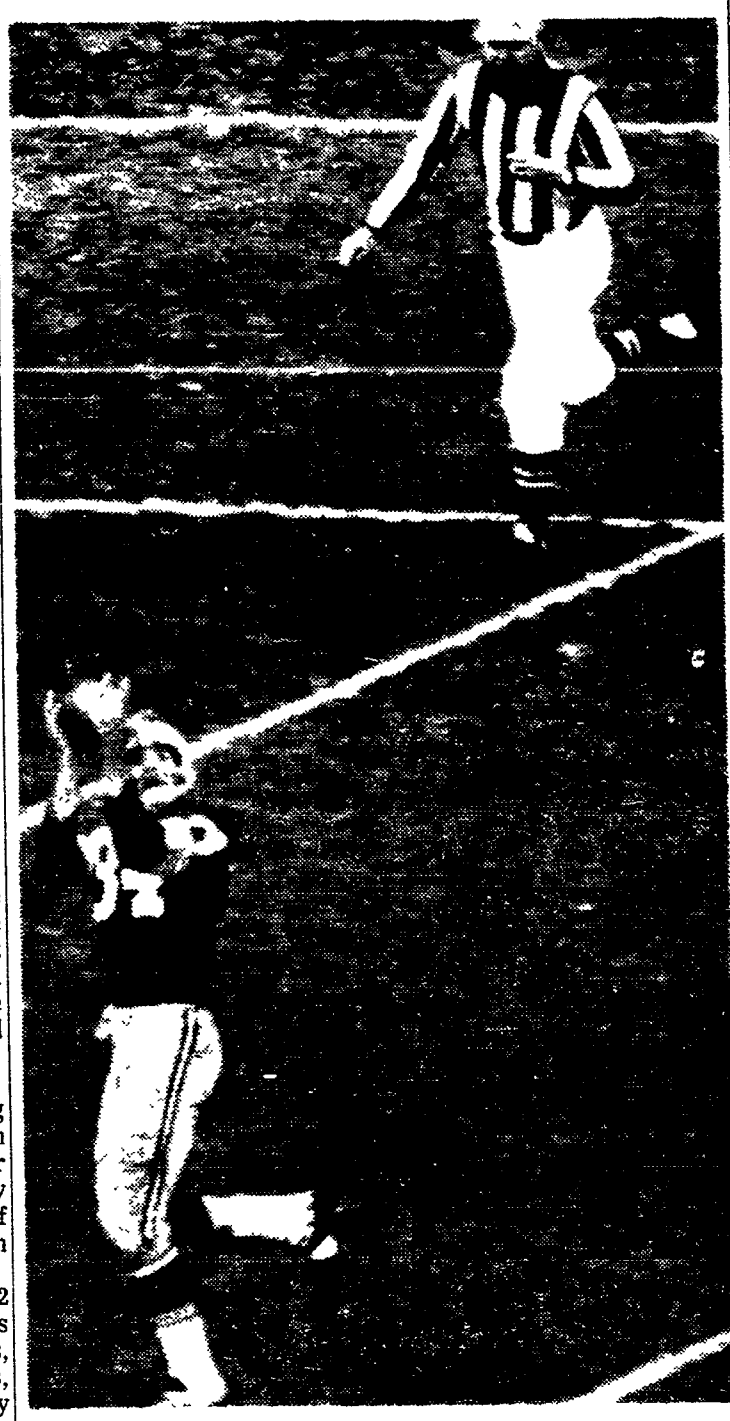

The Packers, with a 8-2 record, next take on the Vikings in Minnesota while the Colts, with 7-3, play host to the Rams, who gained third place by beating the Vikings Sunday.

The 96th Packer-Bear game was a brutal — and at times bizarre — struggle and it was in the laps of the two defenses except for the Packers' game-clinching, 63-yard touchdown drive midway in the fourth quarter.

The other two touchdowns were set up by the defenses. Lee Roy Caffey recovered a fumble on the Bear 18 in the second quarter and six plays later Bratkowski threw a 6-yard pass to Dale for a 7-0 lead. Early in the fourth quarter Rich Petitbon intercepted a Bratkowski pass and returned it 20 yards to the Packer 5. Three plays later, Gale Sayers ran wide for a 2-yard touchdown.

Both Fail
Ironically, the extra point kicks for the two fourth quarter TDs failed. Roger Leclerc,

Georgia Tech, Florida Get 'Orange' Bids

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It will be Florida and Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl football game here Jan. 2.

Undeclared Tech and the once-beaten Gators receive the bids today from the Orange Bowl Committee. "The teams involved should be obvious," Committee President John Ring told a news conference. For a week, the field had been narrowed to Tech-Gators and Alabama-Nebraska.

It was reported that third-ranked Alabama and fourth-ranked Nebraska preferred the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans. In the Orange Bowl a year ago, the Crimson Tide beat the Cornhuskers, 39-28.

Vince Applauds Performance of Zeke Bratkowski

Says Change in Bears' Defense Forced Packers to Throw More

BY LEE REMNEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "What do you mean, what was going through my mind when we blocked their extra point?"

A twinkle in his eye, Vince Lombardi jocularly echoed a reporter's question in the wake of Sunday afternoon's tinging tightrope past the Chicago Bears in Lambeau Field, then appended, "It looked like a tie game."

"I was surprised when we missed ours, too," he volunteered. "It could have been a 13-13 game then, of course, instead of 14-13."

Lombardi subsequently informed he had no ready explanation for the Packers' misadventure on a play which automatically is looked upon as automatic. "It could have been a poor hold, a bad snap, a low kick," Vince said, shrugging his shoulder. "It could have been any one of a million and one things."

Similar Evaluation
Bear Owner-Coach George Halas, holding forth down the hall, later delivered a similar evaluation of the conversion attempt blocked by the Pack's tornadic Lee Roy Caffey following the Bears' fourth quarter touchdown, which loomed large at that point.

"It could have been a good kick, it could have been a poor kick," the ever bland Bohemian observed. "I don't know."

Lombardi, who called it "a typical Bear-Pack game," applauded the performance of Zeke Bratkowski, summoned to replace the injured Bart Starr at the start of the second, on short notice. "I think Zeke deserves a great deal of credit," he said. "It's pretty hard to come in there when you haven't been playing much." He earlier had noted in this connection, "We got a little flustered in there — Zeke was a little slow in calling his plays, but he did all right." This last had reference to the Pack's three delay-of-game penalties, two of them collected during the Brat's tenure.

Starr, Lombardi reported, "pulled a hamstring muscle the first time he went back to throw — on the one he completed to Boyd Dowler."

Bart, it was noted, had been warming up along the sidelines late in the game. Could he have played, if needed? "I don't know," Vince replied after brief reflection. "There is some question about that."

The conversation turned to the defense, again superb. The Pack's prideful unit had blanked the Bears for more than seven consecutive quarters, including that 17-0 shutout in Chicago Oct. 16, one scribe pointed out.

Lombardi chuckled and "shot back," "We held 'em two games with one touchdown — that's what you mean, isn't it?"

Nodding his head for emphasis, he added, "they're two good defensive ball clubs, no doubt about it."

What had been done to shackle the Bruins' gifted Gale Sayers? "Just the same thing we did last time (when the Bays trying for a tie game (7-7) kicked behind the ball and the ball dribbled into the line. Don Chandler's kick, a low shot that might have gone over, was blocked.

This was one of those "Zeke to the rescue" games. Bratkowski, who came to the relief of Bart Starr for three crucial wins in the hectic 1965 championship season, replaced Starr at the start of the second quarter, pitched the two TD passes to Dale and guided the Packers to 247 of their 296 total yards.

Starr suffered a hamstring pull on his first pass of the game, went to the sidelines and told Zeke to start cranking up and then departed after three more series in the scoreless first quarter.

It was Zeke's game for the last three quarters and he had to adjust to combat in a hurry. This was his first early-in-the-game relief job of the season. Early in the fourth quarter Bratkowski was shaken up and Starr started warming up. But Zeke stayed in. Starr could have gone back in, but he couldn't run and he would have been a sitting duck.

The Bears were hell-bent on winning and they concentrated on getting to the quarterback. They threw up an 8-or 9-man line and at times seemed to red dog everybody. The offensive line and the backs (Jim Taylor and Elijah Pitts) did an excellent job of picking up the blitzes. The QB was nailed only once — when Zeke was caught for a 13-yard loss in the fourth quarter.

Open Invitation

It was an open invitation for the Packers to pass and they threw 31 for the day, with Bratkowski hitting 14 of 25 for 187 yards and Starr posting 3 for 5 for 53. This type of Bear defense shut off the Pack's ground game — to 69 yards and two first downs rushing, but their success in the air made up for it.

The Packer defense, intercepting three passes and recovering one fumble was superb in allowing the Bears a scattered, 160 yards. The talented Sayers picked up 69 yards, but the Bears' next-best rusher was Ronnie Bull who had 10.

The Bays even got a look at Bill Wade, who made his first appearance since the third game in 1965. Rudy Bukich, who had seven of 17 for the day, was replaced by Wade early in the third period and then returned to guide the Bears on their 5-yard TD "Drive."

Despite the low score, this was a real thriller — what with the tension throughout. The ball changed hands 11 times on punts, four times on interceptions and twice on fumbles. Both teams remained in various degrees of hot water when the officials called 18 penalties for 178 yards during the battle. The Bears were nicked 10 times for 85 yards; the Bears eight for 93. The Bears were caught for roughing the punter and the passer on successive plays in the second quarter and the Packers were charged three times for "too much time."

It was a wild afternoon... but how about the first two plays of the game?

On play No. 1, Taylor was sent up the middle but Bears stormed through and hurled Jim for a five-yard loss. On the second play, Starr threw the bomb (the Bays threw about six for the day) and dropped a beautiful throw into Boyd Dowler's arms 40 yards upfield.

Nothing happened as Chandler missed a field goal try from the 39.

The rest of the first period was un-moving. Chandler punted twice, Bobby Joe Green did it twice and Herb Adderley made a fine interception of a low throw to Dick Gordon.

The Packers launched a drive in the second quarter, which started with Taylor running for 16 and Bratkowski throwing to Dale for 11 yards. The drive stalled but Charley Bivins belted Chandler on the punt and the Bays had new life on the 50. On the next play, Bratkowski was roughed up, and the Pack had the ball on the 35.

Bratkowski threw to Pitts for 16 yards to the 19 but the Bays lost the ball on downs on the 10. Taylor hit for eight, but Pitts, on two carries, and Bratkowski on fourth down, couldn't get the two yards.

Caffey Recovers

Three plays later, Caffey recovered Bull's fumble on the Bear 18 and the Packers charged home. After a "delay" penalty, Zeke pitched 14 yards to Taylor on the eight, Pitts made 2, Taylor 1 and Dale six for the TD on the pass from Zeke. Dale jukeed Roosevelt Taylor and took the ball on the goal line.

Dale Robinson gave the Pack a break when he intercepted a pass in front of Mike Ditka on the 35 and returned six yards to the Bear 29. A holding penalty ruined the Bay advance, and Chandler was wide on a field goal from the 37.

Late in the third period, Bob Jeter intercepted a pass by Sayers on the Packer 39 and the Bays started moving. Zeke completed passes of 17 yards to Pitts, six to Taylor, nine to Dowler and 14 to Dale to the Bear 19 but Taylor fumbled and Dick Butkus recovered.

The defenses forced two punts by Green and one by Chandler after which the Bears got the Packers in a hole by hurling Zeke for a 13-yard loss, setting up Pettibon's interception and the Bear TD which produced a 7-6 score.

The Packers then went on their TD drive. With Taylor and Pitts running on first and second downs and Bratkowski completing passes of 16 yards to Dale and 15 to Mary Fleming on third downs, the Packers reached the Bear 18. A Packer holding penalty set the ball back on the 32 but Bratkowski then uncorked his scoring strike to Dale who jukeed Dave Whitsell on the 10, took the ball on the 5 and ran home untouched.

The Packer offense ran the clock down with six rushing plays for 16 yards and the defense did the rest.

Palmer Wins on 12-Foot Putt

Edges Dickinson By 1 Stroke in $110,000 Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — When the people root for a millionaire over an average guy, then the moneybags man must be something special.

Arnie Palmer is something special.

The personable, usually smiling golf pro had Arnie's Army rooting for him to win the $110,000 Houston Champions International Golf Tournament Sunday and he obliged by sinking a pressure-packed 12-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 18th hole to win a stroke over Gardner Dickinson Jr.

An estimated crowd of 30,000 swarmed over the beautiful grounds of the immaculately groomed 7,118-yard par 36-35 layout of the Champions Golf Club and most of the spectators tried to follow Palmer on a perfect, summery day.

The 37-year-old son of a golf pro from Latrobe, Pa., has had his army since 1960 when he scored eight victories including triumphs in the Masters and the U.S. Open.

Facial Expressions He amuses the fans with his quips, delights them with his facial expressions and hand gestures, tolerates their behavior and awes them with his tremendous drives and precision iron shots.

Palmer was sitting in the press room after his final round of 34-55—69 for 275, nine strokes under par, when Dickinson, a hungry-looking, 5-foot-11, 130-pounder who hadn't won a regular pro tournament since 1962, strode to the 18th needing a par

Dickinson, a 39-year-old Alabama native playing out of Lost Tree Village, Fla., got off a good drive on the 428-yard hole. He flubbed his second shot, however, sending it to the right. He chipped weakly and was short of the green on his third. Then he chipped boldly from about 30 feet out. The ball slid about three inches past the hole.

Dickinson, the co-leader at the halfway mark and leader by one stroke over Palmer after three rounds, finished with an even par 36-35—71 for 276, eight under par.

Billy Casper, winner of the U.S. Open and the PGA's Player of the Year, and Jack Nicklaus each finished with even par 284s. Casper with a final 72 and Nicklaus with a 74, good for a nine-

Bills Whip Oilers To Hike Eastern Lead in the AFL

Patriots, Chiefs Battle to 27-27 Tie; Jets Topple Miami, 30-13

By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

Art Graham, Otis Taylor and George Sauer displayed sizzling pass catching ability, but when it comes to plucking passes out of the air, you can't overlook Tom Janik.

Boston's Graham snared 11 passes and Kansas City's Otis Taylor grabbed nine as the Patriots and the Chiefs battled to a 27-27 tie in the American Football League Sunday.

Sauer pulled in eight passes, gaining the league lead in that department as the New York Jets whipped Miami 30-13.

Buffalo's Janik caught only two passes, but they were thrown by Houston's Don Trull, and the interceptions were key factors in the Bills' 42-20 triumph over the Oilers.

"Beautiful," was the one-word reaction of Buffalo Coach Joe Collier to Janik's job on Trull.

Sets Up Touchdown

The 26-year-old safetyman picked off his first pass in the second quarter, setting up a touchdown that put the Bills ahead 21-13. Minutes later he got in the way of another Trull serial and this time rambled 37 yards for a touchdown.

On the way to their respective dressing rooms after the game, Janik chatted with Trull and told the Oiler quarterback he got the ball the second time ahead of intended receiver Larry Elkins because he gambled on where Trull was going to throw it.

The gamble worked, and the Bills went on to increase their Eastern Division lead to one game over Boston.

Oakland slicked Kansas City's Western lead to 1 1/2 games by defeating Denver 17-3.

The Bills balanced Janik's outstanding defensive performance by rolling up 508 yards on offense. Jack Kemp passed for two touchdowns and ran for another while Daryle Lamonica also threw for two scores.

Graham, who hadn't scored a touchdown since 1964, tallied twice for Boston on two of the 11 passes he caught. Babe Parilli hit him on touchdown passes of 21 and 38 yards. Taylor also scored twice taking passes of 21 and 26 yards from Len Dawson.

The second one gave the Chiefs a 27-24 lead, but Gino Cappelletti's second field goal of the game, a 19-yarder with 24 seconds left, brought the Patriots a tie.

New York's Sauer didn't score any touchdowns, but the 144 yards he gained on his eight receptions put the Jets into scoring territory more than once. Emerson Boozer scored twice, the second time on a 96-yard run with the second-half kickoff.

Art Powell, another of the league's top receivers, caught only one pass for Oakland, but it was an 18-yard scoring toss from Tom Flores. The Raider quarterback also threw two yards to Larry Todd for a touchdown.

Duke Gridders Triumph Over North Carolina

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Quarterback Larry Davis scored one touchdown and passed for another as he teamed with fullback Jay Calabrese to lead Duke to a 41-25 football victory over North Carolina Saturday.

A capacity crowd of 46,000 saw Duke turn the game into a rout in the closing seconds by scoring twice on intercepted passes.

One came on a 26-yard run-back by Larry Dempsey. The other was a 47-yarder that began when Andy Beath intercepted quarterback Jeff Beaver's pass and lateraled to Don Brannon. He, in turn, lateraled to Bob Foyle who went the remaining distance.

Beaver threw 50 passes, an Atlantic Coast Conference record, completing 22.

Duke, mauled by Notre Dame 64-0 a week earlier, closed its season with a 5-5 record after winning its first three games. It was the seventh loss for North Carolina in nine games.

Rice Snaps Loss Streak, Triumphs Over TCU, 21-10

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Defensive tackle Harlon Dearing raced 23 yards with a blocked kick to put Rice ahead in the first quarter and the Owls went on to defeat Texas Christian 21-10 in a Southwest Conference football game Saturday.

The victory broke a seven-game losing streak for the Owls. Both teams are now 2-7 for the season. All the scoring occurred in the first half.

Rice was trailing 7-6 when TCU's Donnie Gibbs dropped back to punt and the kick was blocked by tackle Gene Auldridge. Dearing scooped it up and ran for the score.

The Owls' first touchdown also was the result of a break. TCU quarterback Larry Peel fumbled and Dearing again was the Rice man of the hour as he pounced on it at the TCU 28.

Robert Hailey, one of three Rice quarterbacks playing in the game, hit Glen Tine with a touchdown pass on the next play.

Bart Starr (15) is stopped after trying to run for a first down on a broken pass play in the first quarter of Sunday's game in Green Bay. Starr, who had been injured earlier, left the game after this

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — receiving end of a play good for nine yards and a score. He starred in Kezar Stadium for the undefeated Dons of the University of San Francisco, coached by Joe Kuharich.

Now in the twilight of a professional football career, the 36-year-old Matson provided what could be a final reminder of his prowess for San Francisco fans when he caught a fourth quarter pass Sunday which brought the Philadelphia Eagles a 35-34 comeback victory over the 49ers.

"We shook 'em up, didn't we," exclaimed Kuharich who now coaches the Eagles and had used his ex-college ace almost exclusively on punt and kickoff return teams this season.

In the 10 league games until Sunday, Ollie had carried only nine times for 21 yards and caught just one pass.

Then in the second period, starter Timmy Brown was kayoed by 49er linebacker Dave Wilcox and Matson took over for the rest of the game with the Eagles trailing 20-7.

He provided the big play on the first scoring drive of the second half with a 28-yard run starting an advance of 93 capped by a 15-yard pass from King Hill to Pete Retzlaff.

Still it was San Francisco 34 and the Eagles 21 going into the final stanza on a rainy afternoon. Then Jim Nettles picked off a John Brodie pass and ran 34 yards to score.

Catches Hill's Pass

Next Dave Kopyay fumbled and Randy Belsier recovered at the 49er 48. Ten plays later, Matson made a great leaping catch of Hill's pass from the four. Sam Baker booted the conversion and the Eagles had their sixth victory, the 49ers their fifth loss.

Matson rushed for 40 yards in six carries all told, but his 28-yard gainer was termed the turning point.

"We were stumbling until that play," said Kuharich. "That gave us impetus."

Said 49er coach Jack Christiansen, "I felt we gave the game away with our fumbles and interceptions."

San Francisco fumbled five times and lost the ball twice. Twice the Eagles picked off 49er passes.

Quarterback John Brodie hit 22 of 40 passes for 245 yards, two going for touchdowns. Fullback Ken Willard was on the

Colorado Tips Falcons, 10-9, On Late Kick

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Dick Hall's three field goals booted Air Force to a 9-0 lead before fumble-plagued Colorado put together a second quarter touchdown drive and rode to a 10-9 victory on John Farler's 34-yard field goal with 5:19 to play in their non-conference football game Saturday.

Colorado, finishing its regular season with a 7-3 record and second place in the Big Eight, hoped the sixth triumph in nine games with Air Force would bring a howl invitation, possibly Monday.

Air Force finished 4-6 for the campaign.

Hall's kicks were for 18, 28 and 32 yards.

Gossett's Kicking Brings LA Victory

Vikings Continue Slide, 21-6, As Field Goals Prove Nemesis

By BOB MYERS LOS ANGELES (AP) — Norman Van Brocklin, the seldom too solemn coach of the Minnesota Vikings, had a few suggestions in mind today relating to professional football.

One, a hard look at place kicking specialists, not counting his own, of course. Another, foreign kickers.

Norm's Vikings went down before the Los Angeles Rams Sunday, 21-6, and 12 of the enemy points came on four field goals by Bruce Gossett.

The week before the Dutchman's team saw a complete stranger from, of all football sources, Cyprus, by of all names Garo Yepremian, kick a National League record six for the Detroit Lions to win.

Any comment?

"Yes," said Norman, "they ought to tighten the immigration laws."

His own placekicker, Fred Cox, a good one, booted two for the team's six points. No one could recall immediately when a Van Brocklin team had been denied a touchdown.

Rain Starts

A crowd of 38,775 witnessed the game in Memorial Coliseum. Several thousand fled the place early, possibly because the Ram's 9-3 halftime lead involved field goal scoring and also because it began to rain late in the second period.

The third quarter was scoreless. The Rams finally scored a touchdown in the final period.

True, it was kind of freaky. Minnesota's Lance Rentzel fumbled a Jon Kilgore punt and Steve Heckard recovered for Los Angeles on the Vike's four.

Roman Gabriel blasted out one yard in two lunges. Then he rolled to the right, fumbled into the end zone and Billy Truax recovered for the touchdown.

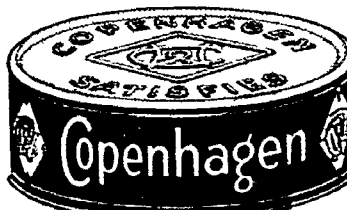

The Rams got two more points moments later when huge Rosey Grier pounced on the Vikings' scrambling quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, in the end zone, for a safety.

For the record, Gossett in his finest day booted 'em in from 48, his best; 42, 10 and 21. Cox scored from the 36 and 44.

limited the Kansas comet to 26 yards), Vince replied. "We just tried to contain him. . . He's a great football player, no question about it."

As per custom, he declined to mention individual members of the resistance, asserting, "It's hard to single out anybody on the defense when they all played so well."

Taking note of the fact that two recent casualties had returned to action during the course of the afternoon, Lombardi observed, "Long (Bob) played quite a bit, but I don't think Hornung (Paul) carried the ball at all, did he?"

The Bear defense had necessitated a change in approach, he also revealed. "They were using a lot of 9-man line in there," Vince informed, "which forced us to throw the ball a lot more than we like to throw it."

Asked to comment on the unusual number of penalties (nine) the Pack collected, he rejoined, "I never say anything, one way or the other, about the officiating."

Reverse Decision

Queried specifically about a third quarter pass which the men in stripes first ruled Dowler had caught in-bounds, then reversed their decision, Lombardi said, one official called it and the other called it out. Why it was decided to accept one call over the other, I don't know." He smiled blandly and added, "that's something to think about!"

Did he feel the 2-week layoff (occasioned by last weekend's bye) had affected his team? "I don't think it affected us one way or another. Personally, I consider a day off a nuisance. I think that if you have injuries, it's fine. But we had momentum — we had something going."

Speaking of momentum, how about that highly opportune Detroit upset of Baltimore's Colts? Lombardi's smile vanished and, ever cautious, he soberly reminded, "We've still got four games to play."

Unlike the Packer headmaster, Halas was not loath to discuss the officiating, which he obviously felt had damaged the midway monsters' chances.

Informed that a total of 17 infractions had been called, "Papa Bear" grimly declared, "that's what concerns me. It looks like instead of playing football, we're playing drop the handkerchief."

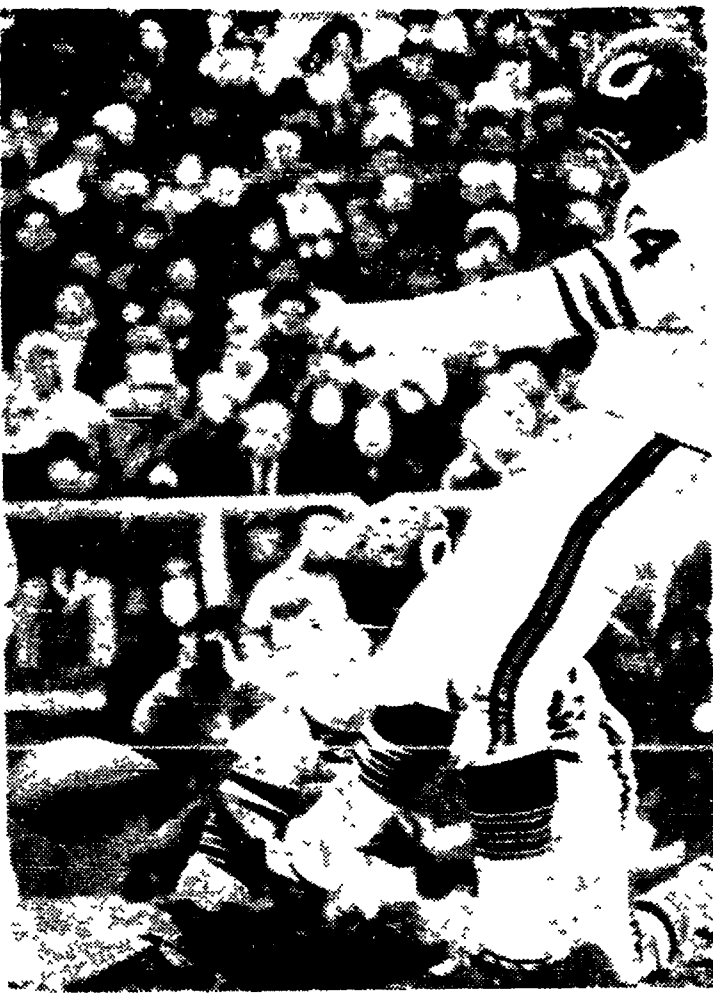

Analyzing the just completed imbroglio as a whole, Halas opined, "The Packers have a great defense and we have a great defense. Comparing defenses, it's a tossup." He did not, perhaps significantly, make reference to his offense.

The Packers again had effectively contained Gale Sayers, one scribe ventured. The pro football pioneer greeted this observation with a sardonic smile and rejoined, "I think he gained 68 yards — that's pretty good against the No. 1 defense in the league."

Had he changed his method of using the comet? Halas grinned, then replied, "That's a professional secret . . . we put in a few different little blocks."

Any explanation for that blocked extra point? "Evidently No. 60, Caffey, got in there pretty quick," he said dryly.

Asked why he had benched starting quarterback Rudy Bu-

Roger Leclerc Missed the extra point after the Chicago Bears' only touchdown against the Packers in Green Bay Sunday. Leclerc's foot apparently hit the dirt first (notice bottom of photo), and Lee Roy Caffey (not shown) was to block it. After the play the Packers retained a 1-point lead (7-6), and they went on to a 13-6 victory. (Post-Crescent News Service Photo)

Bob Lilly Leads Charge

Cowboy Defense Stops Pittsburgh Cold, 20-7

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "There was no question about it," said Bob Lilly. "We knew we had to win that game."

With that in mind, Lilly, Dallas' giant defensive tackle, led the charge on Pittsburgh quarterback Ron Smith Sunday, stopping the Steeler offensive attack cold and helping the Cowboys to a 20-7 National Football League victory.

The triumph gave Dallas a 7-2-1 record and a share of first place in the Eastern Conference with St. Louis and set up a showdown battle Thursday between Dallas and Cleveland, which beat Washington 14-3 for its seventh victory against three losses.

Dallas held Pittsburgh to just 53 yards on the ground and 110 yards passing while continually pressuring Smith with a vicious rush. Smith was caught 12 times while trying to pass, Lilly nailing him four times for losses and one time rushing so fiercely that the Steeler quarterback was called for intentional grounding that resulted in a 15-yard penalty.

Pittsburgh, which was trying to upset a contender for the third week in a row, was guilty of an unusual miscue which resulted in a Cowboy score in the first half.

Pittsburgh punter Frank Lambert dropped back to kick in the second quarter and, as the ball was snapped, Jim Butler, running onto the field to take his position, ran behind the center and the ball hit him, letting Dallas take over at the Steeler 35.

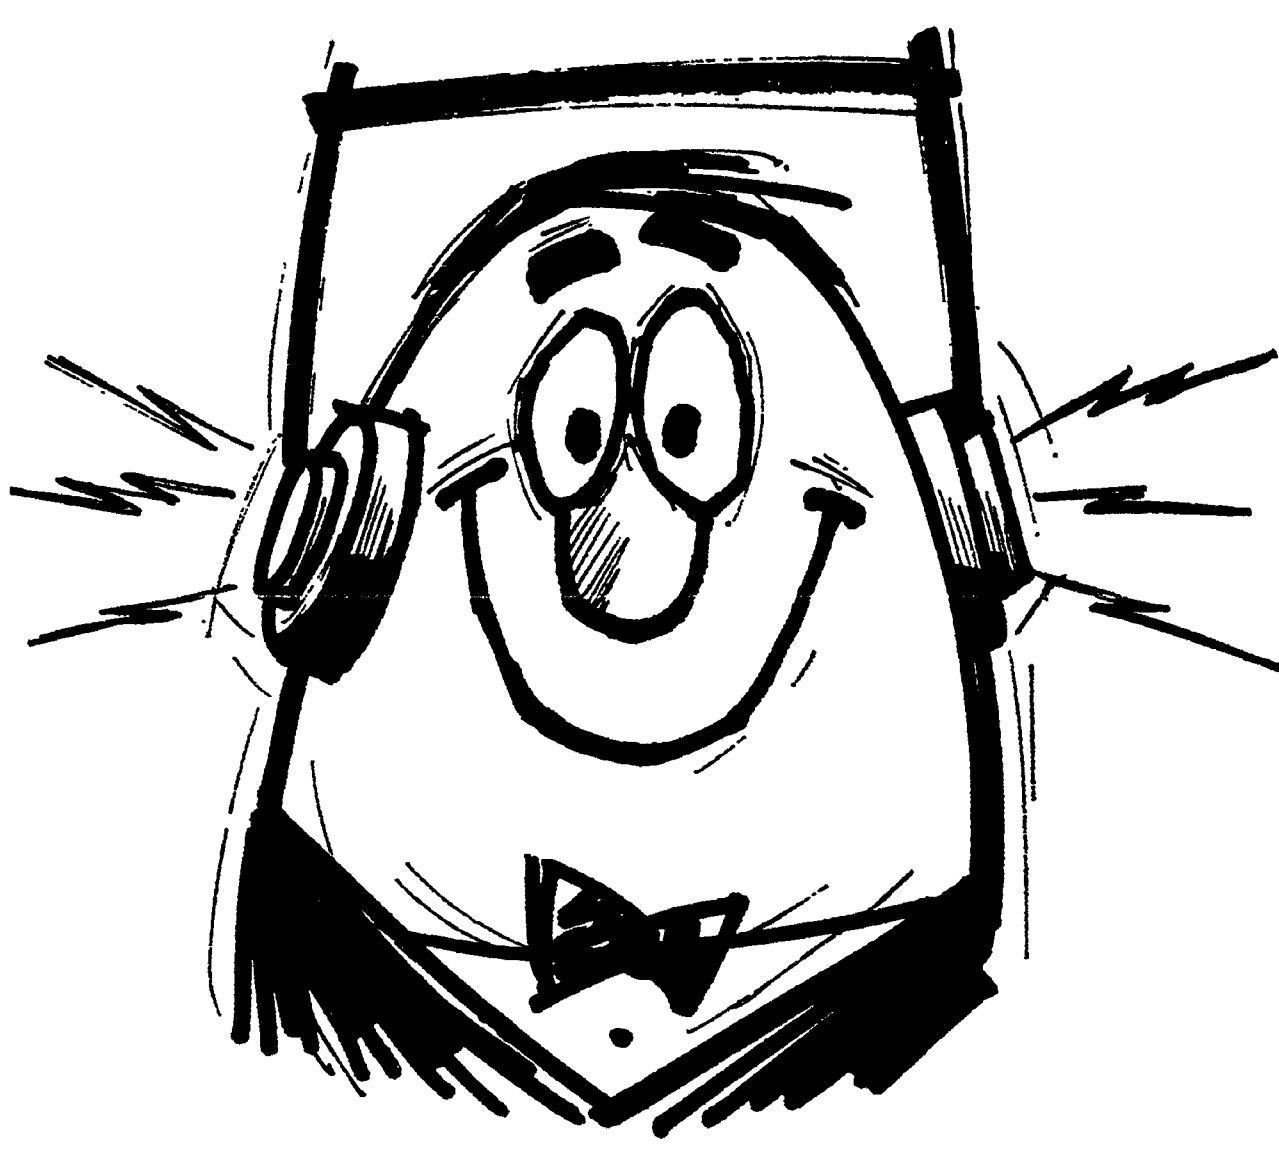

"Butler was getting his equipment worked on," said Pittsburgh Coach Bill Austin, explaining the play. "Lambert tried to call time but the official didn't see him."

Nine plays later, Meredith scored on a short jaunt while the Steelers had only 10 players on the field.

"It was a mix-up in signals," sion put Dallas ahead, 7-0. Minutes later, the Cowboys added another three-pointer by Villanueva from 27 yards out after Butler fumbled a lateral from quarterback Ron Smith on the Steeler 19. Pittsburgh came back with its longest sustained drive of the game, going 70 yards in 11 plays and scoring on an 11-yard touch-down pass from Smith to Bill Asbury. Smith pulled off a nifty untouched.

We're looking for a life insurance agent.

Some of our best agents used to be teachers, or electricians, or accountants. Some were students or lawyers. But they all had this in common: they were smart, and they knew how to work hard at what they were doing. More than that, they could meet a stranger, and after a short conversation that stranger would trust them. And respect them.

Not everyone can do that, but top-flight agents can. That's why top-flight agents make handsome incomes. If you're that kind of man, we can teach you a bright new approach to top earnings. I'm serious about it. Call me at 789-1044.

Or if you know an outstanding person, tell him to get in touch with Raymond N. Sauvey, C.L.U., General Agent, 345 East Wisconsin Avenue, Appleton, Wisconsin 54911.

Lesson in English

Words often misused: Although the noun "necessaries" is acceptable, it is generally considered better to use the noun "necessities."

Often mispronounced: Homogeneity (uniformity of substance). Pronounce hoe-moe-jehn-ee-a-tee, principal accent on fourth syllable.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: POTPOURRI; generally, any kind of mixture. Specifically, a jar of flower petals to scent a room. In music, a medley. In books, a collection. (Pronounce pot-poor-i, accent on second syllable).

Greece Subject of Next Northside Kiwanis Film

Ancient Ruins, Countryside, Villages, Modern Cities All Part of Travel Movie

Joe Adair, one of the youngest yet among the most experienced travelogue lecturers in the business, will be in Appleton Sunday night to narrate his movie in color "Grecian Panorama."

Joe Adair

The full length feature is one of the Travel and Adventure Film Series being sponsored by the Appleton Northside Kiwanis Club. It will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Appleton High School.

The pictorial story of Greece and the Greeks captures in color both the ancient and modern splendor of this bright and history-rich land. The scene shifts from vine to wine, from the views of Macedonia to Crete; the movie ranges from the great ancient Acropolis to modern metropolis. The skills of Greek craftsmen, the history, and the contrasts of quaint villages and 20th century cities all is included in "Grecian Panorama."

Scholarly Background
Photographer-lecturer Adair holds a master's degree in sociology and economics, but his education has scarcely been limited to the campus. He has followed the midnight sun across Iceland and thrived on raw fish and octopus in Japan. He has been made to feel equally at home living with Moslems in Kuwait, Hindus in India, and Kikuyus in Kenya. He lived for two years in Haile Selassie's mountainous realm of Ethiopia while serving with the Peace Corps; he has traced and retraced East Africa's grasslands to photograph her game at home.

Adair chose the travelogue profession because next to having experiences, he says he enjoys sharing them. This he does through his movies.

Angela Glows for Perry

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — Perry Como's Music Hall starts another season on a lovely note. Angela Lansbury, still glowing with her triumph in "Mame," breezes in to sing songs like "If He Walked into My Life" and "Wouldn't It Be Lovely?" Surrounded by Perry,

One of the Magnificent ruins still standing in Greece portrays the ancient side of the Mediterranean country. This is one of the scenes in the color movie "Grecian Panorama" being shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Appleton High School. Joe Adair, the man who took the movies during his travels will be on stage to narrate the film, third in the Travel and Adventure Series being sponsored by the Appleton Northside Kiwanis Club advantage of its flatcar setting for guests The Kingston Trio to sing railroad songs ("This Train") and to join their host with "Them Poems," a witty combination of "country" and "sophisticated" rhymes George Carlin is also around to poke fun at soap operas and queen-for-a-day type productions.

7:30-8 (Channels 2-7-12) — John Wayne, bless his heart, proves he is just as rough and tough as he appears in the movies on The Lucy Show. Lucille Ball, star struck as a middle-aged-teen-ager can be, invades the set of one of his films and hits everybody on the head who is unkind to her hero Wayne, like the wise old cowpoke, appears unaffected by her nonsense.

8-8:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Andy Griffith Show, in a pleasant episode, teaches Opie all about the birds and bees. The youngster, who has discovered a lost infant on a fishing trip, hears all about it from Andy, who is at his spitting best trying to describe what a husband and wife do when they get tired of bowling and fishing.

9-10 (Channels 11-6-9) — It's that time of year again for Victoria and Audra on The Big Valley. At least once a year they get kidnaped. This time, in a rather amusing episode, a trio of fumbling safe-crackers take them along for hostages after they steal a railroad depot safe. With the safe, they take the ladies to an abandoned mine where stunks, they can't pry the darn safe open. Audra is sent back to the depot to get the right combination.

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — Run For Your Life is in the lazy Caribbean for a rather energetic mystery. Kurt Kasznar is convinced Ben Gazzara has done away with a socialite pal. There are hints that the Mafia is mixed up in all this but much more prominent are some birds of paradise — Nancy Malone, Victoria Shaw and Joanna Moore.

Falcons Find Wings, Whip Giants, 27-16, For First NFL Win

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — It took the new-born Atlanta Falcons 10 games but they finally came of age as a football team Sunday at Yankee Stadium.

"We knew we were ready to beat somebody," said Randy Johnson, the rookie quarterback from Texas A & I who threw the three touchdown passes and scored once in a 27-16 victory over the hapless New York Giants.

"We became a team last week against Baltimore," said Norb Hecker, who left Green Bay as Vince Lombardi's assistant to take the head coaching job with the National Football League's expansion team. "After last week (a 19-7 defeat by Baltimore) we wanted this one real bad."

"My heart was pounding. What can you say? The boys really earned it. They worked hard. I'll have to remember what I wore."

Matter of Time

Hecker has been predicting week after week that his team would win the next one. After nine wrong picks he finally came up roses.

Asked about next week's game with the Chicago Bears, Hecker said, "We're going to win it."

Ernie Wheelwright, disappointed when the Giants let him go to Atlanta in the expansion draft last winter, scored two touchdowns on Johnson passes of nine and six yards.

"There were other backs that should have gone before me," Wheelwright said in the Atlanta dressing room. "Yeah, I was kind of anticipating this game all year. I really wanted to show the Giants. I didn't need anybody to ride me. I have a lot of pride and I do my best. The Giants were always on my back."

Wheelwright said he came to camp weighing 255 pounds and was told to reduce by coach Hecker. He played Sunday at 229 pounds. In addition to his two TD catches he ran 14 times for 51 yards.

Coffey Rambles

Junior Coffey, a former Green Bay back who came in the same expansion draft, carried 16 times for 64 yards.

"I was glad to go to Atlanta," said Coffey. "It meant I was going to play. A running back can't last too long and I didn't want to wait behind the others at Green Bay."

Johnson, a bonus pick of the Falcons last fall, completed 15 of 25 for 177 yards and the three TDs. He was intercepted once.

"We finally put it all together," he said. "We thought last week we really became a team."

Allie Sherman, Giant coach who was serenaded by the "Good Bye Allie" chants from disappointed fans among the 62,746 at the Stadium, praised Johnson's passing.

"He really has come a long way," said Sherman, whose Giants beat Atlanta 14-7 in an exhibition game last August.

Sherman switched from starter Gary Wood to Tom Kennedy, formerly of the Brooklyn Dodgers, as his quarterback in the second period. Kennedy completed 18 of 29 for 188 yards and one TD. However, Sherman said he had not made up his mind whether to start Wood or Kennedy next week in Washington.

Morrison Scores Twice

Joe Morrison, switched from flanker to halfback in Sherman's personnel shuffle, led the runners with 91 yards on 17 carries and scored both TDs on a Kennedy pass and a 12-yard run.

The defeated dropped the Giants close to the cellar at 1-9, compared to Atlanta's 1-9, in the Eastern Conference.

Morrison, switched from flanker to halfback in a Giant shuffle, burst through the middle for 12 yards and a Giant touchdown in the final period. It was the first score by the Giants on a rushing play this season.

In the final minutes, Hecker, a former assistant to Vince Lombardi at Green Bay, used another ex-Packer, quarterback Denny Clardige.

The Falcons' only previous win was over San Francisco in an exhibition game.

Dale Says He Used 3 Moves to Score His Second Touchdown

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Laconic Carroll Dale, who had just chosen a highly opportune moment for his first 2-touchdown performances as a Packer, and his colleagues scuttled the Chicago Bears with one of their own weapons in Sunday's Lambeau Field brawl, it develops.

The ex-Los Angeles Ram, whose second and fourth quarter TD's turned the tide in this 96th collision with the Bruins, confided, "that first one was what we call a Dooley-ove. It's named after Jim Dooley (current Bear defense coach), who used to run that play quite a bit for the Bears."

"It's a nice little pass," Dale said, adding, "I did a little different maneuver on this one than I normally do because the defensive back wouldn't let me go where I wanted to."

His second touchdown, which came on a 33-yard pass from Zeke Bratkowski, developed "after Zeke and I discussed the play in the huddle. We discussed it some time before we actually ran it."

"They both were a multiple-move type of thing. It takes time to maneuver, and it takes protection... on that second one, I faked out, went in, and then faked out again. It was three moves, but you might use as many as four moves on the play."

Reminded that this was the fifth victory he had presided at in the last two seasons as the Pack's backup quarterback, the author of those two bombs observed, "I'm happy that I've been able to help the team as a whole."

"I try to stay as ready as I can every week," Bratkowski continued. "Bart and I study the game plan together every week so, if something happened, it won't be too big a change."

He was at a loss to explain the two delay-of-game penalties the Pack collected during his stint. "I don't know what it was," he said soberly. "I guess I was just slow calling the plays in the huddle."

Bratkowski said he had gone to the air more often than he had intended to because "they were pulling more people in there to try to stop our running. In a case like that, you've got to try to pick up the blitz and throw the ball, because it puts don't know who hit Bull (Ron) on that one (it was Lionel Aldridge). Somebody made a tremendous tackle and the ball back to go, and as I turned just spurred out of his arms. I was playing middle linebacker there."

At the time — Ray Nitschke, Over in the Bears' somber and almost deserted quarters, towering Doug Atkins grumbled, "It's too bad we couldn't give 'em more of a struggle. They didn't have too much to beat today."

We're going to play Northwestern for the city championship next week," he added cynically: "since the Cardinals moved out."

Shrugging off the Bears' penalty problems, the disgruntled defensive end concluded, "We've been doing the same thing all year, so it doesn't make much difference."

Bob Jeter, who spared the Packers embarrassment by wavlaying a third quarter pass intended for the Bruins' Mike Ditka on the Green Bay 39, confided with a wide grin, "I make much difference."

Harvest Higher Than in '65

Deer Hunters Take Advantage of Snow

MADISON (AP)— Snow came down early Sunday in most of Wisconsin's deer ranges and hunters, out for the second day of the state's season, took good advantage of the change in weather, the Conservation Department reported Sunday night.

It said all five conservation area headquarters reported preliminary deer registration figures were substantially higher than those of the 1965 season.

The gain by areas ranged from 17 per cent in the west central to 39 per cent in the east central. In some cases, the jump was recorded despite a decline in hunting pressure.

Deer registered at 21 sample stations in the northwestern area were up 24 per cent.

Gains also were registered in the south where about 2,500 animals were checked in by Sunday night. The department said Columbia and Sauk counties registered about twice as many deer as in 1965 while Grant, Crawford and Richland counties were up 60 per cent.

The snow ranged from none in the far south and in Douglas County to six inches in Forest County. Temperatures were in the 30s most of the day. The snow melted a good deal in the afternoon but the added moisture made for quiet walking in the woods.

The department said wardens made 316 arrests and picked up 181 illegally-taken deer.

'Big O' Hero As Royals Nip Baltimore

CINCINNATI (AP) — When the Cincinnati Royals need to get a job done they call on Oscar Robertson.

With 25 seconds remaining in their National Basketball Association game with the Baltimore Bullets Sunday night and the score tied at 123, the Royals called a time out to get up a play for the Big O.

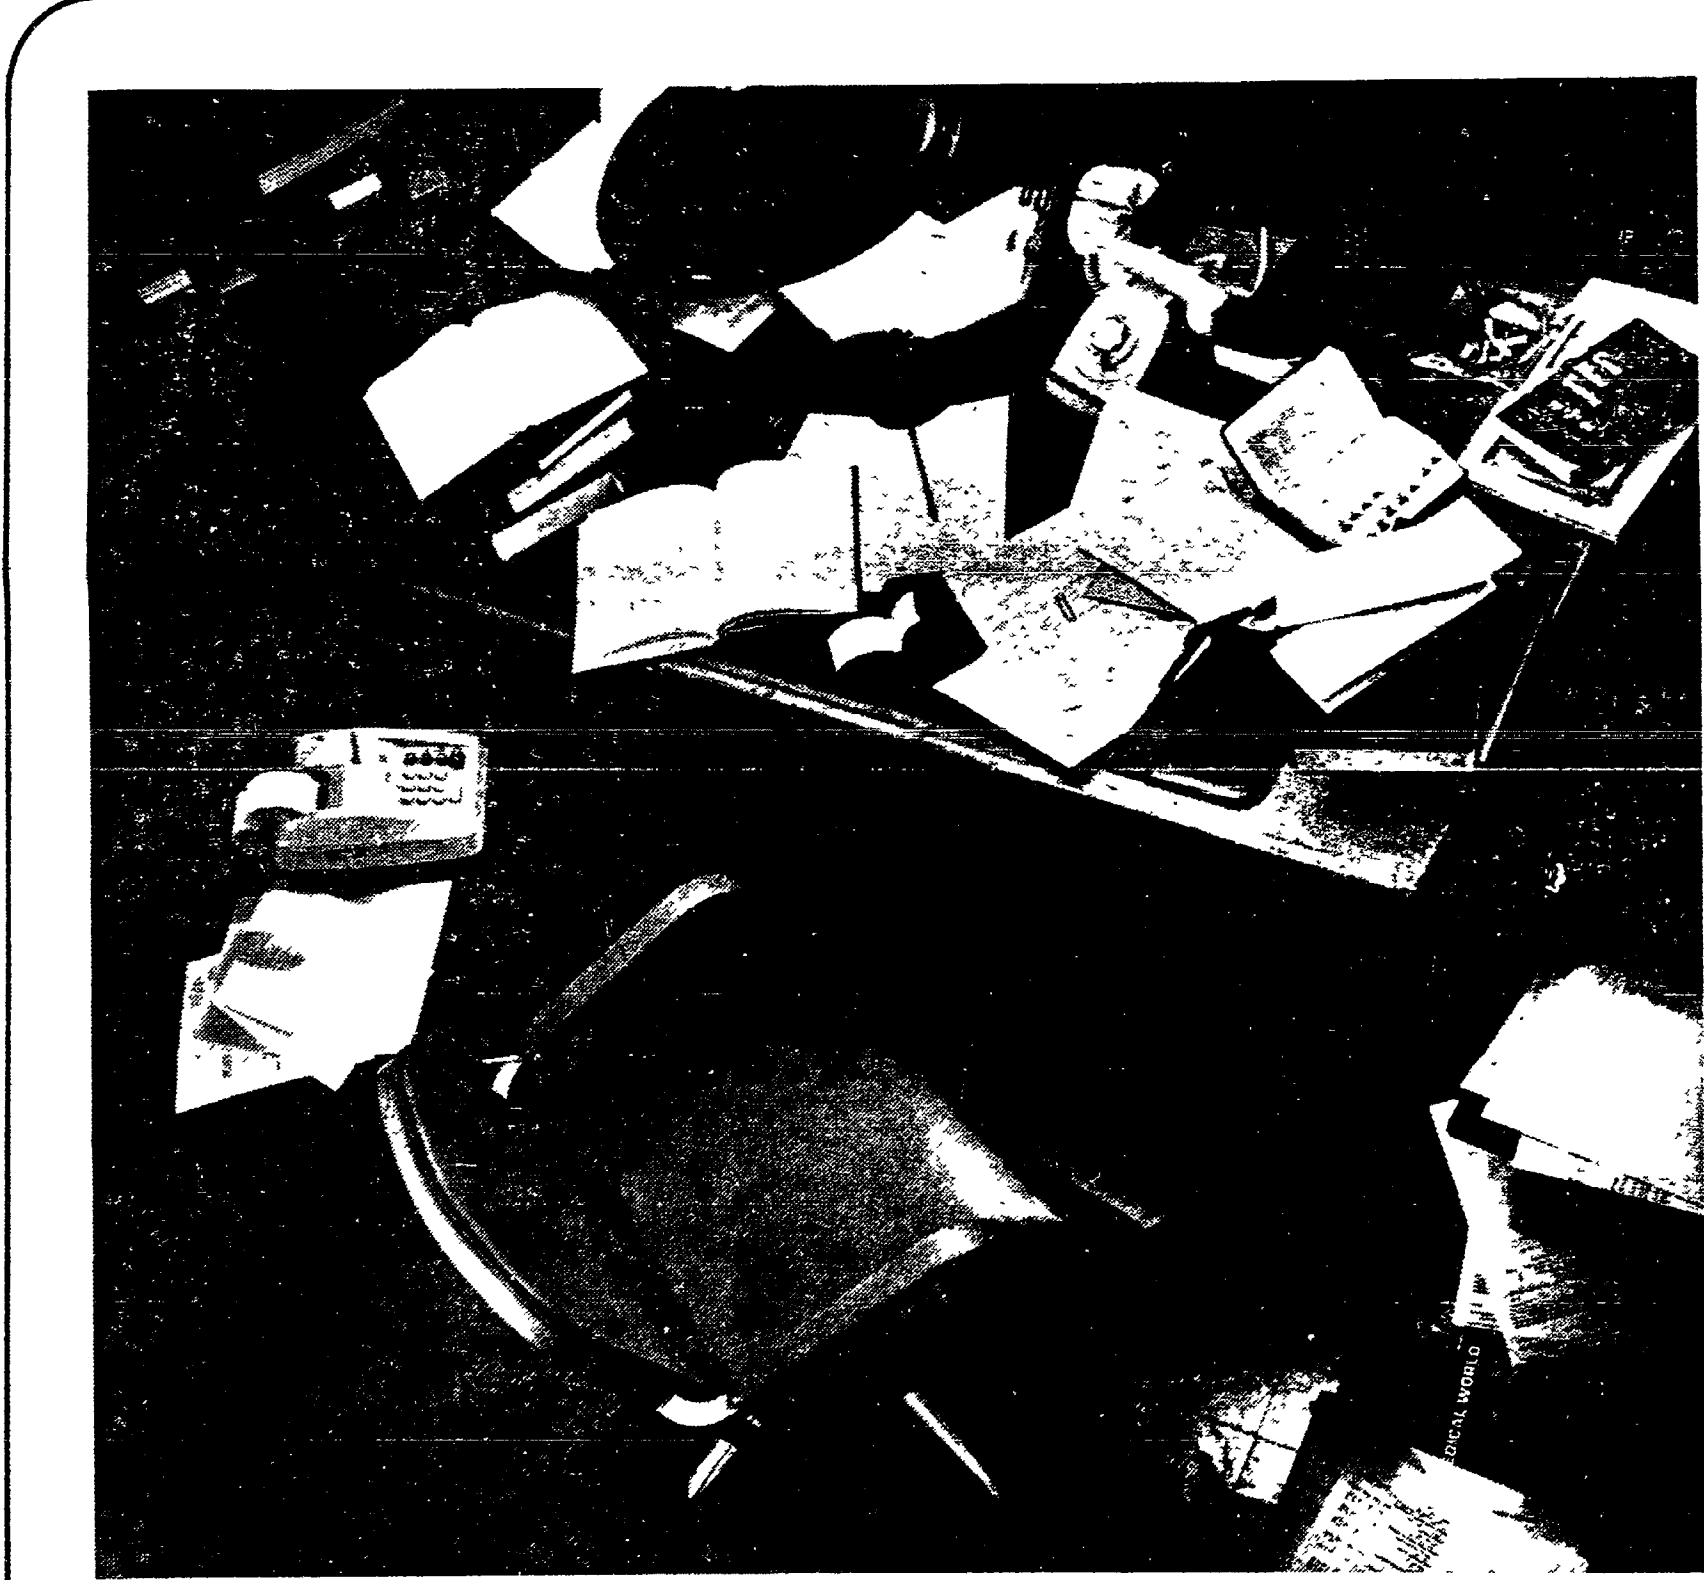

It worked. Robertson pushed in a short jump shot to give the Royals a 125-123 victory, snapping a three-game losing streak. It was the only game in the NBA Sunday night.

Robertson topped all scorers with 40 points.

Bountiful Board With Focus On the Trimmings

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

Foods to make the day a beautiful success include the mince pie below, bread and bread sticks made of peanuts, a trayful of vegetables and delicious wild rice fruit cups encircling the big bird.

Cranberry-Grapefruit salad in a gelatin ring is centered with salad greens to make a picture-pretty dish to match the holiday mood.

A bountiful table laden with good things to eat can be accomplished with ease. It takes a little planning. This year, for a change, emphasis is not on the turkey (which can be purchased frozen, plump and big, trim and small, in superb roast form, by the half or even stuffed or unstuffed) but on those exciting trimmings.

For a picture-pretty platter when the handsome bird comes to the table prepare an unusual garnish. One that's both hot and delicious, that really harks back to the first Thanksgiving in Plimoth Town in 1621, is wild rice served in orange cups. Of course, the Pilgrims didn't have orange cups filled with the succulent rice they found, but this modern version of a traditional food is a delightful one. If wild rice is too rich for the budget, choose brown rice . . . the kind that's more nutritious than the polished white.

Then, for a new treatment, serve a variety of vegetables . . . parsleyed potatoes . . . beets . . . golden cooked carrot slices . . . green limas and succulent asparagus. Place them on a big tray so diners can make a choice. Plunk a generous serving of sour cream in the center of the dish or in an extra serving dish. This is delicious and easy.

Hot breads, freshly baked and fragrant, always help make Thanksgiving dinner a success. Two recipes today feature Peanut Corn Sticks in traditional form and also thick slices of Peanut Banana Bread. The bread makes an excellent addition to the "pick-up" supper later in the evening, so it's best to make several batches if a crowd is on hand for the family get-together.

A light touch, but a nutritious one, is the low-calorie salad that's a shimmering ruby circle of gelatin filled with greens. As a perfect ending, the Holiday Mince Pie can't be equalled. This one is an old-fashioned pie with a glamorous filbert crumb topping. The delicate flavor and crisp texture of the nuts makes a wonderful combination with the spicy mincemeat filling.

So here's to a Bountiful and Happy Holiday:

Scientists Should Eye This Hand
BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Scientists tell us that bad bridge is neither contagious nor inherited. Since they don't say anything about brilliant bridge, they may be studying the case of young Jim Kauder, son of Arnold Kauder and the present Mary Jane Farell.
The youthful Jim Kauder met the hand shown today in the 1986 Eastern Regional Pair Championship, which he won. His problem on this hand was to make four spades. Other players who held the same cards had not trouble losing two hearts and two clubs.

Kauder ruffed the third round of hearts with the seven of spades and led out three high trumps. Then he left one trump out while he turned his attention to the minor suits.
First, declarer cashed the king of diamonds. Then he led out the ace and king of clubs. This would be perfectly safe if the five missing clubs broke 3-2. If this turned out to be the case, Kauder intended to draw the last trump and give up one club.
Bad Break
As it happened, the clubs broke badly. East thought hard about the second round of clubs, and then he discarded a diamond.
Since East had failed to follow suit to hearts and clubs, it was clear that his remaining cards were one trump and four diamonds.
Jim Kauder therefore led the deuce of spades, which he had saved just in case East tried to escape by saving the three of spades. East had to win the trick and had to return a diamond. This gave dummy two diamond tricks, while Kauder discarded his two losing clubs.
What will the scientists say about this hand?
Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next layer passes. You hold: S 8 5 H 9 7 3 D A J 6 4 C 7 5 4 2. What do you say?
Answer: Pass. You have only 5 points, and should count nothing for distribution since you have no support for partner's suit. If this hand is good enough to make a game, your partner should have opened with a forcing bid.

Readers' Replies to Letter From 'Wall Street Warrior' Vary

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Wall Street Warrior" was an eye-opener. I am glad to know there is at least one man in the world who is too tired for sex.

I'm 53. My first husband died when he was 50 and I think I know what killed him. My second husband was also after me night and day. I had to divorce him to get some rest. Two years later I married a man 62 thinking I'd be out of danger. He's the worst of the lot.

Your column is a post-graduate course in living. Thank you for it. — Gemini

Dear Ann: What a rotten trick you pulled on every love-starved wife in America. I wonder if you know how much trouble you cause. My Lochinvar has been giving me the old routine "I'm dead tired beating my brains out making a living for you and the kids — bla bla bla." I've been saying it is not normal for a man 38 years old to be too tired for love no matter how hard he works at his job. Then you come along with your lousy column and take his side. He has talked of nothing else for two days. Why don't you retire? — Mad

DEAR ANN: I wish I could trade places with Wall Street Warrior's wife. She doesn't know how lucky she is. My husband thinks sex is the answer to everything — tension, sleeplessness, worry, headache. Where he got this crazy idea I'll never know but it has been the bane of my existence for 15 years. I wonder if I'm the only woman in the world who is married to such a nut. Ask around, will you? — Paducah Shimmy Queen

Dear Ann: Please tell "Warrior" he is an ignorant boob. When will men learn that sex and love are not the same thing? A simple, "I love you," a warm caress, or a sweet kiss on the cheek would keep most hard-working, floor-scrubbing, baby-tending wives happy for a week. In fact, a little affection without sex as the objective, would be darned welcome. Women get tired, & o, you know. — Madeline

Dear Ann: "Warrior" had a lot to say about women, most of it rubbish. Funny how some men can be so smart when it comes to business and so stupid when it comes to the female psyche. Warrior complained because his wife's timing was poor. He resented her bringing up money matters when he was in an amorous mood.

Even the dumbest wife knows that the only way to get anything extra out of a husband is to nail him when he feels romantic. Any wife who tries to get a new vacuum sweeper, or a new rug out of the old man by explaining that she needs one is out of her mind. — Been There And Back

Dear Ann: Why don't men wise up? The reason women attach so much importance to sex is because it's the only method of communication open to us. Men don't talk anymore. They turn on the TV, or bury their noses in the newspaper, or just fall asleep. The only way a wife can win the battle for her husband's attention is to use her strongest weapon. — Chickadee

Dear Ann Landers: Where do all the tired men come from? When I was single I never ran into a man who was too tired for anything. What is there about the marriage ceremony that creates such exhaustion? If you know will you please let me in on it? — Lollypop

Dear Lollypop and Readers: Tomorrow I will let you all in on plenty. I'm going to print what I regard as the best reply to the Wall Street Warriors. See you here. — Ann Landers

Women Voters Leagues Plan District Parley

League of Women Voters units from throughout the Fox Valley will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Holiday Inn to plan programs at the state level.

Represented will be Leagues from Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Green Bay-De Pere and Oshkosh. Members may recommend study items and changes in Continuing Responsibilities. Suggestions will be made by individuals, not committees or local boards.

After proposals have been debated advisory votes will be taken. These will be presented to local boards for possible consideration at the League of Women Voters state convention in May.

Have Charge
Mrs. Arch Hoffman, Appleton League president, will have charge of the meeting and Mrs. E. O. Woerner, Neenah, will be parliamentarian. Mrs. Donald Herlache, Oshkosh president, will serve as secretary and Mrs. W. J. Huelskamp, Green Bay-De Pere president, timekeeper. Mrs. Harold Schneider, Appleton, will handle arrangements. Representing Neenah-Menasha will be Mrs. E. R. Beaman, president, and Mrs. William Towne, chairman.

Boxes for Servicemen in Viet Nam are being prepared by the Senior Girls Advisory 209 of Xavier High School. The students will send candy and cookies, to be packed in vacuum tins; bubble gum for the soldiers to give Vietnamese children, and seasonings such as catsup and mustard. Those who wish to donate toward postage may contact Dortha Vogel, chairman of the project, or Sister Mary Kathleen, advisor. Above, involved in a baking session, are Miss Vogel and Virginia Schueler. Festive Food for Thanksgiving Day

PECAN BROWN RICE CUPS

4 cups chicken broth
2 cups brown rice
¼ cup butter
1½ cups chopped pecans
¼ cup dried chives
2 teaspoons salt
10 oranges

Heat chicken broth to boiling; add rice; cover and cook over low heat 25 minutes. Stir in butter, pecans, chives and salt. Serve in orange shells in which fruit has been removed. Use as garnish for turkey platter. Recipe makes 10 cups.

PEANUT CORN STICKS

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
½ cup chopped cocktail peanuts
1 package (12-ounces) corn muffin mix, prepared as directed

In a small skillet melt butter or margarine over low heat. Add onion, green pepper and pimiento; saute lightly until onion is golden (about 5 minutes). Set aside.

Add cocktail peanuts and sauteed mixture to prepared corn muffin batter. Fill well greased corn stick pans two-thirds full of batter. Bake in 425-degree about 15 minutes, or until golden or pour into a greased 8-inch square pan and bake in 400-degree oven about 25 minutes, or until done. Recipe makes about 14 corn sticks or one 8-inch square cornbread.

PEANUT BANANA BREAD

2½ cups unsifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon white vinegar
½ cup margarine or butter
1 cup dark firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup mashed ripe bananas

¾ cup chopped peanuts (cocktail)

Sift together flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt. Combine milk and vinegar; set aside.

In a large mixer bowl cream butter or margarine. Gradually beat in dark brown sugar until thoroughly blended. Add eggs and mashed bananas and beat until smooth and light.

Mix in sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk mixture. Stir in ½ cup cocktail peanuts.

Pour batter into a lightly greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Sprinkle with remaining peanuts.

Bake in 350-degree oven 70 minutes, or until done. Allow to cool about 30 minutes before removing from pan. Recipe makes one loaf.

VEGETABLE BUFFET PLATE

4 medium beets
16 small potatoes
4 large carrots
1½ cups shredded limas
1½ cups cooked asparagus
¾ lb. butter, melted
2 sprigs parsley (chopped fine)
Sour cream

Wash and boil beets and potatoes in jackets, peel and boil carrots (all in lightly salted water) until done. Shell and cook limas until tender. Peel beets and potatoes; slice carrots and beets.

Arrange each vegetable attractively (and separately) in sectioned platter. Pour melted butter generously over each, sprinkle potatoes with chopped parsley. Serve warm with sour cream (or favorite sauce) in side dish and on top of asparagus. Recipe makes about four servings.

of the juice to a boil; add to softened gelatin, stirring, to dissolve. Blend in remaining cranberry juice and sweetener. Chill until thick and syrupy.

Spoon some of the gelatin into a lightly-oiled 1½-quart ring mold. Place grapefruit sections in mold; then carefully pour remaining thickened gelatin into mold. Chill until set. Unmold onto bed of greens to serve.

HOLIDAY MINCE PIE

½ teaspoon salt
½ cup solid all-vegetable shortening
3 tablespoons water
2½ cups prepared mince meat
2 tablespoons firmly-packed brown sugar
¼ cup chopped toasted filberts
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine flour and salt in bowl. Cut in shortening until uniform but coarse. Reserve third-cup of this mixture; set aside. Sprinkle mixture in bowl with water; toss with fork. Press into ball.

On lightly floured surface, roll out crust 1½ inches larger than inverted nine-inch pie plate. Fit into plate and trim ½ inch beyond edge of pie plate; fold under to make a double thickness around edge. Flute edge. Add mince meat. Mix reserved flour mixture with brown sugar, filberts and cinnamon; sprinkle over mince meat. Bake in 400-degree oven 45 minutes, or until crust is browned. Serve warm or cold.

To toast filberts: Spread in shallow pan and bake in 400-degree oven 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

The Swinging Set

The L. A. Scene

BY SYLVIE REICE

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — There's probably no place in the U.S. that has a greater halo of glamor about it than Hollywood. When I was very young I used to imagine (like immigrants coming to America) that Hollywood streets were paved with gold. I saw them in my mind's eye, glittery and unreal as a starlet's golden tresses. Years later, when I made my first visit to the film city, disappointment rose in me equal to my excitement. I remember standing on a Hollywood street at high noon — deserted — (people don't walk in California); the sun beat hotly down; the scene was the same moxie of gas stations, drugstores, drive-ins and frame houses as anywhere in the U.S.A. I realized that Hollywood was a small town.

On later visits, and especially this one, I began to perceive the complex structure of Hollywood and Los Angeles of which it is a part. Hollywood is still a small town, with lazy little residential streets lined with palms instead of maples, the typical shopping section, but it is also . . .

What It Is
Hollywood Boulevard where gold stars (brass, really) are paved into the avenue, each engraved with a great star's name . . . Wig shops everywhere with teens window-shopping, buying . . . The Sunset Strip, garish at night, with one night spot after the other. Teens on the Strip are very far out, a Beatniky set here, the boys with bell-bottomed pants, high high boots, long, long hair, trying hard to look different, and sometimes you can't tell them from the girls . . . And the girls, with the regulation surfer blond long hair, straight straight, still wearing sleeveless tank tops with pants, shoulder bags that seem to weigh them down. And short, short skirts everywhere . . .

Then there's M'Goo's (I fell in love with M'Goo's) where the teens look different, more conventional. They crowd into the pizza parlor, and on Fridays and Saturdays the line stretches around the block. There's sawdust on the floor, little round tables and a high stage with a piano. M'Goo's furnishes a Sing Along Sheet so its young customers can sing with the piano player.

Wistful Menu
On the menus are fanciful like Pizza Alla Romeo and Juliet, Lyndon B. Johnson Pizza (Bell Peppers, Cheese, Tomato Sauce, Olive Oil), remarks like: "Stamp Out Home Cooking," and "Famous M'Goo Meatballs — Like Mother Tried To Make." Biggest fun is the mythical M'Goo for Governor Campaign with a printed handbill that promises, "If elected I shall pass the Teen-A-Care Bill providing Care, Consideration and Understanding for all teen-agers; 2) Lower the voting age to 16; 3) Put a Pizza in every Pot; 4) Install a 3-day school week, 2 months school, 10 months vacation; 5) Have a teen lobby in Sacramento and Washington; 6) Reduce auto insurance rates 50 per cent for all teens." . . .

At Hollywood High, the teens look like teens everywhere, only more so, which is what you can always say about California teens in general. Hair longer, straighter, blonder; girls prettier, peachier, creamier. And everybody dressed on so casual . . . With temperatures in the nineties, the beaches are still surfer-covered. Bikinis are the uniform, skimpier than ever and somehow sexy. On the beach — two-piece suits have their own matching coats; kerchiefs, floppy hats, denim CPO jackets, nylon parkas, the Western jeans look . . .

Shop Spots
Clogged highways . . . more teens in more cars than anywhere else — it's a car culture here . . . Offbeat names for shops: The Undie World (lingerie, naturally); Le Curl Beauty Shop, Litter Palace Antiques, Propinquity (Boutique); Safari-land (all fur items) . . . Teen night clubs; The Hullabaloo Club, It's Boss, The Trip, Cinamon Cider . . . Barefoot teens on Los Angeles and Hollywood streets . . . Make-up played down except for eyes. Culture on the rise in L.A. At the impressive Los Angeles Art

Promises Exchanged

NEENAH — Miss Judith A. Rudolf became the bride of Sherman L. Stratton in a Nov. 5 double ring ceremony at Durham, N.C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Rudolf, 716 Reed St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Stratton, Laurel, Fla. The couple was feted at a bridal party by the French Corridor, the French speaking wing of the Faculty Apartments at Duke University, Durham, where they are students.

The newly-weds will spend the Christmas holidays with the parents of the bride when they will be honored at a family party. They will live in Durham until June and spend the summer in Florida before enrolling in graduate school in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton are Phi Beta Kappa members. She is majoring in French and he, in English.

Hairdressers Plan Activities, Elect Officers

A Dec. 3 Christmas party at Reetz's Supper Club is planned by the Fox River Valley Affiliate K of the Wisconsin Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Inc. Reservations may be made with the president. The event was discussed at the Nov. 14 meeting at Beauty Vogue Salon, Oshkosh. Guest artist Glenn Wills, a member of the Official Hair Fashions Committee, will present a demonstration Jan. 29.

Holiday hair fashions were modeled at the program by area artists. Mrs. Thomas Shaffer modeled the hair style that won a first place for her at the Milwaukee Convention.

New Officers
Officers elected at the meeting are Mrs. Schaffer, Kaukauna, president; Mrs. James Meyer, Menasha, first vice-president; Mrs. Theresa Meyer, Oshkosh, second vice-president; Mrs. Daniel Krueger, Oshkosh, third vice-president; Mrs. Merle Anderson, Oshkosh, secretary; Mrs. George Wonsler, Oshkosh, treasurer; Mrs. Kenneth Kostuek, Fond du Lac, sergeant at arms; and Mrs. Donald Weigman, Kaukauna, reporter.

The group won second place in the state for news reported to the state paper.

Museum, built on the tar pits (a statue of a dinosaur stands on one side of the grounds), an opening of Picasso graphics brought out L.A. art patrons. Some of the swinger ones appeared in silver mini-skirts and party pajamas. The Music Center also impressive with a beautiful opera house and a theater being built . . .

Where are the movie stars and the moving-picture studios? The stars are on the outskirts and suburbs, little cities unto themselves with security guards to keep people out except for regular tours. Now and then you run into someone famous. While having a sundae at Wil Wrights (a famous chain in L.A.), I saw a TV cowboy but I couldn't remember what show he was in — nor could my escort. I felt gyped.

TEEN-TALIZERS:
Luci Baines Johnson Nugent, now a resident of Austin, Tex., saw her first bullfight (the bloodless Portuguese style) at the Houston Astrodome.

Q Who are the most popular recording artists according to the U.S. jukebox operators? If your answer is Eddy Arnold (most popular artist), Nancy Sinatra (These Boots Are Made For Walkin'), Frank Sinatra (Strangers In The Night), Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass (most popular instrumental group), you're right!

Death to motorcycle riders jumped from 1,118 in 1964 to 1,580 in 1965 "With the number of cycles on our roads increasing rapidly, there is an immediate need for a comprehensive accident prevention program. Without one, cycle deaths might total 3,000 a year by 1970," says Harry Porter Jr., the director of traffic safety for the National Safety Council. Have you checked your safety gear?

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

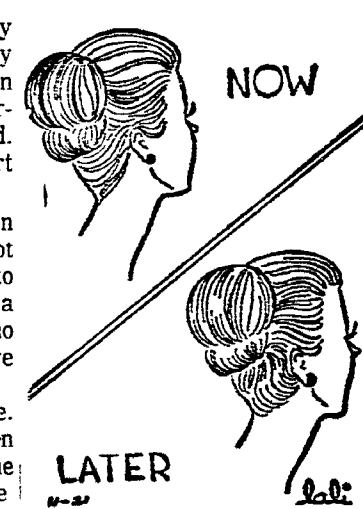

Hair and Ears

A lovely writes: I had my hair cut short in the back, only to find that the space between my ears and hairline is over-wide. It looks positively bald. Except for that, I like the short crop. What's to do?

The Answer: Wide-open spaces behind the ears are not rare. So it behooves a lovely to look before she leaps into a revealing "do." For those who fail and rue the day, there are two good bits of camouflage.

The first is powder base. Simply smooth it on the open areas, using the residue on the hands after filming the face. For neat blending, start your strokes high under the jawbone. Also whisk a little base on the back of the ear itself.

Then with the aid of a rearview mirror and a fresh eyebrow brush, remove any base that may have slipped into the hairline. The ruse renders the problem less noticeable, as the face and the spaces near the same skin tone and finish.

If the hair at the temples is as much as two inches long, the second trick is brushing it back to cover the top of the ears and to blend with the upper section of the cropped areas. At least half the trouble is in that way concealed.

For a permanent solution, let the side fringes grow about an inch. You can then give them a neckline permanent and brush the curls to fill in the bare spots. This is the saving of your basic styling. No change necessary!

Is your hair a problem. Miss Teen? Then send for my leaflet, "Teen Tresses, Model Type." It tells how to correct such ailments as oily hair and flaky scalp: fly-away, unmanageable, lackluster locks. Included, too, are styling tips and model grooming quickies. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Newlywed Nugents Settle Down

By FRANCES L. LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent says the first days of her married life in Austin, Tex., were made "pure purgatory" by curiosity seekers.

Now, says the President's 19-year-old daughter, she and husband Patrick J. Nugent "are supremely happy." "It's the most wonderful life" and they're treated "like everyone else."

Nugents Settle Down

But she described the first four days in Austin, where they moved as newlyweds into a duplex home, as "pure purgatory" — everybody drove by to try to see us, they rang the telephone and came to the door."

Talking to reporters as she joined her parents in a hospital celebration of their 32nd wedding anniversary Thursday, Luci said the sightseeing has finally subsided, and she and Nugent are settling down to normal married life.

Luci says her husband has gained 5 or 10 pounds since their marriage Aug. 6, "but I've lost."

On their first month's anniversary, Luci said, "he took me out to dinner and gave me a bottle of perfume." But, as the result of the outing, she recalled, he got sick.

"Before I was married," Luci confided, "I was not very neat but now I am the most finicky person in the world. I know that if I throw things around, there is no one but me to pick them up."

Luci said they have their own friends in Austin, "but we don't have them in very seldom for Pat goes to school and works, and I don't see him too much except at night."

He is studying business administration at the University of Texas and is now employed at the Johnson family-owned radio-television station, KTEC in Austin.

An Easy Adjustment
Luci said she is taking one course — in the history of furniture — at the university and "it is just wonderful. I learn so much."

She says it has not been difficult to adjust to being a homemaker. She said she could cook before she got married and "it isn't difficult — when we have something in the house to cook." She didn't explain that.

While Luci painted a generally blissful picture, she did have this comment: "We have a little puppy, Kim, that is the most wonderful thing. When things get tense, we pet and talk to Kim and it breaks the tension."

Legion Auxiliary Plans Program

HORTONVILLE — Plans for a Dec. 12 family Christmas party were discussed at the Monday evening meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary. The activity will begin with a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper at the Community Hall. Gifts will be exchanged.

Mrs. Franklin Nelson and Mrs. Milton Fannin have charge of entertainment; Mrs. James Cuff, Mrs. Irving Breitrick and Mrs. Joseph Keller, treats, and Mrs. Robert Schneider and Mrs. Nellie Williams, decorations.

Members are collecting coffee strips and labels to help provide Christmas toys for orphans. Those interested in contributing may bring strips or labels to the Red Owl Store or contact auxiliary members.

A fan will be purchased by the group as a Christmas gift for the Veteran's Hospital at King.

Vicar's Wife Doesn't Believe In Stodgy Role

LONDON (AP) — When the shapely wife of the new minister showed up at the church youth club in a miniskirt, the boys besieged her with requests for dates.

They did not get them, but Judith Rydings, 23, had some new sounding things to say about preachers' wives.

"I see no reason why vicars' wives should be dowdy," Mrs. Rydings said. "I think the church must create a modern image."

"I want the teen-agers' confidence, and I think I'm getting it. I should add that I'm very flattered."

Her husband is the Rev. Donald Rydings of St. Mark's, an Anglican church in nearby Bourne End. Now serving as the church minister, he will be inducted as vicar next month.

With her miniskirt, pretty police officer, will describe his duties to the Cadette Scouts at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 24 at the First National Bank building.

Speakers for the last meeting, planned March 28 and April 4, have not been announced.

Plans Dance At Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna Alumni Association Harvest Ball will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at Van Abel's Restaurant, Hollandtown. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Giordana will be co-chairmen for the cabaret dance.

Assisting them will be James Schlude, Lyle Vandenberg, Kenneth Roloff and Daniel Schommer.

Tickets may be purchased from committee members, the board of directors, advisory board or from the Look Drug stores.

Not Mrs. Rydings.
"Religion doesn't have to be stodgy," she said in an interview. "There is no need to leave the rest of the world outside when one goes to church."

"I always try to be up-to-the-minute in fashion. My ideas may have caused quite a stir in the village, but I think the locals are now beginning to accept them."

She said her husband approves of her attitude.

He commented: "The image of a conventional vicar's wife is more in the minds of the people than anything else — and particularly in the minds of people who do not go to church very often."

House Dems Face Struggle In Committee

Factions Expected to Clash Over Seat on Ways, Means Unit

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — House Democrats, their ranks depleted by the election, may find themselves in a bitter internal struggle between liberals and conservatives as soon as they return to Washington in January.

At stake is a seat on the Novak Evans critically important House Ways and Means Committee, which will be handling President Johnson's expected tax increase proposal. Within days after the election, Democratic congressmen were quietly laying plans for a battle between two of the most formidable delegations: New York and Texas.

Actually, three Democratic members of the committee won't be back — two because of retirement, one because of defeat. But the heavy Republican gains on Nov. 8 almost surely will trim the present 17 to 8 Democratic ratio to 15 to 10. That leaves just one Democratic vacancy.

Texas always has a Ways and Means member to protect the bountiful tax advantage for the oil and gas industry. With Texas Rep. Clark Thompson retiring from Congress, his replacement from the Texas delegation has been informally chosen: well-known conservative Omar Burleson, a 60-year-old veteran of 20 years in Congress.

Traditional Claim But New York also has a traditional claim to a Ways and Means seat, and its powerful representative there — Eugene Keogh of Brooklyn — also is retiring from Congress. His hand-picked choice is 40-year-old John Murphy of Staten Island, first elected to Congress just four years ago.

The contrast is clear. Burleson's liberal voting record for the last Congress (as measured by the Americans for Democratic Action) was 6 per cent compared with Murphy's 75 per cent.

Murphy would have been victor in such a contest two years ago following the 1964 Democratic landslide, but not so today after a net liberal loss of more than 50 seats. A close, possibly bitter battle looms in January.

Gov. George Romney's grand strategy of blitzing the Republican presidential nomination by sweeping all primary elections is encountering early trouble in the key primary state of Wisconsin.

Knowles Favorite Son? Plans are now under way by state party leaders to run Wisconsin Gov. Warren Knowles as the favorite son presidential candidate in the April, 1968, primary at the head of a "Unity" delegation. If Knowles sticks to this plan, it gives Romney an unpleasant choice: challenge an incumbent governor in his own state or forget about Wisconsin as a battle ground.

The latter alternative would shatter Romney's hopes of challenging and defeating Richard M. Nixon in a midwestern state carried comfortably by Nixon in the 1960 election. Moreover, the "Unity" delegation led by Knowles would be composed largely of party regulars, presumably more favorable to Nixon than Romney.

This brings back memories of 1964 when a Wisconsin showdown between Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller was averted by Rep. John Byrnes' favorite son candidacy at the head of a "Unity" delegation. Predictably, the Byrnes delegation unanimously voted for Goldwater at San Francisco.

Although Gov. Romney and Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton never have been personally close, Romney is working key Scranton men for his presidential bid.

He's got one of them. William Murphy, Scranton's executive secretary and a well-connected politician, will be stationed in Romney's soon-to-be opened Washington office. In addition, Romney agents are talking with the brilliant James Reichley, Scranton's chief theoretician (who is likely to turn down a job offer from Gov.-Elect Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania).

Both Murphy and Reichley were cleared with Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania during a one-hour political session between Romney and Scott in Washington last Monday.

Campaign Financing President Johnson's low standing in the academic community was not helped with the recently named Harvard's highly respected Richard Neustadt, author of "Presidential Power," as head of a bipartisan commission to study campaign financing.

Neustadt was informed of — not asked to take — the appointment in a pre-emptory call from a White House aide, who told Neustadt flatly that the announcement was being made in Washington. Neustadt was miffed and has made no secret of that fact to his colleagues.

Dozens of activities after a dozen years of existence are making members of the Golden Age Club realize how young they really are.

in the city that has become a community project.

Started by the Welcome Wagon Civic League, the Appleton community has taken a great interest in it and has put such annual events as the Pancake Day in October and the "Like New Toy Sale" in December, on the calendar.

Much Activity

On almost any day of the week the clubhouse at 532 N. Appleton St., is filled with activities of one sort or another. There are card parties, potluck suppers, singing and dancing.

Handicraft has become an important part of the schedule, with many of the members preparing crafts to be sold at the pancake day or repairing and making toys in the toy hospital.

Special events include summer trips, a Christmas party and dance. A big event is the annual dance for all Golden Age Clubs in the valley, sponsored by the local chapter with facilities provided by a local ballroom and the seven-piece orchestra by the musicians' union.

In return, the Golden Agers participate in civic projects and

Burglar Takes Watery Route

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Some burglars break in through windows. Others jimmy door locks.

But the one who took about $175 worth of phonograph components recently from the home of designer Raymond Loewy swam in, police said.

They said the burglar had swum the length of Loewy's swimming pool, which is partly outdoors and partly in the living room. He broke through a plastic divider panel which separates the two parts of the pool, they said.

Loewy said that after a similar burglary years ago, he installed an underwater gate. But he forgot to lock it before taking a trip.

Survivors of Alaskan Ordeal Feel Strong Tie

Jewish Girl From Brooklyn Resents Constant Tries of Mormon Protector to Convert Her

By HENRIETTA LEITH
NEW YORK (AP) — In a Manhattan publishing office, a pretty girl reads trade books and dreams of adventure.

On Alaska's northern coast, a middle-aged mechanic works on the DEW line — Distant Early Warning — and dreams of getting back to California for Christmas with his wife and six children.

It's unlikely that Helen Klaben, 24, and Ralph Flores will see each other again.

But there is a strong, lifetime bond between them. For Helen Klaben, the adventurous Jewish girl from Brooklyn, and Ralph Flores, the Mexican-born Mormon convert from San Bruno, Calif., are the pair who 3½ years ago spent 49 terrible days together on a mountainside in the Yukon — 40 of those days without food.

Flores Passenger Helen was 21 and Flores was 42 when they met in Fairbanks, Alaska, early in 1963. Flores wanted a passenger on a flight home to California. Helen had gone to Alaska with another girl on a lark, and she wanted to get to San Francisco in hopes of joining a group going to Mexico.

She agreed to fly with Flores. When their plane crashed into the trees near Aeroplano Lake, on the border of the Yukon Territory and British Columbia, experts wouldn't give them more than a few days to survive in the frozen waste, where temperatures dropped to 48 degrees below zero.

But their "tremendous will to live," plus the fantastic energy of the small Flores — who chopped down trees with a chisel and hammer and built fires for weeks when melted snow was their only sustenance — kept them alive until a plane spotted their distress signal and they were rescued.

Today, Helen is an assistant editor of the Macmillan Division of the Crowell-Collier publishing firm. Her foot, from which five toes had to be amputated because of frostbite, scarcely bothers her now. An operation last December made it possible for her to walk without pain, and to wear the kind of shoes a 24-year-old girl would want to wear.

Since their rescue, she and Flores have corresponded occasionally. She got a Christmas card from him.

But the last time she saw him, on a visit to California in the spring of 1965, Helen decided she had better not keep up the friendship.

For Flores, who in the tradition of the Mormon Church is a lay minister, was just as determined to convert the Jewish girl to the Mormon Church as he was during their long ordeal, when he kept telling her their rescue depended on her acceptance of the divinity of Christ.

And Helen is just as determined as ever to stick to "my faith in my friend God."

Mormon Converts

"While I was in California," Helen recalls, "Ralph even brought around friends who had been of the Jewish faith and had converted to the Mormon Church. I guess he thought they would have more effect on me."

"He still tries to get in touch with me through my sister out in Brooklyn. He hasn't given up."

So, while she still thinks of Flores as a wonderful person to whom she owes her life, Helen doesn't plan to correspond with him any more.

When she thinks of those frozen days in 1963, her recollections are "not at all" nightmarish. Nor has her love for adventure diminished.

"I love my job," she says, "and I'll stay with it — unless someone offers me a trip around the world."

Former Police Chief Fined for Wrong-Way Driving

WAUKESHA (AP)—A former Wauwatosa police chief was fined $25 Friday for driving the wrong way on Interstate Highway 94 on Sept. 27.

Louis Wrasse, 68, who lives at Silver Lake, had entered a plea of no contest to the charge on Oct. 7.

Waukesha County Judge William G. Callow had deferred sentencing to allow Wrasse to get a medical examination and also ordered Wrasse not to drive without another responsible person in the car.

Callow continued that order Friday, pending a re-examination of Wrasse by the State Motor Vehicle Department.

At his trial Wrasse maintained he did not remember traveling for 18 miles in the wrong lane of the highway.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

ARE PARENTS RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR CHILDREN'S TRUANCY? YES ☐ NO ☐

Yes, sometimes they are, says Dr. Leon Eisenberg. Children who stay home from school because of some imaginary illness, or because they're afraid of the teacher or some pupil, may actually be reflecting their parents' anxieties. In a study of 26 cases of truancy, he found that many of the mothers would their children to go to school. But the mothers' wor-ambivalence, and psychologists believe that in every relationship there is some of both kinds of feelings. Studies of enduring marriages find that they are not completely loving and harmonious, but often sparked by disagreements and expressions of overt hostility from time to time — perhaps because few men and women are capable of being loved all the time.

Divorce, Delinquency, Death, Mental Illness, Public Assistance — all of the problems faced by many of today's families are discussed in frank, help-giving detail in the booklet, "When A Family Faces Stress."

Nesting Under Bridge

Health Officials Declare War on Eastside Pigeons

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Pigeons making their home beneath the E. College Avenue bridge are "strictly for the birds" and have to go, according to Appleton health officials.

The city's pigeon plight came to light today when a reporter inquired why the board of health had the birds listed on its Wednesday meeting agenda.

"Well, we had a small problem with pigeons congregating in and around the bridge a few years ago," explained Deputy Health Commissioner Donald Day. "It seems that during the past 24 months things have gotten out of hand."

Three Accidents

4 Hurt Over Weekend On Appleton Streets

Four persons, including a mother and her young daughter, were injured in three weekend accidents on Appleton streets.

Darlene A. Hendrickson, 1315 E. Glendale Ave., received face cuts and a rib injury while her daughter, Catherine, 6, received a bruised cheek when the car she was driving left Glendale Avenue at N. Morrison Street and struck a tree about 6:15 p.m. Saturday. Both persons were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

The front of the car was extensively damaged. Cause of the mishap had not been determined this morning.

Lying by Car

Franklin E. Bowers Jr., 18, 1408 N. Wayne St., was found lying alongside his wrecked car about 12:15 a.m. today at S. Lawe and Island Streets.

Attendants from Larry's Ambulance Service said they found the youth as they were returning from a call. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of face and head cuts and injuries to his chest and back.

Appleton police said Bowers told them he was northbound on Lawe when a southbound car forced his car into a steel guard rail. The car knocked down a cable fence then smashed into the south wall of a small shed alongside the road.

Damage was to the front, rear and windshield of the car. Police are continuing to investigate the accident.

John P. Becker, 20, 425 E. Spring St., received a deep forehead laceration and injuries Running reports have been received by the health department in recent months over the squadrons of pigeons flying over the bridge. Consolidated plant and residential areas — leaving droppings. "It's getting to be an impossible job to keep the streets and sidewalks in the area clean, not to say homes and cars," Day commented. "The problem has now reached such proportion that the health department will be asked to take some action," Day added.

In 1964 a small gathering of so-called wild pigeons invaded the under-structure of the huge bridge and found a most suitable shelter.

It must have been a prolific group of birds, health inspectors and neighbors say, because the pigeon population is now well over the 200 mark.

Traps have been set to catch the birds but so far they have been able to outsmart man-made contraptions.

Day said some pigeon fanciers in the area have indicated to the health department they are willing to embark on an all-out project to capture the large brood of birds.

Residents in the area of the College Avenue bridge say they don't mind a few pigeons flying overhead and paying an occasional yard visit . . . but now it's ridiculous.

"And, they may be claiming squatter's rights. . . who knows?"

School Cleared When Smoke Sets Off Fire Alarm

More than 800 pupils filed out of St. Joseph School, 202 S. Elm St., when a fire alarm was sounded at 8:59 a.m. today.

Appleton firemen, who responded with several units, said a light ballast burned out in an office, and the smoke triggered the alarm. Damage was minor.

Firemen remained at the school about 20 minutes.

Considerable smoke damage resulted from a bedroom fire at the Richard Yatzeck home, 704 N. Leminwah St., about 9:35 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen said that an electric light cord shorted, setting a mattress and bedding afire. The flames spread to the floor where a small area of carpet was scorched. The mattress and bedding were destroyed. Firemen remained at the home about 50 minutes.

UW Law Professor To Address Attorneys

James B. MacDonald, professor at the University of Wisconsin law school, will speak at the Dec. 1 dinner meeting of the Outagamie County Bar Association at the Left Guard Steak House.

Committee Formed

Group Backs Wallace For Next President

A group of Fox Cities residents formed the Wallace For President Committee at a meeting in Appleton Saturday afternoon, and discussed group action and policy.

Co-chairmen named were Frank E. Drexler and Robert G. Thompson, Appleton.

Thompson told the group, "It is time that the people of this country had a chance to express their views through a true third candidate for President. We feel that Wallace for President will give the people a new public voice." He said he feels as Thomas Jefferson did, that "The ultimate law is the people."

Area headquarters and worker assignments were discussed.

Drexler said "Two years may seem a long campaign, but we must remember that our's is an uphill battle to victory."

Progress Reported In Municipal-Labor Union Negotiations

Policemen's Contract Settled; Four More to be Discussed

Progress was reported today in a series of city personnel committee-labor union negotiations involving 1967 contracts for municipal employees.

In recent weeks, the personnel committee headed by Ald. John MacDonald (7th) and consisting of Aids. Richard Huisman (1st), Clifford Radder (16th), John Steidl (18th) and Personnel Director J. H. Rusch, held 21 meetings with employee representatives.

The only contract settlement to date has been between the city and Appleton Professional Police Association, agreement arrived at several weeks ago. Negotiations were finalized after eight sessions.

MacDonald said no meetings are scheduled for this week but across-the-table talks are planned at least two nights, or more, next week as the personnel committee presses for settlements.

Money Set Aside

Money has been set aside in the 1967 budget to cover contracts, leaving the committee with just so much to work with.

Negotiations are continuing between the personnel committee and the following employee groups.

— Teamsters Local 563, representing an estimated 80 city workers in the sanitation, street and maintenance divisions.

— Teamsters Local 563, recently-elected bargaining agent for an estimated dozen employees at the Appleton City Home.

— Appleton Firefighters Local 257, affiliated with the International Firefighters Union, AFL-CIO, representing a good share of the Appleton Fire Department employees.

— A local of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, representing the employees at the Appleton sewage plant.

Bargaining Sessions

During the first three weeks this month there were 10 bargaining sessions conducted by the personnel committee at city hall, the average lasting about three hours, some running longer.

Rusch and MacDonald gave a state-of-negotiations summary, indicating in the case of the negotiations for public works department employees — contract language but not money — had been discussed to date.

No proposals have been received from the union regarding the city home employees.

There is optimism the firemen and committee may reach agreement at their next meeting with the report that a contract settlement is close.

In meetings with the sewage plant union representatives, wages and insurance are now the major items left for discussion.

Farmer Hit by Ricocheting Slug Near Black Creek

A rural Black Creek farmer reported he was struck on the leg by a piece of a shotgun slug while working in a field Saturday afternoon.

Leonard Maufort, route 1, told the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department he was spreading manure in a farm field when a hunter fired at a deer. Maufort said the slug hit the right front portion of his tractor and part of it ricocheted to strike his leg.

Maufort said he hurriedly applied the tractor's brakes causing the front wheels to fall off the tractor.

The man apparently received only minor injuries.

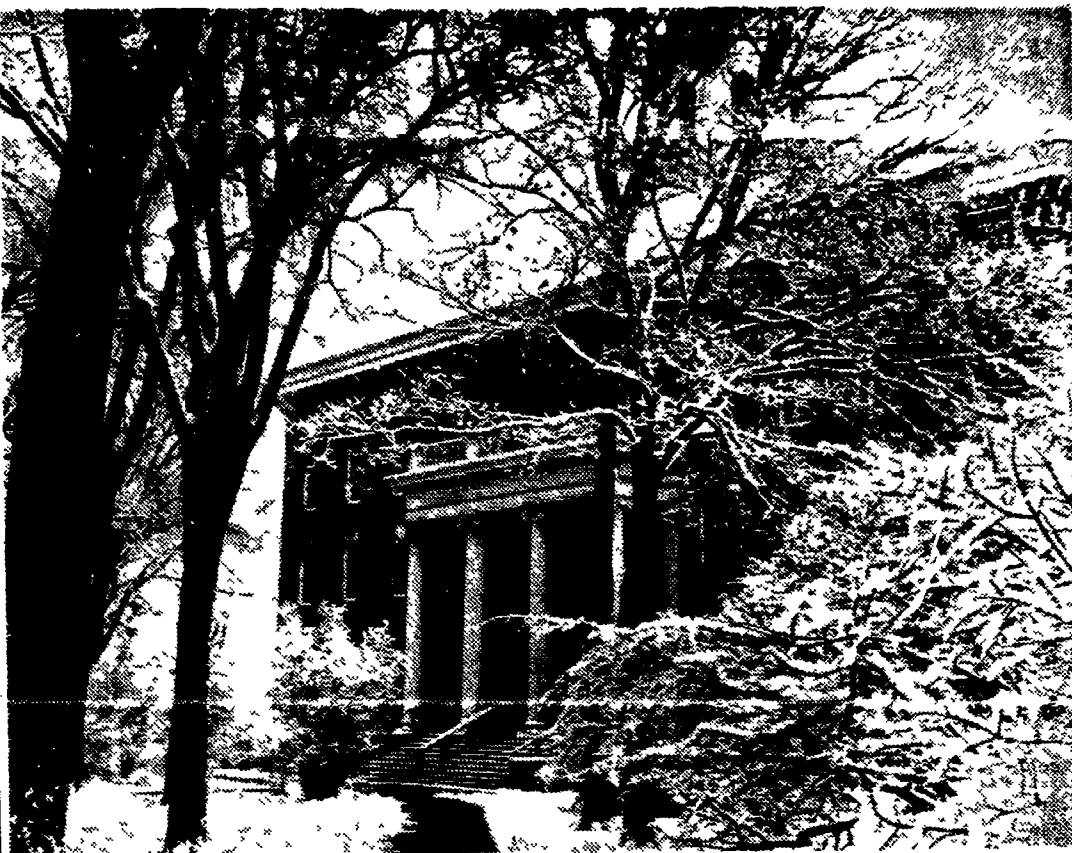

Robert Steinbach, 69, Water Utility Employee, Dies at Brillion Station

BRILLION — Robert W. Steinbach, 69, 314 Columbus St., died unexpectedly at the city water station where he was checking the pumps Saturday night.

Steinbach, who has been employed by the city and its utility commission for the past 15 years, was found dead of an apparent heart attack by city police.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter, five brothers and two sisters and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Trinity Lutheran Church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Wieting Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Budget Limits Ice Skating Improvements in Appleton

Park-Recreation Board Suggests More Lights, Warming Shelters

Additional warming shelters and other improved facilities have been recommended for Appleton's ice-skating season, but because of budgetary limitations, changes are not scheduled until 1967-68.

However, the park-recreation commission recently adopted a report, and a set of recommendations prepared by Commissioner William Heerman, that skating should be provided as soon as possible.

Depending on weather conditions, the rinks should be in operation during December through February, with the final decision up to Lloyd Koehnke, acting recreation director.

In past years there has been criticism of the city's public skating program, mostly to the points that adequate warming facilities were not provided and conditions of the ice at neighborhood rinks was poor.

Build Good Ice

The commission said it hopes to build good ice rinks this year once there is enough frost in the ground. Crews will not wait for the first major snowfall to start making ice as in the past.

And, the commission intends to discuss the skating program with the board of education to learn why some of the schools are reluctant to cooperate by having rinks built on their recreation fields.

Lighting, shelters and supervision will be at Meade and Jones Park rinks as in the past, but next year will be a different story — even if it results in a lesser number of skating centers, according to the commission.

Open 18

Rinks will be constructed this year at Jones, Meade, Kiwanis, Erb, Alicia, Arbustus, Linwood, Memorial, Hoover and Pierce parks, along with Goodland Field, Columbus, Huntley, Edison, Lincoln, Foster, McKinley and Madison schools. There apparently will be no rink at St. Pius X this year.

Lights are to be turned off at 10 p.m. at rinks where there are no warming shelters. The night deadline at Meade and Jones parks will be 9:30 p.m.

Appleton will have but one hockey rink this year — Jones Park. The Erb Park hockey rink of the past is non-existent. Because of the expense involved, the commission will not have any night crews spraying the rinks. However, on the subject of flooding and maintenance, Heerman's report indicated there was room for improvement.

Inspect Sites "There is quite a bit of public misunderstanding and rather harsh criticism about the maintenance of the ponds in the past," the report said. "To

Appleton's Unit Wins National Naval Award

'Best in Nation' Title Given for Training Reservists

The Naval Reserve training facility at Appleton has been lauded for helping its parent command win a top national award.

Comdr. R. E. Bodoh, officer in charge of the local facility, has received notice from Rear Adm. Howard A. Yeager, commandant of the Ninth Naval District, announcing that the district was named "best in the nation" for training reservists.

The admiral's command, including 13 Midwest and Rocky Mountain states, took first place over 10 other districts in the annual E. V. Richards Memorial Trophy competition.

High Caliber

Admiral Yeager commended the Appleton training facility and Naval Reserve Surface Division 9-9 "for its high caliber of training and readiness, which is of prime importance to the security of our nation and our allies."

"Reservists in the district obtained the highest cumulative score for their readiness to meet mobilization requirements," he continued.

The Appleton training facility at 1824 Ballard Road, is one of 86 in the district. Fifty-five reservists are involved in weekly drills at the facility.

Annual Presentation

In cooperation with the Navy Department, the Navy League has presented the E. V. Richards Memorial trophy annually to the best naval district, in recognition of its support to reserve programs, since 1962.

The criteria for competition are set by the Naval Reserve Training Command, Omaha, Neb. Scoring is based on the increase in the number of petty officers and their drill attendance, recruiting and re-enlistment, training and advancement of personnel.

The training facility here, in the last year, has enlisted 20 men into the program. Sixty-four reservists took their annual two-weeks active duty and 51 have been advanced in rating. Last year the district finished ninth among 11 competing districts.

Franklin School to Get Flag From Cub Packs

An indoor flag will be presented to Franklin School by the combined cub scout packs of the school at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

The flag will be hung in the auditorium, which often is used by the scouts.

Receiving the flag will be Richard Goree, principal.

Stanley J. Alberts, 21, Appleton, died early today of head injuries he received when he was thrown from this 1967 car which struck a utility pole at E. Wisconsin Avenue and Ballard Road about 8:30

Clearing Work Continues in Sand Off Waverly Beach Front

MENASHA — Work is continuing on the removal of the breakwater on the north shore of Lake Winnebago near Waverly Beach Resort and the tons of material dumped in the lake three years ago should be stockpiled within three weeks.

2 Milwaukee Duck Hunters Drown in River

FERRYVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Two Milwaukee area duck hunters drowned in the Mississippi River near Ferryville Sunday and a companion, found unconscious in a boat, was hospitalized.

The victims were Harold J. Melotik, 41, and Leroy J. Van Slyke, 32, both of Milwaukee. Their bodies were recovered.

Charles Fisher, 41, of St. Francis, a Milwaukee suburb, was reported in good condition at a Waukon, Iowa, hospital.

John Jiracek of Stoddard, Wis., and Fred Cavott of La Crosse said they were on the stream in a boat when they came across a 16-foot craft near the Wisconsin shore. They said Fisher was unconscious in the boat, which was nearly full of water. A black Labrador dog was swimming nearby.

Authorities said Fisher regained consciousness at the hospital and told them his companions were missing. Dragging operations were conducted by Iowa officials, the Crawford County sheriff's office and members of the Wisconsin conservation department.

Authorities, who had not determined the circumstances of the drownings, said the victims' boat apparently overturned and Fisher was able to right it and climb back in before losing consciousness. They said they would talk with Fisher today.

E. W. Plank, Secretary Of Fire Works Firm, Dies Unexpectedly

NEENAH — Edward W. Plank, 55, 818 Maple St., Neenah, died unexpectedly at 11:35 a.m. Saturday. He was production manager and secretary of International Wire Works, Menasha.

He was born Sept. 30, 1911 in Kaukauna and lived in Neenah since 1920. He was a member of St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Survivors include the widow, his mother, one daughter, one son, one sister and two brothers.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at St. Paul Lutheran Church with the Rev. Fredric A. Seefeldt officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral Home from 4 p.m. Monday until 11 a.m. Tuesday and then at the church from noon until the time of service. Memorials to St. Paul Church will be appreciated.

Hospital Treats Woman For Overdose of Pills

A 50-year-old woman was treated and released from Appleton Memorial Hospital late Saturday after she reportedly swallowed an overdose of sleeping pills as her southeast side home.

The woman was taken to the hospital by ambulance at 5:28 p.m.

About 20 minutes before,

The breakwater has caused extensive sand bars in front of residences to the west in the Town of Menasha and has been the center of heated controversy in recent years.

The Public Service Commission ruled the structure would have to be removed by Nov. 1 but work didn't start until last Thursday. The PSC doesn't expect to initiate any action if the breakwater is completely removed in the near future.

Clem Weinandt, owner of the Waverly Beach Resort, received a permit for the breakwater in 1960 but the project wasn't built according to the allowed specifications.

At first, the fill used was old building materials and wood and soon after, upon complaints from neighbors who had debris on their beaches, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers ordered some of the material removed and the banks reinforced with stone.

However, the 15-foot openings listed in the approved plans weren't constructed and vast sandbars resulted.

On Sept. 23, 1965, the PSC ordered the breakwater removed. At the same time, it okayed the construction of another breakwater about 200 feet east of the present site, which is immediate east of the Winnebago-Calumet county line.

The new breakwater won't be built as the present structure is being taken down, an official for the PSC said today. A new permit from the U.S. Corps of Engineers is necessary and the final plans for the project haven't yet been submitted to that governmental unit.

Officials hope the removal of the breakwater will permit movement to change the sandbars along the properties to the west.

The new structure, if and when it is completed, will be "L" shaped and will provide large openings to allow current to flow and at the same time give a sheltered harbor, the PSC said.

Assessment Suit Filed In Neenah

NEENAH — Mrs. George N. Pratt Jr., Nicolet Boulevard, has asked Circuit Court Judge Arnold J. Cane to review the $111,500 assessment on her home and property.

A suit filed with the court today calls the action of the Neenah Board of Review in upholding the assessment "erroneous, illegal, unlawful, arbitrary, capricious and unjust."

Mrs. Pratt claims a private, professional appraiser valued her property at $70,000 at the time of the board of appeals ruling. The board of review ruled that the real property is worth $76,670 and the improvements $34,839.

Her suit requests a writ of certiorari to transfer board of review records on the case to the circuit court. It also asks the court to review the records and reverse to board of review's decision. It asks that the court instruct the board of review to assess the property at "fair value."

Appleton police had received a telephone call from someone at a tavern who explained the woman had just left the tavern saying she was "going to take something to end it all."

CESA 10 Offers Plan to Merge School Areas

District Could Include Brillion, Stockbridge, Chilton

Three plans for consolidating school districts in Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 10, have been submitted by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

Plans were presented at the request of schools in the CESA 10 area.

The first proposal involves possible consolidation of Brillion, Hilbert and Stockbridge; the second plan deals with Hilbert, Stockbridge and Chilton and the final measure, with Stockbridge and Chilton.

Under the first plan, a total of 1,274 students would be enrolled with 614 in elementary grades and 660 in high school. Total equalized valuation would be $48.4 million with a tax rate of $14.71 needed to operate the proposed consolidated school. This means that there would be a tax reduction of 13.1 per cent for Stockbridge and 1.6 per cent for Brillion while Hilbert would receive a tax increase of 2.6 per cent.

New Building

According to the report, Brillion students had 56 curricular choices, Hilbert students, 48 and Stockbridge, 37. It is pointed out that 80 choices could be offered under the consolidated school.

A new building, estimated to cost $1.7 to $2 million would be required for high school purposes. About 62 teachers would be needed to operate the school. Plan two calls for the consolidation of the Stockbridge and Chilton school districts. Here the seventh and eighth graders from Chilton would be transported by bus to Stockbridge.

At the same time, Stockbridge High School students would be would be 1,284 with 570 attending the elementary school and 714, the high school.

At present, Stockbridge school offers 37 courses and Chilton, 47. Under the proposed consolidation, 67 to 72 courses could be offered on the high school level, transported to Chilton. The total number of students enrolled Guaranteed valuation totals $48.8 million.

80 Teachers

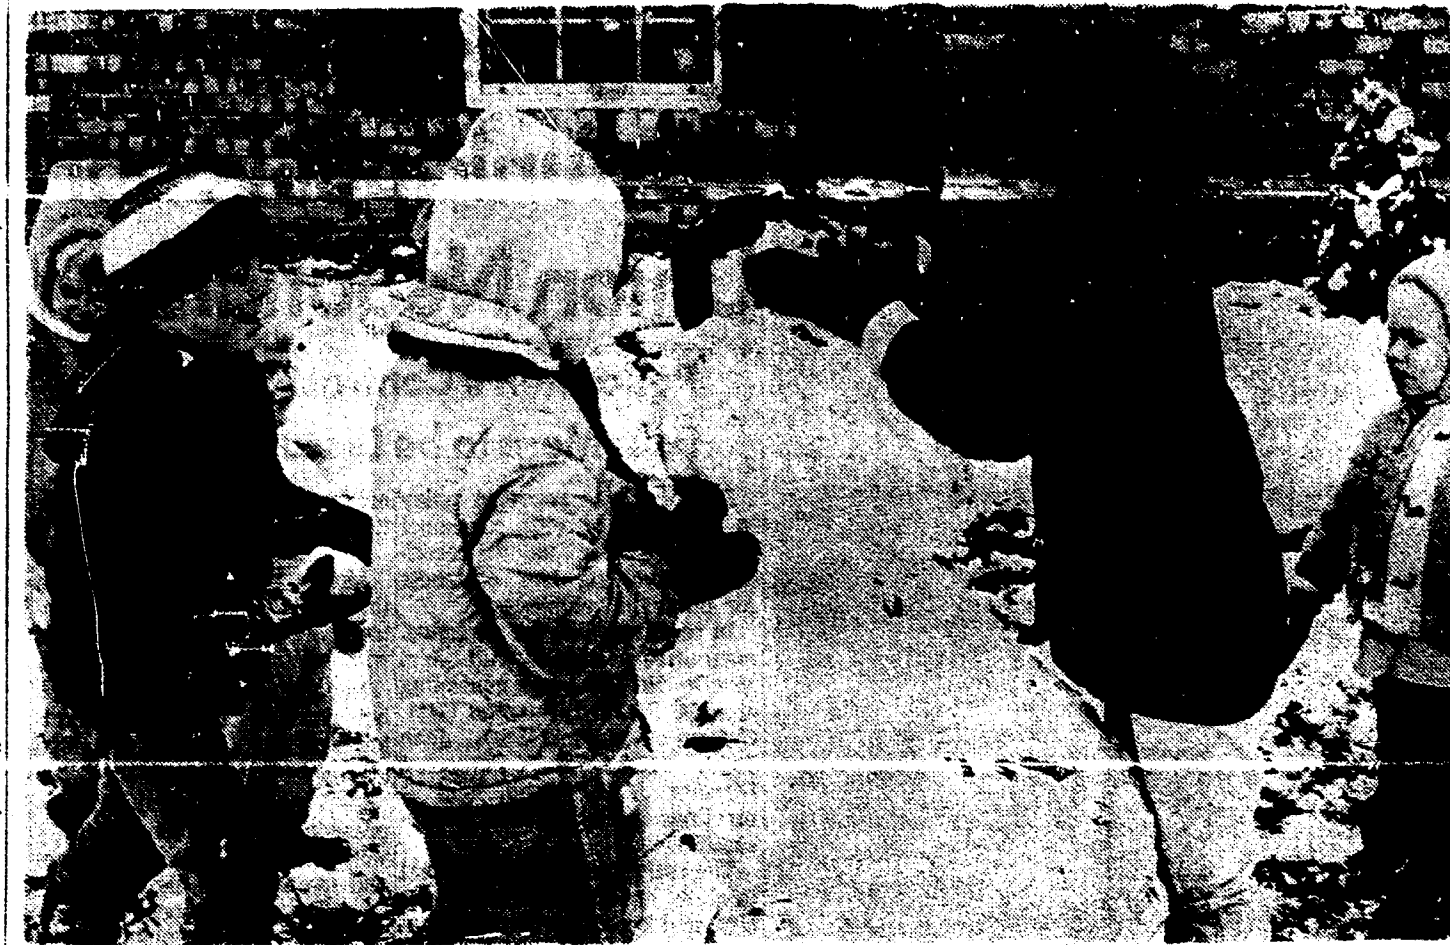

More than 80 teachers would be needed for the third plan involving Stockbridge, Hilbert and Chilton.

Under this proposal, elementary children would attend the centers where they are now enrolled. Seventh and eighth graders from Chilton would be transported to Hilbert to provide room for the added high school enrollment in Chilton, which has facilities for all three high schools' students.

Elementary enrollment would total 757, high school enrollment, 952 for a total of 1,709. Guaranteed valuation is $64.9 million. Total cost of operation would be $310,980.

Subjects offered by Hilbert total 48, Stockbridge, 37 and Chilton, 47. About 85 subjects could be offered under the consolidated plan.

Burglary Spree Ends For Youths

NEENAH — Three youths have discovered it doesn't pay to break into policemen's homes in search of loot.

The trio, two aged 16 and the other a 15-year-old, have admitted breaking into five Neenah homes, including those belonging to Officers Gene Tuschcherer and Robert Seiler, in the past three weeks.

The youths, all from Oshkosh, have returned the money taken in two breaks and have been referred to juvenile authorities.

The burglary spree started on Oct. 30 when the youth entered the Ralph Klenke residence, 212 Langley St., and took about 24 boxes of rifle and .22 caliber ammunition. The next evening, they attempted to enter the home of the Robert Seilers, 122 Meade St., pried off the storm windows but apparently didn't gain entrance.

Last Friday, the youths hit three homes. They took $16 from a drawer in the home of John Zolkowski, 162 Andrew St. When they entered the Thomas Drews residence, 1534 Ames St., they ransacked drawers and made off with some pennies and old coins. The final try came at the home of Patrolman Gene Tuschcherer, 943 W. Cecil St., where they broke a window in the rear door, entered a room and stole a small file cabinet.

Polite Bandit Settles for Only $5 Loot

DETROIT (AP) — A courteous bandit, trying for a $10 hold-up, settled for $5, police reported.

He entered a cleaning store Friday and put a pen knife to the throat of Mrs. Erma Brown, 42.

"I'm desperate. I need $10," he said.

Mrs. Brown said she was scared at first but something about the youth, about 20, and wearing rumpled clothes, put her at ease.

"Well, why don't you only take $5," she said.

"Do you mind if I tie your hands?" the bandit asked.

"No, please don't," said Mrs. Brown. "I have heart trouble."

"Okay, I won't," said the youth, stuffing a cord into his pocket.

He carefully removed a $5 bill from the cash register, then asked for a pencil, and wrote down Mrs. Brown's name and address.

"I'll get it back to you," he said, and fled.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — In a reversal of the first Thanksgiving in this nation, the white man will sit down Thursday as guest of Indians near Scottsdale.

The Indians plan to show off a new youth center, financed largely with white man's funds.

400 Employees Had Been Idled By 65-Day Strike

MENASHA — The last of the production workers idled by the 65-day long strike at the Gilbert Paper Co. were called back to work today, a company spokesman said this morning.

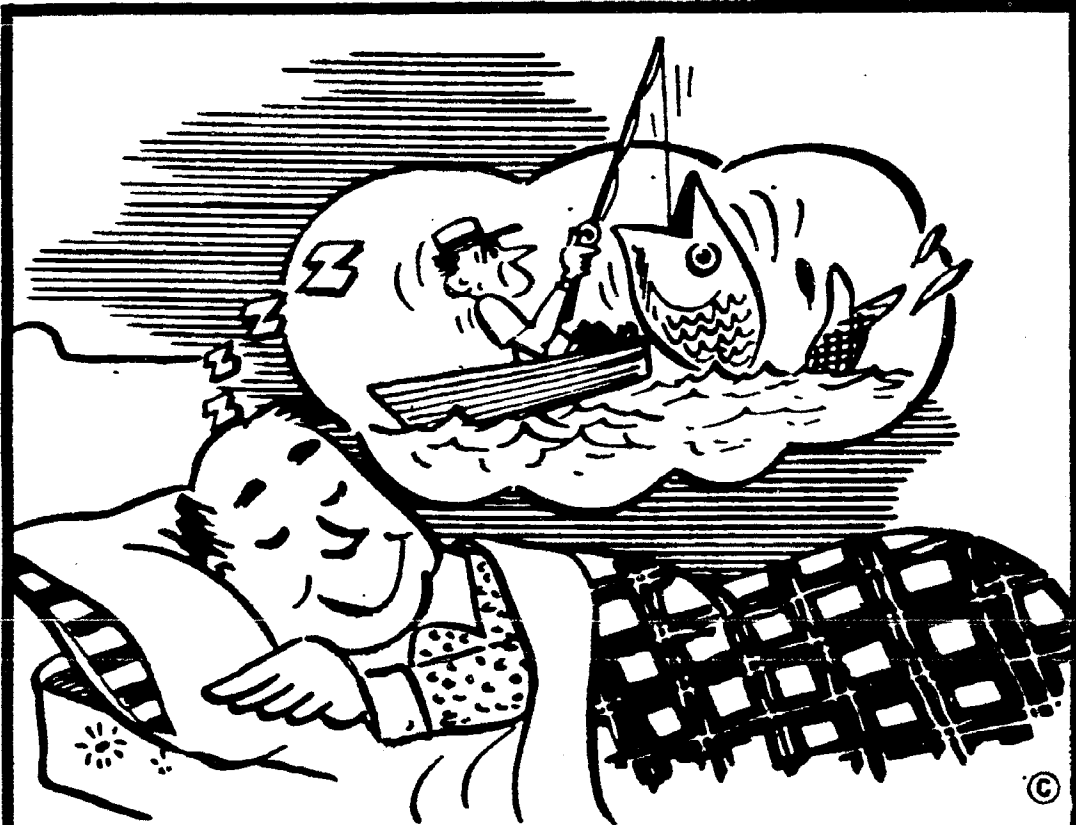

The strike, which idled some 400 production workers, was settled Nov. 10 when members of Local 477 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO accepted a two-year contract.

Clarence Elmgren, personnel director for the firm, said they would not know until later this week the exact number of employees who took permanent jobs with other firms during the strike and would not be returning to Gilbert. However, he said he expected the number to be about 40.

The firm has been advertising for workers and Elmgren said the response has been very favorable. He said the company is running ads locally and in a paper "up north" with quite a few referrals.

He added he did not think there would be any noticeable effect on production as a result of the temporary shortage of workers. "We are getting a good supply of replacements," he said, "although they still have to be trained."

Planners Are Working on Housing Code

Fox Valley Cities Will Get Working Draft for Review

A comprehensive housing code with minimum regulations will be available for review and possible adoption by area municipalities when the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission completes a recently authorized study.

Eugene Franchett, executive director of the commission, said staff members are working on the code and will come up with a working draft. The draft will then be reviewed by a committee of representatives from each member municipality in the region, Franchett said.

Minimum housing standards, governing the condition and maintenance of dwellings, will be included in the proposed code.

Regulations Needed

Such regulations are necessary, Franchett said, so the condition of housing never constitutes a menace to the people of any municipality.

"Studies of home life and social conditions have made it clear that inadequate housing is one of the basic causes of family difficulties and has created serious problems for the community as a whole," the commission official said.

Urging adoption and subsequent enforcement of a housing code, Franchett said, "Housing's connection with health, sanitation, crime, safety and the development of an environment makes it a public concern."

Will Involve Rentals

Minimum standards recommended by the commission will include regulations of required utilities and facilities and cover condition of rented dwellings. The standards will also place responsibility on owners and

Aspidistra Plant Finds Owners After Long Ride in Trunk

MENASHA — The alertness of a truck driver for the O'Brien Truck Co., Oshkosh, is responsible for the speedy return of the Aspidistra plant and pot, stolen in the early morning hours Friday, to its rightful owner.

Police reported that Joseph L. Roth, 823 Plant Road, who operates a self-service laundry there, found a plant and planter missing when he checked the laundry about 10:34 a.m. Friday.

The truck driver was at the laundry about 1 a.m. Friday when he saw a youth pick up the plant and place it into the trunk of a car. He took down the license number and reported the incident to police.

Within three hours of the reported theft, the car owner came to the Menasha police station, said she had found the plant in her trunk but did not know how it got there.

Police are seeking the identity of the man who put the plant in the trunk of the car. Roth says the plant looks okay but he will know if it suffered any damage in its 12 hours trip after he observes it for several days.

16.5 Miles of Expressway To Ease Wisconsin Travel

Motorists will find traveling easier in Wisconsin as a result of the opening this month of additional 16.5 miles of Milwaukee County expressways.

The new sections complete a bypass route through the southwestern part of Milwaukee County, with alternate I-94 linking the I-94 segment between Milwaukee and Chicago with the Milwaukee-Madison segment.

Easier travel in the Milwaukee area will provide important time savings between the greater Chicago area and all Wisconsin vacation lands.

The new route completes a direct link between Tomah, Madison and Chicago via I-94 as an alternate to the previous I-90 route via Madison, Beloit and Rockford to Chicago.

Travel is also easier now in downtown Chicago, just below the junction of I-90-94, with a new link via I-55 directly to McCormick Place on Lake Michigan.

All of these trips may be made without facing traffic control signals other than lane designations, and without grade crossing of other highways or railroads.

321 Miles Open The Wisconsin interstate system is now slightly more than 70 per cent complete, with 321 miles open to traffic out of the total 458 miles of authorized routes.

really do the job right someone will have to inspect each site on a regular basis, keep an eye on weather conditions and reports, and most of all, exercise some judgment."

On future lighting, shelters and supervision, the commission does have long-range plans for expansion. Koehnke has recommended six or seven rinks, rather than more than 18 throughout the city, but the change to larger-size facilities will have to be gradual over the years.

The report adopted by the commission recommends inquiring into the cost of additional skating shelters immediately.

Assuming the cost will be reasonable, and within spending limitations, the commission hopes to expand its lighted - sheltered - supervised rinks to at least one, and hopefully two, northside locations next year (1967-68 season).

Chilton Hunter Hit in Leg by Shotgun Slug

John Mortimer in Fair Condition at Calumet Hospital

CHILTON — A 34-year-old Chilton deer hunter was listed in fair condition this morning at Calumet Memorial Hospital after he was hit in the upper leg, apparently by a shotgun slug, just before 10 a.m. Sunday.

John Mortimer, 111 W. Brooklyn St., was hurt Sunday while the party of hunters he was with was trailing a wounded deer about seven miles east of Chilton.

Reports said the shot was fired by another hunter, possibly at the same deer Mortimer's party was pursuing. The slug reportedly was deflected from a cigarette lighter in the man's coat pocket and entered his upper leg, shattering a bone.

Hunting companions reportedly transported the injured man to a highway intersection east of Chilton and called an ambulance. Mortimer was rushed to the hospital and admitted for treatment of his wounds at 10 50 a.m.

Grants Without 'Strings' Idea Gains Support

Both Parties Back Program Eliminating Federal Interference

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The old argument—that the federal government should keep its nose out of states' business so they can have more independence—is going to look pretty odd if an idea now gaining momentum causes a rumpus in Congress in 1967.

One of the ways in which the federal government helps states now is through grants-in-aid, meaning that if a state has a need for some specific program, which Washington approves, the government will give the state money to help pay the bill, provided the state matches the amount with money of its own.

The idea being batted around now—not new but with support of both the Democratic and Republican sides—is that the federal government should just hand over to the states some of the money it gets from taxes for the states to use for programs in which they don't have to match the federal help.

Different Forms
The idea has different shapes. Walter W. Heller and Joseph Pechman of the Brookings Institution have proposed one: massive federal grants to the states without strings attached.

Heller was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy before he resigned in 1964 to go back to teaching at the University of Minnesota. He has repeatedly made this kind of suggestion which Johnson so far has been unwilling to buy.

Then there are suggestions, made separately, by two Wisconsin members of the House, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, a Democrat, and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the Republican Conference Committee.

Last week Reuss proposed the federal government should hand over $5 billion a year for five years to the states, with no strings, except that the states would have to have programs to reorganize and modernize their state and local governments.

Laird, who has talked about this since 1958, proposed that a certain percentage of taxes collected in each state be returned to the state yearly to help it solve its problems. The national Governors' Conference endorsed this idea last July.

Laird Idea
Laird called this a first step toward decentralization of government. No matter what it's called, it's a plea for the federal government to share its taxes with the states and makes hash out of the argument that states should be more free and independent of the federal government.

It would let a state have it both ways: It would depend on the federal government to bail it out, whether it was unwilling or unable to raise enough money of its own to take care of its needs.

Reuss, who did attach one condition to his idea, is opposed to both the Heller and Laird plans on the grounds that giving a lot of money to states as they are now organized would be "pouring federal money down a rathole."

the vote on the seating of Peking at this session. It would be considered only after the vote on a resolution sponsored by Albania, Cambodia and nine other Communist and non-aligned nations to expel Nationalist China and seat Communist China.

"Whatever your stand on Peking," Goldberg said, "if you are unwilling to see the Republic of China expelled you have no alternative but to vote against the Albanian resolution."

Formal Resolution

Goldberg spoke shortly after Italy and its five cosponsors formally submitted the resolution for a study of the China problem. The plan called for recommendations "taking into account the existing situation and the political realities of the area."

Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Italy and Trinidad — Tobago submitted a resolution, originally drafted by Italy, for that purpose.

really capable of imposing uncontested authority on the country." The liberal Combat in Paris complimented the Bavarian voters for giving even further support to Franz Josef Strauss' Christian Democrats, regardless of the ballots for the National Democrats. Combat said Strauss was the real winner.

This was the same sentiment expressed by the London Evening News.

The London Evening Standard was more perturbed, commenting:

"There seems to be some strange and eerie law of nature that insists that every 20 years or so Germany should stir from her ponderous bourgeois rectitude and do something that gives the world the creeps. It has haunted Europe for three generations — and here we go again."

Early reaction in Swiss and Italian papers lifted warning fingers, though in moderated tones.

The resolution called for the committee to explore and study the situation in all its aspects and recommend "an equitable and practical solution" to the 1967 assembly session. It appealed "to all governments concerned to give assistance to the committee in its search for such a solution."

'Break Deadlock'

Explaining the proposal to correspondents, Italian Ambassador Piero Vinci said its object was to "break the deadlock" on the issue. He criticized a pending resolution to replace Nationalist China with Communist China in the United Nations and suggested that, in the interest of universality and self-determination, both should be here.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was scheduled to present the U.S. view on the China question in a speech to the assembly shortly afterward.

Italian Sen. Attilio Piccioni, outlining the proposal to the assembly Friday, said the committee should ask Peking if it really wants to be represented in the United Nations and if it will abide by the charter.

Position of Formosa

The committee also should determine what the position of Nationalist China would be if Peking were granted a seat, he said. The Nationalists, now confined to the island of Formosa, currently represent China in the Security Council and the General Assembly. The Nationalist government and the mainland Communist regime both have expressed strong opposition to a two-China policy giving representation to both.

Lawrence Student Protests

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio

(AP) — A college-sponsored conference on the Selective Service System adopted a resolution calling for a more liberal definition of a conscientious objector after three students walked out in protest.

One of those who walked out, Frank Schaffer, a student at Lawrence University in Appleton, Wis., said the proposed change would "allow a person to be (draft) exempt if he didn't want to serve in a particular war."

Two — Yale — students joined Schaffer of Phoenix, Ariz., in the protest Sunday during the final day of the conference sponsored by Antioch College.

The proposal asks that a man be exempted as a conscientious objector if he has personal philosophic or moral objections to a war.

"In our society we just can't allow a person to decide which war he will serve in," Schaffer said. He is a sophomore at Lawrence.

The conference, attended by students, teachers and administrators from about 40 colleges, was called "extremely successful" by Dr. James P. Dixon, president of Antioch. The delegates acted as individuals, not as representatives of their schools.

But Schaffer and Yale students Lanny Davis of Jersey City, N.J., and John Rothchild of St.

Petersburg, Fla., said one reason for their walkout was that they could not commit their schools to the actions of the conference. Davis and Rothchild charged that the delegates did not comprise "a representative body of the academic community."

The three students who left early said most of the approved proposals were aimed at abolishing the current Selective Service System instead of reforming it.

Romney Favored Over LBJ, Harris Poll Shows

Michigan Governor Claims He Hasn't Decided on Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, bolstered by a poll in which he outran President Johnson, is expected to meet with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today in Puerto Rico to discuss strengthening the Republican party.

Romney arrived in San Juan Sunday for a two-week vacation. He said in a statement that recently elected Republican governors will be in a position to have more influence in national affairs and in the GOP.

Rockefeller met Friday in the Virgin Islands with Republican Gov-elect Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania. All Republican governors and governors-elect are expected to meet in December in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Romney, who won a third term Nov. 8, says he hasn't decided whether to seek the 1968 GOP presidential nomination. But Romney aides already are setting up Washington headquarters for a presidential drive.

Pollster Louis Harris reported Sunday that voters questioned after the Nov. 8 election preferred Romney over President Johnson 54 per cent to 46 per cent.

Johnson had nipped Romney 51 to 49 per cent in a Harris October poll. In this month's poll, said Harris, 43 per cent of persons calling themselves Republicans favored Romney as the GOP nominee.

Richard M. Nixon was second at 28 per cent and Rockefeller — who said prior to winning a third term that he was not interested in running again for president — was the choice of 12 per cent. Six per cent favored Sen-elect Charles H. Percy of Illinois and 5 per cent Gov-elect Ronald Reagan of California.

Johnson beat Nixon, Percy and Rockefeller each by 54 to 46 per cent and Reagan by 67 to 33 in Harris presidential trial heats.

Germans, Americans Launch Balloon to Snap Surface of Sun

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — German and American scientists launched a huge balloon Sunday in an experiment designed to photograph the solar surface and the sun's spectra.

The balloon, filled with three million cubic feet of helium, carried a 2,800-pound instrument package aloft.

A cosponsor of the project is the Fraunhofer Institute of Freiburg, Germany. The balloon was sent up from the National Center for Atmospheric Research located near Palestine, an east Texas city about 100 miles south of Dallas.

The principal director of the flight was Dr. K.O. Keipenheuer of Freiburg. Scientists said the balloon was to come down near Alexandria, La. today.

Financial Aid Available for Extra Training

Guidance Director At Chilton High Speaks to PTA

CHILTON — The need for specialized training and the financial aid available in various forms including scholarships were discussed by James Skarda, high school guidance counselor, at Thursday's Parent Teacher Association (PTA) meeting.

Skarda said by next year there will be a demand for 50 per cent more X-ray technicians, 73 per cent in practical nursing, 28 per cent in pharmacy and 31 per cent as physicians.

Everyone going on to school receives a scholarship, Skarda stated. Tuition does not begin to cover the cost of a person's education; the taxpayer pays a good share.

He continued, "Money is not the problem. The work done as a student is of greater importance. If a student qualifies, financial aid can be obtained. Since education is more demanding at the high school level, the student is better prepared.

Advance With World

The reason for more aid to education is to uplift the level of our young people. They must advance with the world progress," he said.

Skarda outlined the financial aid package which includes scholarships, grants, loans, work study, rehabilitation programs, social security, co-operative programs, and others. There are federal aids for families in need. Loans are handled through colleges and technical schools.

Skarda complimented the Chilton community which, through its program, presents about $3,000 yearly through scholarships. Last year 25 graduates received financial aid in our school.

The Office of Keller's Appliance Shop, 143 S. Main St., Clintonville, is shown in a state of disarray after the building was broken into sometime Friday night or Saturday morning. The break-in was discovered Saturday by Carl Keller. The safe, lower photo, was not locked, Keller said. A cash register was forced open and its contents removed. An undetermined amount of money was taken. Entry was gained by forcing a lock on a door in the rear of the building. (Laib Photos)

New London Accepting Bids On $100,000 Sewer Project

Stockbridge, Hilbert Involved — Installation Delayed While City

NEW LONDON — Bids anticipated at $100,000 on the Jennings Street storm sewer project will be accepted by the city until 8 p.m. Dec. 5 at which time they will be opened.

Bidding for the project was delayed while the city appealed a State Industrial Commission ruling on a prevailing minimum wage to be paid by the city. The council was told last Tuesday.

Judge Offers Alcoholic Treatment Term to Man In Lieu of Jail Sentence

A 48-year-old Appleton man, charged with disorderly conduct after he threatened his wife Friday afternoon was sentenced to the Outagamie County jail for 30 days with the recommendation that he voluntarily commit himself to the alcoholic treatment department at Winnebago State Hospital.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the sentence on Leon Panzer, 503 W. Spring St., arrested Sept. 26 by Appleton police following a complaint by his wife.

Panzer pleaded guilty Sept. 27 and was ordered committed to Central State Hospital, Waupun, for examination. Panzer had indicated that he wished to undergo treatment for a drinking problem.

Judge Keller said he would grant Panzer out-probation if the man committed himself to Winnebago State Hospital for 30 days.

Two Sections

The storm sewer project in the southwestern part of the city will be the first steps taken toward separating the storm sewers from the sanitary sewers. Infiltration of storm waters into the sanitary system has cut the effectiveness of treating sanitary wastes at the sewage plant and is a factor in pollution from the local plant.

Bids are being sought in two sections. Section I will consist of the placing the major underground pipes and Section II the smaller lead-in pipes.

Both sections will require laying more than 8,000 feet of pipe ranging from 8 to 60 inch in diameter in addition to other required work.

Section I includes 1,956 feet of pipe from 54 to 60 inches in diameter, 1,550 feet of open ditching and 140 feet of culvert work.

Section II will include installing 3,769 feet of sewer pipe from 15 to 54 inches in diameter, 295 feet of 10 and 12 inch catch basins and 543 feet of 8 and 12 inch sanitary sewer.

CATV Stirs Again In Appleton Area

Philadelphia Firm Adds Request to 10 Applications Already on File

Commercial community antenna television (CATV) is stirring again in Appleton, and possibly the other Fox Cities.

The Jerrold Electronics Corp., Philadelphia, is the latest to apply.

About 10 applications for the Appleton CATV franchise have been pending before the Appleton Council and have been in committee for several months.

An almost identical situation exists in the Twin Cities of Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and other communities throughout the Fox Valley.

Get Letter

In a letter written by Frank N. Cooper, Jerrold Corp. franchise director, to the mayor and council, the request was made that if Appleton does not have CATV it should immediately contact the Philadelphia firm, which is prepared to make the city an offer.

Writing Ordinance

By coincidence, the Philadelphia firm wrote the city at a time when a CATV ordinance, being firmed up, is expected to be presented to the city council in the near future.

Although terms of the ordinance have not been disclosed, it is known they are stiff and call for the city to receive a much larger share of revenue than proposed in the past by any CATV operator hoping to get a franchise here.

Control Rates

Under the proposed local ordinance, rates to subscribers would also be controlled by the city.

Some aldermen have viewed the proposed ordinance as a move to discourage some of the CATV firms from wanting to locate here while insuring if a franchise ever is granted, the city would have one of the best setups in the country — financially and otherwise.

Cooper says the Jerrold Corp. built the first commercial community antenna television system in the United States, pointing out that 1,688 municipalities now have the service and more than 1,500 additional communities have granted franchises and are awaiting construction.

$5 a Month Charge

He spoke of bringing Appleton closed-circuit television via cable which would feature locally originated programming, pointing out that with a $5 a month charge to subscribers the cable system is able to pass on additional revenue and employment to the community.

Improves Pictures

Cooper claimed CATV, which has not been able to crack the Fox Valley as yet, is in operation in several other Wisconsin communities, including the northern part of the state where there are fringe reception areas.

He also informed local officials that a cable system would bring the viewer more television pictures than the average home owner can normally obtain.

Cooper said his firm would be in a position to provide Appleton with CATV service within a year.

He noted, however, that installation of a CATV system here would be subject to federal regulations which were tightened extensively this past summer by the Federal Communication Commission.

Appleton Hunter Has Heart Attack Before Getting Into Woods

The first so-called hunter's heart attack was suffered at 5:55 a.m. this morning.

Raymond Ellenbecker, 55, 1425 E. Gunn St., was just putting on his hunting clothes at his sister's home, five miles northwest of Iola when he suffered what the doctor called an apparent heart attack or stroke.

The doctor called Larry's Ambulance in Appleton, which brought Ellenbecker to St. Elizabeth Hospital, under oxygen.

Present Alternate Proposals for Consolidation; Chilton, Brillion, Awaits State Commission Rule

Three plans for consolidating school districts in Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 10, have been submitted by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

Plans were presented at the request of schools in the CESA 10 area.

The first proposal involves possible consolidation of Brillion, Hilbert and Stockbridge; the second plan deals with Hilbert, Stockbridge and Chilton and the final measure, with Stockbridge and Chilton.

Under the first plan, a total of 1,274 students would be enrolled with 614 in elementary grades and 660 in high school. Total equalized valuation would be $48.4 million with a tax rate of $14.71 needed to operate the proposed consolidated school. This means that there would be a tax reduction of 13.1 per cent for Stockbridge and 1.6 per cent for Brillion while Hilbert would receive a tax increase of 2.6 per cent.

New Building

According to the report, Brillion students had 56 curricular choices, Hilbert students, 48 and Stockbridge, 37. It is pointed out that 80 choices could be offered under the consolidated school.

A new building, estimated to cost $1.7 to $2 million would be required for high school purposes. About 62 teachers would be needed to operate the school.

Plan two calls for the consolidation of the Stockbridge and Chilton school districts. Here the seventh and eighth graders from Chilton would be transported by bus to Stockbridge.

At the same time, Stockbridge High School students would be transported to Chilton. The total number of students enrolled would be 1,284 with 570 attending the elementary school and 714, the high school.

At present, Stockbridge school offers 37 courses and Chilton, 47. Under the proposed consolidation, 67 to 72 courses could be offered on the high school level. Guaranteed valuation totals $48.8 million.

80 Teachers

More than 80 teachers would be needed for the third plan involving Stockbridge, Hilbert and Chilton.

Under this proposal, elementary children would attend the centers where they are now enrolled. Seventh and eighth graders from Chilton would be transported to Hilbert to provide room for the added high school enrollment in Chilton, which has facilities for all three high schools' students.

Elementary enrollment would total 757, high school enrollment, 952 for a total of 1,709. Guaranteed valuation is $64.9 million. Total cost of operation would be $810,980.

Subjects offered by Hilbert total 48, Stockbridge, 37 and Chilton, 47. About 85 subjects could be offered under the consolidated plan.

The plans are scheduled for study by school boards during December.

Unexpected Hunt

Chief 'Bags' 80 Pounder

WAUPACA — Police Chief Fred Rasmussen went deer hunting unexpectedly Sunday and bagged an 80 pound doe in the sporting goods department of the Coast to Coast Store here.

The doe, along with four other deer, came into the city at about 2 p.m., Sunday, and while the other four scattered, one curious doe apparently decided to do a little shopping for her winter wardrobe. Instead of finding a ladies' shop she went through the rear door of Haebig's Men's Clothing Store and when she saw her mistake, continued to the front of the store and left through a display window.

Leaves Store

After leaving the clothing store, she decided to check if year's hunters were using new type weapons with which to hunt her friends and went across Main Street and jumped through a display window at the Coast to Coast Store.

When police arrived on the scene the doe was inside the store building. Chief Rasmussen and Patrolman William Carlson plotted their strategy on how to subdue the deer while standing out front.

Rasmussen had been off duty when he was called and was unarmed, so he borrowed Carlson's service revolver, and went into the store. Carlson remained outside to move the fast gathering crowd away from the large display windows in the event the deer decided to make a hasty exit.

Acts Quickly

Inside the store, Rasmussen found the doe in the sporting goods department between the hunting bows and rifles. Acting quickly before the frightened doe could cause more damage, Chief Rasmussen fired once, hitting the deer in the neck and killing it.

Within minutes after the shooting, Conservation Warden Rex Oatman arrived on the scene, loaded the doe in a large box and hauled her to the Bergman Locker plant a block away where the deer was dressed out and made ready for sale just like any other confiscated deer meat.

While in the clothing store the deer did little damage other than breaking the rear door and front window but in the hardware store damage was estimated at more than $200.

Financial Aid Available for Extra Training

Guidance Director At Chilton High Speaks to PTA

CHILTON — The need for specialized training and the financial aid available in various forms including scholarships were discussed by James Skarda, high school guidance counselor, at Thursday's Parent Teacher Association (PTA) meeting.

Skarda said by next year there will be a demand for 50 per cent more X-ray technicians, 73 per cent in practical nursing, 28 per cent in pharmacy and 31 per cent as physicians.

Everyone going on to school receives a scholarship, Skarda stated. Tuition does not begin to cover the cost of a person's education; the taxpayer pays a good share.

He continued, "Money is not the problem. The work done as a student is of greater importance. If a student qualifies, financial aid can be obtained. Since education is more demanding at the high school level, the student is better prepared.

Advance With World

The reason for more aid to education is to uplift the level of our young people. They must advance with the world progress," he said.

Skarda outlined the financial aid package which includes scholarships, grants, loans, work study, rehabilitation programs, social security, co-operative programs, and others. There are federal aids for families in need. Loans are handled through colleges and technical schools.

Skarda complimented the Chilton community which, through its program, presents about $3,000 yearly through scholarships. Last year 25 graduates received financial aid in our school.

New London Accepting Bids On $100,000 Sewer Project

Stockbridge, Hilbert Involved Installation Delayed While City

NEW LONDON — Bids anticipated at $100,000 on the Jennings Street storm sewer project will be accepted by the city until 8 p.m. Dec. 5 at which time they will be opened.

Bidding for the project was delayed while the city appealed a State Industrial Commission ruling on a prevailing minimum wage to be paid by the city. The council was told last Tuesday.

Judge Offers Alcoholic Treatment Term to Man In Lieu of Jail Sentence

A 48-year-old Appleton man, charged with disorderly conduct after he threatened his wife, Friday afternoon was sentenced to the Outagamie County jail for 30 days with the recommendation that he voluntarily commit himself to the alcoholic treatment department at Winnebago State Hospital.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the sentence on Leon Panzer, 503 W. Spring St., arrested Sept. 26 by Appleton police following a complaint by his wife.

Panzer pleaded guilty Sept. 27 and was ordered committed to Central State Hospital, Waupun, for examination. Panzer had indicated that he wished to undergo treatment for a drinking problem.

Judge Keller said he would grant Panzer out-probation if the man committed himself to Winnebago State Hospital for 30 days.

that any further appeal would be useless.

Two Sections

The storm sewer project in the southwestern part of the city will be the first steps taken toward separating the storm sewers from the sanitary sewers. Infiltration of storm waters into the sanitary system has cut the effectiveness of treating sanitary wastes at the sewage plant and is a factor in pollution from the local plant.

Bids are being sought in two sections. Section I will consist of the placing the major underground pipes and Section II the smaller lead-in pipes.

Both sections will require laying more than 8,000 feet of pipe ranging from 8 to 60 inch in diameter in addition to other required work.

Section I includes 1,956 feet of pipe from 54 to 60 inches in diameter, 1,550 feet of open ditching and 140 feet of culvert work.

Section II will include installing 3,769 feet of sewer pipe from 15 to 54 inches in diameter, 295 feet of 10 and 12 inch catch basins and 543 feet of 8 and 12 inch sanitary sewer.

CESA 10 Offers Plans to Combine School Districts

CATV Stirs Again In Appleton Area

Philadelphia Firm Adds Request to 10 Applications Already on File

Commercial community antenna television (CATV) is stirring again in Appleton, and possibly the other Fox Cities.

The Jerrold Electronics Corp., Philadelphia, is the latest to apply.

About 10 applications for the Appleton CATV franchise have been pending before the Appleton Council and have been in committee for several months.

An almost identical situation exists in the Twin Cities of Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and other communities throughout the Fox Valley.

Get Letter

In a letter written by Frank N. Cooper, Jerrold Corp. franchise director, to the mayor and council, the request was made that if Appleton does not have CATV it should immediately contact the Philadelphia firm, which is prepared to make the city an offer.

Writing Ordinance

By coincidence, the Philadelphia firm wrote the city at a time when a CATV ordinance, being framed up, is expected to be presented to the city council in the near future.

Although terms of the ordinance have not been disclosed, it is known they are stiff and call for the city to receive a much larger share of revenue than proposed in the past by any CATV operator hoping to get a franchise here.

Control Rates

Under the proposed local ordinance, rates to subscribers would also be controlled by the city.

Some aldermen have viewed the proposed ordinance as a move to discourage some of the CATV firms from wanting to locate here while insuring if a franchise ever is granted, the city would have one of the best setups in the country — financially and otherwise.

Cooper says the Jerrold Corp. built the first commercial community antenna television system in the United States,

Construction Up Slightly

Appleton's ailing residential construction industry received a tonic during October with permits for 20 new homes issued by the department of inspection.

However, the total was down for this time of the year when there is an annual rush to get structures up and closed in for winter completion.

New building started here this past month amounted to $691,023, according to Building Inspector Richard Atkins, who said the figure was below average compared to comparable periods for recent years.

The $120,000 addition to the Scolding Locks Corp. plant represented the largest single construction project started in Appleton last month.

Suffers Severe Skull Injury; Falls 30 Feet

Lawrence Man Enters Abandoned Church; Companion Offers Aid Until Help Arrives

An 18-year-old Lawrence University student suffered a severe skull injury when he fell about 30 feet through the false ceiling of an abandoned church about 4:15 p.m. Friday.

He was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by ambulance, police said.

According to police Andrew Klein, Louisville, Ky., and a companion, Bruce Campbell, 18, Brighton, Ill., entered the old Presbyterian Church at College Avenue and Drew Street to retrieve a pair of flood lights mounted on a rafter over the old altar.

Campbell told police they gained entrance to the building by climbing a board fence placed around the building by the contractor to keep persons from the premises.

The church was recently purchased by the university and has been scheduled for razing. He said they were going to mount the flood lights in their dormitory rooms.

Campbell said he led the way as they climbed to the rafter. He said he was reaching for one of the lights when he heard a sound and saw a hole in the ceiling. He worked his way back and looking through the opening, saw Klein lying on the altar floor. He told police he gave mouth - to - mouth resuscitation until Klein showed signs of responding. He ran to the Lawrence Dispensary and had the nurse call an ambulance. He returned to Klein and continued the resuscitation until the ambulance arrived.

2 Milwaukee Duck Hunters Drown in River

FERRYVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Two Milwaukee area duck hunters drowned in the Mississippi River near Ferryville Sunday and a companion, found unconscious in a boat, was hospitalized.

The victims were Harold J. Melotik, 41, and Leroy J. Van Slyke, 32, both of Milwaukee. Their bodies were recovered.

Charles Fisher, 41, of St. Francis, a Milwaukee suburb, was reported in good condition at a Waukon, Iowa, hospital.

John Jiracek of Stoddard, Wis., and Fred Cavott of La Crosse said they were on the stream in a boat when they came across a 16-foot craft near the Wisconsin shore. They said Fisher was unconscious in the boat, which was nearly full of water. A black Labrador dog was swimming nearby.

Authorities said Fisher regained consciousness at the hospital and told them his companions were missing. Dragging operations were conducted by Iowa officials, the Crawford County sheriff's office and members of the Wisconsin conservation department.

Authorities, who had not determined the circumstances of the drownings, said the victims' boat apparently overturned and Fisher was able to right it and climb back in before losing consciousness. They said they would talk with Fisher today.

16.5 Miles of Expressway To Ease Wisconsin Travel

Motorists will find traveling easier in Wisconsin as a result of the opening this month of additional 16.5 miles of Milwaukee County expressways.

The new sections complete a bypass route through the southwestern part of Milwaukee County, with alternate I-94 linking the I-94 segment between Milwaukee and Chicago with the Milwaukee-Madison segment.

Easier travel in the Milwaukee area will provide important time savings between the greater Chicago area and all Wisconsin vacation lands.

Direct Link
The new route completes a direct link between Tomah, Madison and Chicago via I-94 as an alternate to the previous I-90 route via Madison, Beloit and Rockford to Chicago.

Travel is also easier now in downtown Chicago, just below the junction of I-90-94, with a new link via I-55 directly to McCormick Place on Lake Michigan.

All of these trips may be made without facing traffic control signals other than lane designations, and without grade crossing of other highways or railroads.

321 Miles Open
The Wisconsin interstate system is now slightly more than 70 per cent complete, with 321 miles open to traffic out of the total 458 miles of authorized routes.

Group Backs Wallace For Next President

A group of Fox Cities residents formed the Wallace For President Committee at a meeting in Appleton Saturday afternoon, and discussed group action and policy.

Co-chairmen named were Frank E. Drexler and Robert G. Thompson, Appleton.

Thompson told the group, "It is time that the people of this country had a chance to express their views through a true third candidate for President. We feel that Wallace for President will give the people a new public voice." He said he feels as Thomas Jefferson did, that "The ultimate law is the people."

Area headquarters and work assignments were discussed. Drexler said "Two years may seem a long campaign, but we must remember that our's is an uphill battle to victory."

Farmer Hit by Ricocheting Slug Near Black Creek

A rural Black Creek farmer reported he was struck on the leg by a piece of a shotgun slug while working in a field Saturday afternoon.

Leonard Maufort, route 1, told the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department he was spreading manure in a farm field when a hunter fired at a deer. Maufort said the slug hit the right front portion of his tractor and part of it ricocheted to strike his leg.

Maufort said he hurriedly applied the tractor's brakes causing the front wheels to fall off the tractor.

John Mortimer in Fair Condition at Calumet Hospital

CHILTON — A 34-year-old Chilton deer hunter was listed in fair condition this morning at Calumet Memorial Hospital after he was hit in the upper leg, apparently by a shotgun slug, just before 10 a.m. Sunday.

John Mortimer, 111 W. Brooklyn St., was hurt Sunday while the party of hunters he was with was trailing a wounded deer about seven miles east of Chilton.

Reports said the shot was fired by another hunter, possibly at the same deer Mortimer's party was pursuing. The slug reportedly was deflected from a cigarette lighter in the man's coat pocket and entered his upper leg, shattering a bone.

Hunting companions reportedly transported the injured man to a highway intersection east of Chilton and called an ambulance. Mortimer was rushed to the hospital and admitted for treatment of his wounds at 10:50 a.m.

Use of rifles for deer hunting in Calumet County is forbidden. Hunters may use shotgun slugs during the deer season.

Polite Bandit Settles for Only $5 Loot

DETROIT (AP) — A courteous bandit, trying for a $10 hold-up, settled for $5, police reported.

He entered a cleaning store Friday and put a pen knife to the throat of Mrs. Erma Brown, 42.

"I'm desperate. I need $10," he said. Mrs. Brown said she was scared at first but something about the youth, about 20, and wearing rumpled clothes, put her at ease.

"Well, why don't you only take $5," she said.

"Do you mind if I tie your hands?" the bandit asked.

"No, please don't," said Mrs. Brown. "I have heart trouble."

"Okay, I won't," said the youth, stuffing a cord into his pocket.

He carefully removed a $5 bill from the cash register, then asked for a pencil, and wrote down Mrs. Brown's name and address.

"I'll get it back to you," he said, and fled.

'Grand Coalition' Felt Likely After Latest German Voting

Christian Democrats, Socialists Would Join to Select Chancellor

BONN, Germany (AP) — Sensational gains by West Germany's new ultra nationalist party in the Bavarian state elections Sunday increased the chances of a "grand coalition" of the Christian Democrats and Socialists to form a new national government.

Pressure mounted on the two big parties to end the 26-day government crisis by agreeing to a new chancellor and to agree on a revised election law that would keep the Nazi-tainted National Democratic party out of the federal parliament's lower house, the Bundestag.

Third Strongest
The present system of proportional representation could give the National Democrats 30 or more of the 496 Bundestag seats when a national election is held.

Close Fighting in Viet Nam

Air Cavalry Reports 102 of Enemy Killed

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen clashed with North Vietnamese soldiers in close-quarter fighting today in the central highlands and reported killing 102 of the enemy.

The U.S. military command said the battle broke out when a platoon of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division was attacked at hand grenade range by a "sizeable" North Vietnamese force.

The platoon suffered heavy casualties before reinforcements arrived, a military spokesman said. Air strikes were called in to hammer at the attacking Communists.

The action, part of Operation Paul Revere 4, raged 22 miles southwest of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng, scene of North Vietnamese probes and skirmishes for more than a week.

Ground action was reported light elsewhere, but Korean marines operating near the South China Sea coast reported killing 91 Viet Cong Sunday in a two-and-a-half-hour battle seven miles northwest of Quang Ngai City. A Korean spokesman said the marines clashed with a reinforced Viet Cong company of 200 men, the largest enemy unit they have met since moving into the area last August.

In the air, Guam-based B52 bombers staged three raids today on enemy positions in South Viet Nam, two of them in Communist War Zone C in Tay Ninh Province.

A few hours after the giant Stratofortress struck, 1,200 men of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were lifted by helicopter into the target area, moving to within 1,500 yards of the Cambodian border.

Crash Snuffs Out Wedding Plans

LOCKNEY, Tex. (AP) — Plans for a Thanksgiving week wedding were snuffed out Sunday when a Santa Fe freight train slammed into an auto carrying seven young people.

Five persons in the auto, including the bride, were killed. The other two passengers, one of them groom Jessie Salas, were critically injured in the accident at the Texas Panhandle town of Lockney, 80 miles southeast of Amarillo. Salas, 17, of Lockney, and Teresa Islas, 15, of nearby Floydada, were to have been married today.

U.S. Rejects Peking, But Agrees to Study

Goldberg Repeats U.N. Position

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States today rejected once more the seating of Red China in the United Nations but announced it would support a plan offered by Italy and five other countries for a full high-level study of the China problem.

In a policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg repeated the traditional U.S. opposition to the admission of the Peking government and declared the United States could not accept any move to expel Nationalist China.

"There is no conceivable justification for the expulsion of the Republic of China," he told the 121-nation assembly. "The Republic of China is a founding member of this organization and its role has been outstanding."

Goldberg stressed that the problem of deciding Chinese representation in the United Nations was an "important question" and as such must be resolved by a two-thirds majority. The United States is among the sponsors of a resolution reaffirming previous decisions of the assembly on the two-thirds rule.

Supports Study
On the proposed study of the China question, Goldberg quickly indicated U.S. support. But this plan would not sidetrack

Westmoreland Fears Increase

U. S. Commander Estimates Troop Total at 50,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communists are moving an average of 7,000 troops a month from North to South Viet Nam and the infiltration rate is apt to go even higher soon, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam said in an interview published today.

Westmoreland's figure on monthly infiltration is substantially higher than the 4,500 to 5,000 estimate reported for months by the Defense Department.

In a copyright interview in U.S. News and World Report, Westmoreland said, "It is likely that, when the good weather period arrives in the Laos panhandle in the near future, there will be an increase in infiltration."

'Depleted Ranks'
Westmoreland said he believes that a great many of the troops moving south from North Viet Nam "are being used to fill up the depleted ranks of the units that are now in the country — depleted by combat casualties, illness, desertion and defection."

"However, our intelligence does suggest that some new units are being formed."

The U.S. commander estimated there are now about 50,000 North Vietnamese regular army troops in South Viet Nam, organized into five divisions.

Stanley Alberts Riding in Car That Struck Pole

Stanley J. Alberts, 21, 1003 N. Morrison St., Appleton, died about 5:15 a.m. today, nine hours after he sustained severe head injuries when the car in which he was riding went out of control and struck a large utility pole at E. Wisconsin Avenue and N. Ballard Road.

The deaths of Alberts and nine other persons over the weekend sent the 1966 highway toll to 973, compared with 907 on Nov. 21, 1965. The death count on Wisconsin roads is now eight more than in 1964 when a record 1,059 persons were killed.

Stanley J. Alberts

Alberts was the second traffic victim this year on Appleton streets. The Outagamie County toll for the year now stands at 19.

Appleton police said Alberts was in a car driven by Edward T. Brouillard, 21, 11 Willow Court. The 1967 model car was westbound, just inside the city limits, when it left the roadway on a curve, went over a curb onto a terrace and struck a large utility pole, snapping it off.

Thrown From Car
The vehicle then continued another 100 feet, made a half turn, and stopped facing east in the roadway. Alberts was thrown from the car. Police found him lying unconscious on the terrace, about 25 feet from the vehicle. The accident occurred about 8:30 p.m. Sunday. Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said Alberts died at Appleton Memorial Hospital of severe head injuries. He also had injuries about the face and chest. A post-mortem examination was scheduled for

Europe Mostly Cool in Face of 'Nazi Bugaboo'

LONDON (AP) — A partial success for West Germany's rightist National Democrats in the Bavarian elections raised the old Nazi bugaboo in some European circles today but much of the reaction was cool and unperturbed.

Some quarters warned against exaggerating the importance of the votes which give the party 15 seats in the Bavarian Parliament. Others voiced the reminder that the Christian Democrats and Social Democrats, the two major parties of West Germany, hold the key to any resurgence of old-style nazism.

Parts of Europe which felt the Nazi boot a generation ago were surprisingly self-contained. In Denmark, the independent newspaper Information suggested that a show of strength by the big two parties soon would woe the sensible elements away from the National Democrats and leave the party with a small core of diehards.

'Uncontested Authority'
In France, the conservative Aurore said the voting showed that the German people dislike "the sterile game of the politicians and need a government

Life Magazine Wants Another Study

World Still Is Wondering What Happened in Dallas

NEW YORK (AP) — Tuesday is the third anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, Tex., and the controversy surrounding his death continues.

Was the killer Lee Harvey Oswald? Did he act alone? Or was there a conspiracy, involving one or more accomplices?

The special investigative commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren answered the first two questions with a firm yes, the third with a firm no.

These conclusions followed months of hearing hundreds of witnesses and examining a mountainous array of evidence. But still pouring forth are books and magazine articles challenging both the commission's report and the adequacy of its investigation.

Different Bullets
Life magazine, in this week's issue out today, said, "A new investigating body... should re-examine the evidence and consider other evidence the Warren Commission failed to evaluate."

The magazine said Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who was riding with Kennedy and was wounded himself, was still certain that he and Kennedy were hit by two different bullets, not one as the Warren Commission determined.

So persistent are the attacks that in a Nov. 4 news conference President Johnson apparently left open a possibility that the circumstances of the assassination might be further explored — if important new evidence should be forthcoming.

Johnson said: "I know of no evidence that would in anyway cause any reasonable person to have a doubt about the Warren Commission. But if there is any evidence that's brought forth, I'm sure that the commission and the appropriate authorities will take action that may be justified."

The Warren Commission report made this summation: "The shots which killed President Kennedy and wounded Gov. (John B. Connally (of

Mod Marriage Makes Mom Mope

DETROIT (AP) — "This is not exactly the wedding I had planned for my daughter," said the mother of the bride.

Joined in marriage in a mod wedding ceremony Sunday at the Michigan State Fair grounds were Randy Rossi, 19, an unemployed go-go dancer, and Gary Norris, 25, an unemployed artist.

The bride wore a thigh-high, minigown that reached eight inches above the knee. She had matching white satin boots which reached seven inches above the knee.

The bridegroom wore a five-button, plaid suit with a cowboy belt and a six-inch-wide tie.

Billed as the nation's first mod wedding, the affair included:

— A bearded youth banging on the roof of a dilapidated car with a sledge hammer.

— A pretty girl wearing a white dress which served as a canvas for a purported artist who decorated her with mustard and catsup squeezed from plastic dispensers.

— A youth slithering across the stage using a bullwhip and two high-powered flashlights for props while performing an alleged dance.

A crowd of about 4,500 attended the half-hour ceremony, listening to a rock 'n' roll group which featured a lanky girl wearing blonde hair and a gaunt face.

One newspaper reviewer wrote: "She sounded like a Bedouin woman singing a funeral dirge in Arabic while accompanied by an off-key air raid siren."

Hunting Toll Rises to Seven

Heart Attacks Claim 5 Victims Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The human toll in Wisconsin's nine-day deer hunting season, which began Saturday, rose to seven by the next night — five as a result of heart attacks, one from gunfire and another from asphyxiation.

The count during the 1965 season was 27 — 19 from heart attacks and eight from gunshot. Larry Erber, 15, of Beaver Dam was asphyxiated Sunday in a camper truck in a Jackson County cranberry marsh area.

His companion, Gerhart Willey 37, also of Beaver Dam, and owner of the camper, said he too, was overcome and tried to drive the truck away to seek aid. He said the vehicle became stuck in sand and he climbed out before collapsing along a road where he was found by a passerby. Willey was hospitalized.

Found in Bed

Dr. John Noble, the Jackson County coroner, said Erber's body was found in his bed in the camper, which had a charcoal burner. Dr. Noble said it was not determined whether the fumes came from the stove or the truck's exhaust system.

Debbie Winkler, 9, was killed Saturday by a stray bullet as

Reagan Denies Seeking White House in 1968

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov-elect Ronald Reagan of California says he won't seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1968.

"I have a four-year contract with the people of California," Reagan said on the ABC television interview program, "Issues and Answers" broadcast Sunday.

Judges' Order Stayed

Supreme Court to Rule on Governor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court stayed today a three-judge federal court ruling that the Georgia Legislature cannot elect that state's next governor.

The effect is to freeze the tangled Georgia election situation until at least Dec. 5, the date set by the Supreme Court for hearing argument.

The three-judge court in Atlanta on Nov. 17 ruled unconstitutional a Georgia Constitution provision that the legislature choose between two top candidates when no candidate for governor gets a majority of the popular vote.

The three-judge court ruling barred a choice by the legislature between Democrat Lester G. Maddox and Republican Rep. Howard Callaway.

Airplane Crashes In North Carolina; Crew of 3 Killed

They were the pilot, Capt. C.J. Helsabeck, 45, of Walnut Cove, N.C., who had been with Piedmont 12 years; First Officer E.O. Adams, 32, of Taylors, S.C., three months with the company; and Pamela Sue Rumble, 22, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., the stewardess, who had been with the airline one year. All were based in Wilmington, N.C.

TV Artists' Unions, Networks Draw Up Tentative Contract

Programming Will Continue Until Pact Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Two performers unions and four broadcasting networks reached a tentative contract agreement Sunday night, averting a strike threatened for midnight.

Negotiating sessions went on throughout the day and, at 9.15 p.m., federal mediator Abraham A. Desser announced a settlement.

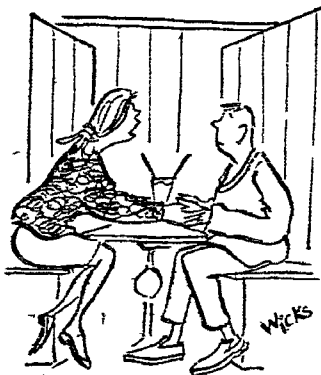

The announcement indicated that the 17,500 members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and the 18,000 members of the Screen Actors Guild would remain on the job pending membership votes.

There was no immediate comment from the two unions or the networks involved — the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Co. and the Mutual Radio Network.

Terms of the settlement were not made public. The old contracts between AFTRA and the networks expired at midnight last Tuesday. AFTRA had demanded that minimum pay be raised from $195 to $225 weekly for newsmen, $195 to $220 for staff announcers, and an additional $225 payment for on-camera appearances by newsmen.

The Guild sought an increase from $105 to $125 a day for performances by actors in commercials.

Peace Corpsmen Called by Military

MANILA (AP) — The Peace Corps director for the Philippines said today that three corpsmen had received draft calls barely two months after their arrival in the Philippines from the United States.

Director Richard Balch said one of the group, Fred Lomdier of Seattle, Wash., had been ordered to report for induction

Economic Plan Rooted in State

Three Wisconsin Men Proponents of New Grant Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major new issue for the incoming Congress is emerging as the result of federal-state tax-sharing plans advanced by an economist and two congressmen, all with Wisconsin backgrounds.

Both Democratic and Republican proponents of proposals for a no-strings allotment of federal funds to the states are dubious about prospects for enactment next year, but they feel sentiment for such a step is increasing.

The name "Heller plan" has been attached to the idea because it was introduced several years ago by Dr. Walter W. Heller, formerly of Shorewood, Wis., who served Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

There are actually three different forms of the idea. A proposal by Heller and Joseph Pechman of the Brookings Institution for massive federal grants to the states, without any strings attached, for the states to use according to their needs.

Laird, Reuss

A measure originated some time ago by Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., which in its present form calls for return of about 3 per cent of federal tax collections in each state to the state, with an equalization factor to help the poorer states.

A plan announced last week by Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., under which the federal government would give states $5 billion annually for five years with no restrictions except that states would have to develop comprehensive programs to reorganize and modernize state and local government.

A speech by Laird last week to the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders boosting his proposal signaled the start of a drive by House Republicans to win approval for it.

But the GOP is outnumbered 248 to 187 in the House so substantial Democratic support would be needed for its approval.

Five Chinese Students Ordered From Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Five Chinese scholarship students were expelled from Hungary Sunday night and left for home. Communist Chinese sources in Budapest said today.

The government informed the Red Chinese Embassy Oct. 17 that the five students would no longer be allowed to continue their studies in Hungary and must leave a student hostel by Nov. 6. The students moved to the Chinese Embassy compound for two weeks.

The New China News Agency reported from Peking Nov. 18 that the Chinese government had filed "a strong protest" with Hungary.

Dec. 7 and is scheduled for a medical examination in Manila Tuesday.

The two others are Douglas E. Magee, 23, of Santa Susana, Calif., and Michael Kiesler, 22, of Louisville, Ky. He said they had appealed for deferment and the appeals were being considered.

"We have done everything we can," Balch said.

Lomdier in an outspoken letter to the Manila Times Sunday said his appeals for deferment had been rejected by his state draft board and the presidential appeal board.

"Makes One Wonder"

"It really makes one wonder whether or not the Peace Corps is perhaps an expendable political gimmick kept in existence to give the lie to any challenge to Johnson's peaceful intentions," Lomdier wrote.

"At least it seems volunteers are expendable. "It is utterly fantastic that we have been so extensively and expensively trained, transported and maintained, only to be pulled out before we have begun our work."

Balch said the Peace Corps had unsuccessfully carried Lomdier's deferment "to the highest appeals channels there are." He added that the Manila Times was not the proper channel for a Peace Corpsman to complain.

Lomdier and his wife arrived in the Philippines last September in a group of 260 volunteers. They have been serving in Iligan City on the southern island of Mindanao.

7-Year-Old Held Captive in Florida Found Unharmed

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — A young girl, who police said was offered a ride by a stranger, then held captive, is back home unharmed. A South Carolina man was arrested.

Bay County Sheriff M. J. Daffin said charges would be filed today against R. E. Collins of Columbia, S.C.

The sheriff said 7-year-old Rose Marie Bradley was found early Sunday in a car driven by Collins. Daffin said she was bound and gagged. She had been missing more than five hours.

A deputy stopped the car after roadblocks were erected throughout this northwest Florida county.

Police said a motorist had picked up brown-haired Rose Marie and two brothers as they walked to a grocery. They said the man let out the boys later and drove away with the girl.

$100,000 Loss in Whitewater Fire

WHITEWATER (AP) — A fire which destroyed the former Club 12 restaurant and tavern on U S 12 about eight miles south of Whitewater early Sunday caused damage estimated at $100,000.

The structure, owned by John Bartelak of rural Elkhorn, had been vacant since July.

Chief Nello Achillo of the Lauderdale Lakes fire department said the blaze apparently was caused by defective wiring. Fire departments from Watertown and Palmyra also helped fight the flames.

Teen-Agers Still Defying Curfew On Once-Fabulous Sunset Strip

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — From the police car blared the amplifier warning "Attention. Attention. It is now past 10 p.m. The curfew law is now in effect. Anyone remaining in the area under 18 years old will be arrested."

Teen-agers on crowded, neon-lit Sunset Boulevard — some conventionally dressed, many with shaggy beards, hair or clothing — have heard the message often recently.

It may mean a new face for the Sunset Strip, once a place for good food, adult night clubbing, elegant jazz, now a place for youngsters to dance frenetically and clog weekend traffic to a standstill. Many, having autos, can visit the area from distant parts of the Los Angeles area.

Ford Expects GOP 'State of the Union'

Dirksen Reveals Republican Plans for Alternate Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says he expects Republicans to come up with a "State of the Union" message of their own after President Johnson delivers his to Congress early next year.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen reports Republicans also hope to offer an alternate budget if Johnson fails to balance income and spending in his proposed 1967-68 fiscal program.

These disclosures, made in separate weekend interviews, came as Republican leaders began formulating strategy on how to deploy their beefed-up minority in the 90th Congress which convenes Jan. 10. The GOP picked up 47 House seats and 3 Senate seats in the Nov. 8 elections.

Dirksen said Republicans will present "positive programs" in 1967 rather than mere opposition to administration proposals.

Ford took a similar stance. He said there will be no intention of trying to cut out all "Great Society" programs, but he predicted an effort to "keep them from rolling."

Ford declined to get into specifics on GOP plans, saying he wanted to meet first with ranking Republican members of House committees.

He said, however, that House Republicans would not form a coalition with Southern Democrats in an attempt to block administration programs.

Ford disclosed efforts will be made to "tighten up" aid to education and to transfer some functions of the antipoverty program to other agencies.
